HISTORIANS of the year 3000, writing today's history, would want information about people, not about steel factories or bank balances.

A recent performance in the electric chair at Milledgeville, Ga., would interest them. Ted Coggeshall, in his teens, "flipped away" a cigaret to permit guards to tie his hands in the electric chair. His father and younger brothre were in the death room watching. Two charges of electricity were needed to kill the youth; and his father proudly said to the executioner, "he was a good man, and you found him hard to kill."

Floyd McClelland, another boy, was executed at the same time. Both are said to have confessed murder.

FUTURE historians will be interested in the five "cake eater gunmen." Thus police describe five boys that "swaggered into court grinning," thre of them 17, one of them 18, and one 19 years old, each with a young woman of his age following him and evidently proud.

These boys are in their way to the electric chair for shooting Angelo Maharis, a restaurant owner. One boy killer brushed the murder aside, saying, "When I pointed my gun at him, he pushed me, saying 'cut that thing away,' so I had to shoot him."

HAVE you been buying European bonds, tempted by the high rates of interest?

Those buyers of European bonds may regret the buying. Washington and high finance are agitated by Senator Reed Smoot's statement tucked away in a speech of 30,000 words, to the effect that Europe will never be able to repay the millions lent by American investors through American financiers.

Senator Smoot, who understands finance, said, "I say without hesitation that the loans which we have made to foreign countries and that we are making to foreign countries cannot be paid."

That statement won't help poor old Wall Street, which had another fit of the financial blues last week.

Some time ago this column was warning against buying Russian bonds that the czar and his grand dukes were then unloading by the bale in the United States. Those bonds are worth now whatever first-class waste paper is worth.

There are plenty of chances to invest in the United States. Invest here.

This country is very rich, nobody dreams the amount of wealth below the ground. Even the Sinclair Oil people several days ago brought in a well now gushing at the rate of 1,000 barrels an hour. If that doesn't start foolish people buying "wild cat" oil stocks, it is because Barnum was wrong.

MAYOR FOGO'S POLICE SWOOP DOWN ON BARN NEAR IRONDALE

Wellsville Executive Leads Squad in Clean-up.

BIRDS CAPTURED

Fifty Spectators Flee; $250 Posted by Prisoners.

Ten regular and deputized police of Wellsville, led by Mayor Wallace L. Fogo, raided a chicken fight in a barn on an abandoned farm about five miles west of Irondale, Sunday afternoon, arresting 25 of the alleged participants and capturing two of the fighting birds.

Bonds of $10 each were collected from the prisoners who were charged with attending a cock fight.

Approximately 50 spectators are believed to have escaped.

Raiders Walk Three Miles.

Majority of the offenders were from Steubenville, Irondale and Toronto. They gave the following names: Hugh Wesley, Charles Gribben, Jack McCormick, Clarence Dougherty, George Adams, John Kelley, Frank Smith, Steubenville; George Washington, James McCafferty, James Jones, William Jackett, Joseph Arnold, W. Hoover, Roy Dobbs, John McGurdy and Clifford Johnson, Toronto; Floyd Duke, Oscar Yost, J. E. Mercer and William Grimm, Irondale; Samuel Hauck, West Point; Charles Dawson, Follansbee; William Jones, Chester; Grant Collins, Girard; Perry Lawrence, Alliance.

The raid occurred at 2:30 o'clock, the raiding party making the trip by automobile as far as New Salsbury, where they left their cars and walked about three miles. The raiders, in addition to Mayor Fogo, included Patrolmen Newton, Hurd, Barnes and Duncan, Railroad Detective Fred Herline and Firemen McFall, Eaton, Paisley and Floto.

The raiders were forced to make their way through woods and dense thickets in order to reach the scene of the fight. When they were within a short distance of the barn, a di-

JOSEPH CLARK BADLY BEATEN

David Southall Fined $10 on Charge of Fighting.

David Southall, colored, Lincoln highway, was fined $10 and costs by Municipal Judge Hanley this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being disorderly by fighting.

Southall is alleged to have severely beaten Joseph Clark, also colored, in Church alley at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night because of "family troubles." Clark is said to have required the attention of a physician as the result of the attack.

Chief of Police McDermott located Southall Sunday afternoon and notified him to appear for a hearing today. Clark did not appear against Southall.

Mrs. D. E. McNicol's Funeral Services Tomorrow Morning

Funeral services for Mrs. Nora A. McNicol, 67, wife of D. E. McNicol, pottery manufacturer, who died Saturday in her home, 845 West Fifth street, will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in the St. Aloysius Catholic church, in charge of Rev. Thomas E. Walsh. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Announcement was made today that the D. E. McNicol, T. A. McNicol, Standard and Dresden potteries would be closed tomorrow out of respect to the late Mrs. McNicol.

MOB ATTACKS HOSPITAL OF AMERICAN BAPTIST MISSION AT WU-CHOW

50 Persons Killed, 600 Injured in Riots in India

LONDON, April 5. — Another outbreak of Hindu-Moslem riots in Calcutta resulted today in the death of 50 persons and the injury of 600 others, according to Australian dispatches.

Feeling between the Hindu and Moslem population of Calcutta is running high. On outbreak on Saturday resulted in the death of 12 persons and the injury of 150, and the burning of a Hindu temple and a mosque.

NURSES ESCAPE BY SIDE DOOR

LONDON, April 5.—A Chinese mob attacked the American Baptist Mission hospital at Wu-Chow, a Central News dispatch from Hongkong said today.

The mob hurled stones through the windows narrowly missing members of the staff, most of whom are Americans.

200,000 Troops Will Clash.

PEKING, April 5.—Airplanes of the enemy forces seeking to capture Peking dropped bombs into the city again today.

The bombs fell for a second time in the vicinity of the Temple of Heaven, near where Chinese government officials were holding Arbor day ceremonies.

Later another flight of enemy air craft dropped seven bombs in the thickly settled Chinese section of the city. One woman was injured.

LONDON, April 5. — A decisive clash between the armies before Peking is imminent, advices from Peking indicated today.

The battle will involve 200,000 troops under Generals Chang Tso-Lin and Wo-Pei-Fu, the attacking force, and the 100,000 men of the defending army under General Lu-Ching-Lin, lieutenant to General Feng-Yu-Hsiang.

The plan of attack appears to be to terrorize the civil populace of Peking by aerial bombardment before launching the main drive.

THUG MURDERS POLICEMAN WHO FOILS HOLD-UP

BANDIT IS SHOT

Slain New York Officer Father of Three Children.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Trailed by the imprint of a rubber heel in blood, Pete Adams, alias Hoslein, 25, was arrested today in connection with the murder of Policeman Charles H. Reilly.

Reilly was shot to death when he attempted to frustrate a hold-up. A victim of the hold-up wounded the bandit, who, in turn, killed the patrolman.

Adams is an ex-convict, according to the police, and has been identified as the "two-gun" man involved in the hold-up.

Detectives followed the blood trail from the gutter in which Reilly's body lay and apprehended Adams, wounded, hiding in a tenement. The wound is superficial.

Patrolman Reilly was 44 and the father of three children.

A man who said he was Armeddro Corsini, found near the scene of the murder, was held for questioning.

Reilly was shot in the back. Police said he had been popular in "Little Italy," where the killing occurred.

SCHOOL FINANCE PARLEY TOPIC

The question of school finances will be discussed at a conference between the board of education and members of the municipal and county affairs committee of the chamber of commerce in the chamber's rooms in the Little building at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The chamber's committee is made up of James S. Hilbert, A. L. White, T. V. Milligan, M. W. Thompson, C. W. Hellyer, F. F. DeBolt, L. E. Connor and C. W. Hendershot.

ENRAGED BULL GORES FARMER

Frank Smith, 55, farmer of near Highlandtown, was admitted to the City hospital, Saturday afternoon, suffering from two fractured ribs and a broken collar bone sustained when attacked by an enraged bull on his farm last Wednesday. He was attended by Dr. J. S. McCulloch, Wellsville. His condition is not serious.

JUDGE HANLEY ROTARY SPEAKER

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley will address members of the Rotary club at their meeting in the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow noon. George Stewart will be chairman.

Directors for the club year, beginning May 1, will be named. Fourteen candidates have been listed for the seven places.

OIL SCATTERED

Property, Three Times Burned, Owned by Mrs. S. W. Crawford.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, co-operating with Fire Chief Thomas Bryan, today launched an investigation into the third attempt to fire a dwelling at the corner of Church and Crook alley, owned by Mrs. Samuel W. Crawford and leased to Mrs. Agnes Vaughn, now serving a six-month jail sentence in Beaver county for a liquor violation.

After saturating the floor of the living room and kitchen with kerosene, unidentified firebugs started a fire in the basement of the house at 9 o'clock Saturday night. Patrolman William Lister discovered the blaze, and firemen extinguished it with little property damage.

Firemen found in the kitchen three empty one-gallon jugs, which it is declared, had contained oil. Nearby was a tin can filled with kerosene. In a corner, beside a refrigerator, was found a pile of rags saturated with kerosene.

Brother Rooms in House.

Since the arrest of Mrs. Vaughn in Beaver about two months ago, the house has been unoccupied except by William Fox, brother of Mrs. Vaughn, who rooms on the second floor. Fox was not at home at the time that the fire was discovered. The firebugs are believed to have forced an entrance into the house through a cellar window, and thence into the kitchen by means of an inside cellar stairway. The outside door of the kitchen was unbolted and standing part way open when the firemen arrived.

Patrolman Lister was passing through Crook alley shortly after 9 o'clock when he discovered smoke coming from the cellar. He immediately called the firemen. The fire in the cellar had, from all indications, been started in a pile of rubbish, which had been saturated with oil. A few of the rafters in the cellar were charred.

Police Investigate.

A parlor suite in the living room of the Vaughn home was ruined by fire, which occurred on March 3. Firemen declared that the upholstering in the furniture had been soaked with oil before the match was applied, but the fire was discovered before it had an opportunity to gain much headway. Last fall another attempt was made to destroy the house, when kerosene was poured against one side of the building and a match applied. Mrs. Elmer McMillan, Third street, saw the fire from her bedroom window and called firemen, who extinguished it.

Authorities believe that some person, carrying a grudge either against Mrs. Vaughn or Mrs. Crawford, the owner of the place, responsible for the three fires. Mrs. Vaughn is said to have received a threatening note several months ago before her arrest in Beaver.

Mrs. Vaughn suffered a nervous collapse while in jail about a month ago and was removed to the Rochester General hospital, where she is still confined. Her son, Charles Vaughn, 22, was arrested for transporting liquor in Beaver county about a week ago and was given a six months' workhouse sentence and a $500 fine.

LIQUOR RAID NETS $316.40

Police Arrest Eight Men in Harry Anderson Home.

Fines totaling $316.40 were collected by police today as the result of a liquor raid made by Chief of Police McDermott and Patrolman William Lister at the home of Harry Anderson, Walnut stret, at 10:50 o'clock Sunday morning.

Anderson was fined $200 and costs for furnishing liquor by Municipal Judge Hanley this morning. John McFadden, Anderson's brother-in-law; Robert Stewart, Bart Brown, John Hoskins, James Rigby, Earnest Barrett and William "Red" McCoach were fined $15.80 upon charges of being drunk and loitering.

Police, who smashed in the back door of the Anderson home when they were refused admittance, declare that a quantity of liquor had been poured down the bathroom sewer, but a small amount of evidence was secured. Two cases of empty bottles were also confiscated.

Anderson posted $200 bond for his appearance after being taken to the city hall. Others also posted bond.

SPELLING BEES ON WEDNESDAY

Elimination contests to select two representatives to compete in the championship spelling match in Newell on April 16, will be held in 12 schools of Grant district, West Virginia, Wednesday, according to an announcement made today by R. L. Hoke, district superintendent.

Names of two winners in each room will be certified to Supt. Hoke. They will compete in the finals to be held in Newell on Friday, April 16.

Pupils who survive the test will be entered in a contest to be held in Wheeling on April 23.

BANDIT PACES CELL AS HE AWAITS MARCH TO GALLOWS TONIGHT

Seemingly Sensing he is at Abyss of Death, Convicted Slayer of New Britain, Conn., Policeman, Hardly Touches Breakfast as His Lawyers Beg Pardon Board for Clemency.

FOR FIRST TIME IN CAREER IRON NERVE THREATENS TO DESERT HIM

Every Precaution is Taken to Prevent Possibility of Jail Break at Last Minute—Six Armed Guards are on Duty in Front of Death Cell as Clock Ticks Fateful Seconds.

DENYING KILLING, GERALD CHAPMAN MAKES PERSONAL APPEAL FOR LIFE

STATE PRISON, Wethersfield, Conn., April 5.—Gerald Chapman, condemned murderer, stood before the six members of the state board of pardons this afternoon and pleaded with them not to send him to the gallows tonight.

"I don't think, gentlemen," Chapman said in a low but distinct voice, "that I can pronounce loud enough my innocence of the murder of Policeman Skelly.

"I did not commit this crime. I am an innocent man."

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

STATE PRISON, WETHERSFIELD, Conn., April 5.—Gerald Chapman, condemned to die on the gallows shortly after midnight tonight, paced his cell in intense nervous excitement today, probably his last day on earth, as his lawyers made a final desperate effort to prevent the execution.

"I'm innocent," he fairly hissed from time to time. "I didn't do this murder."

The slender little bandit, termed the arch criminal of the last decade, knew that his attorneys were going before the board of pardons to beg clemency for him of the organized society against which he warred. But he seemed to sense that he was at the abyss of death, that only a miracle will save him.

For the first time in his long career behind prison bars his iron nerve threatened to desert him.

His pale face, almost ghastly with its prison pallor, wore a worried look as he nervously walked back and forth in his narrow, whitewashed death cell. He smoked innumerable cigarettes and gave up all thoughts of reading, which had been his chief occupation for weeks. Death seemed to be the one thought that occupied his mind and tormented his spirit.

Chapman hardly touched his breakfast. In fact, he has eaten very little in the last 24 hours.

CHAPMAN ASKS MERCY WHEN HE APPEARS BEFORE BOARD OF PARDONS

CONNECTIOUT STATE PRISON, WETHERSFIELD, Conn., April 5. — Gerald Chapman was today permitted to attend the meeting of the state board of pardons, to hear his counsel make the final appeal to save him from the hangman's noose tonight.

A few minutes after the board convened in their meeting room in the prison here this morning, Frederick J. Groehl, Chapman's chief counsel, arose and formally asked that the board permit Chapman to be present.

Gov. John H. Trumbell, chairman of the board, curtly announced: "Petition granted."

Warden W. J. Scott was instructed by the board to bring Chapman to the room. Accompanied by two members of the black-garbed state police, Scott immediately left for the jail, about 100 yards away.

Mysterious Woman Present.

With his wrists manacled and looking pale and haggard Chapman was brought into the room at 10:55 o'clock. He was placed in a chair directly facing the board, the six members of which sat around an oblong table, with Governor Trumbull in the center. There were about 20 odd spectators in the room, in addition to a score of newspapermen.

A mysterious young woman, said to be prepared to testify in Chapman's behalf, accompanied Frederick J. Groehl, chief counsel for the bandit, into the prison building. She waited in an ante room, ready to be summoned.

The girl witness is a brunette, slim

83 Young Men Hear Address at Sunday Afternoon Meeting

Eighty-three young men attended the concluding meeting of the Sunday Afternoon club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday at which Harry B. Roberts, Youngstown, was the speaker. His subject was "A Young Man's Faith."

Total attendance in the 11 meetings conducted by the club was 1,031, an average of 94 per meeting. These meetings have been an experiment, with a view of bringing young men in contact with some of the best speakers in the district.

Plans are under way to resume these meetings next year. Young men between the ages of 16 and 26 are eligible to attend.

E. E. Dudding Says Criminal Known as Morgan Pierce Killed Connecticut Patrolman.

WASHINGTON, April 5. — E. E. Dudding, head of the prisoners' relief society, who has an acquaintance with hundreds of underworld characters, has sent a letter to the Connecticut state board of pardons, it was learned today, in which he asserts that a criminal known as Morgan Pierce killed the policeman supposed to have been killed by Gerald Chapman.

Dudding, himself a former convict, has frequently been of service to the authorities in clearing up crimes. He conducts an organization that aids released prisoners in rehabilitating themselves.

"I have been informed," said Dudding, "that a man by the name of Morgan Pierce killed the man that Gerald Chapman is about to be hanged for.

"After I got the tip that Pierce and not Chapman did the killing, I saw Pierce and tried to get him to turn in and make a confession and save his former pal. Pierce has a bad, very bad record, and he knows full well that he will be hanged if he gives himself up. I believe if he knew he would get a life sentence he would confess and relieve Chapman from paying a debt he does not owe.

"I feel certain Chapman is going to die for a crime he did not commit."

Pupils who survive the test will be entered in a contest to be held in Wheeling on April 23.

OIL SCATTERED

Property, Three Times Burned, Owned by Mrs. S. W. Crawford.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, co-operating with Fire Chief Thomas Bryan, today launched an investigation into the third attempt to fire a dwelling at the corner of Church and Crook alley, owned by Mrs. Samuel W. Crawford and leased to Mrs. Agnes Vaughn, now serving a six-month jail sentence in Beaver county for a liquor violation.

After saturating the floor of the living room and kitchen with kerosene, unidentified firebugs started a fire in the basement of the house at 9 o'clock Saturday night. Patrolman William Lister discovered the blaze, and firemen extinguished it with little property damage.

Firemen found in the kitchen three empty one-gallon jugs, which it is declared, had contained oil. Nearby was a tin can filled with kerosene. In a corner, beside a refrigerator, was found a pile of rags saturated with kerosene.

Brother Rooms in House.

Since the arrest of Mrs. Vaughn in Beaver about two monhs ago, the house has been unoccupied except by William Fox, brother of Mrs. Vaughn, who rooms on the second floor. Fox was not at home at the time that the fire was discovered. The firebugs are believed to have forced an entrance into the house through a cellar window, and thence into the kitchen by means of an inside cellar stairway. The outside door of the kitchen was unbolted and standing part way open when the firemen arrived.

Patrolman Lister was passing through Crook alley shortly after 9 o'clock when he discovered smoke coming from the cellar. He immediately called the firemen. The fire in the cellar had, from all indications, been started in a pile of rubbish, which had been saturated with oil. A few of the rafters in the cellar were charred.

Police Investigate.

A parlor suite in the living room of the Vaughn home was ruined by fire, which occurred on March 3. Firemen declared that the upholstering in the furniture had been soaked with oil before the match was applied, but the fire was discovered before it had an opportunity to gain much headway. Last fall another attempt was made to destroy the house, when kerosene was poured against one side of the building and a match applied. Mrs. Elmer McMillan, Third street, saw the fire from her bedroom window and called firemen, who extinguished it.

Authorities believe that some person, carrying a grudge either against Mrs. Vaughn or Mrs. Crawford, the owner of the place, responsible for the three fires. Mrs. Vaughn is said to have received a threatening note several months ago before her arrest in Beaver.

Mrs. Vaughn suffered a nervous collapse while in jail about a month ago and was removed to the Rochester General hospital, where she is still confined. Her son, Charles Vaughn, 22, was arrested for transporting liquor in Beaver county about a week ago and was given a six months' workhouse sentence and a $500 fine.

83 Young Men Hear Address at Sunday Afternoon Meeting

Eighty-three young men attended the concluding meeting of the Sunday Afternoon club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday at which Harry B. Roberts, Youngstown, was the speaker. His subject was "A Young Man's Faith."

Total attendance in the 11 meetings conducted by the club was 1,031, an average of 94 per meeting. These meetings have been an experiment, with a view of bringing young men in contact with some of the best speakers in the district.

Plans are under way to resume these meetings next year. Young men between the ages of 16 and 26 are eligible to attend.

DENYING KILLING, GERALD CHAPMAN MAKES PERSONAL APPEAL FOR LIFE

STATE PRISON, Wethersfield, Conn., April 5.—Gerald Chapman, condemned murderer, stood before the six members of the state board of pardons this afternoon and pleaded with them not to send him to the gallows tonight.

"I don't think, gentlemen," Chapman said in a low but distinct voice, "that I can pronounce loud enough my innocence of the murder of Policeman Skelly.

"I did not commit this crime. I am an innocent man."

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

STATE PRISON, WETHERSFIELD, Conn., April 5.—Gerald Chapman, condemned to die on the gallows shortly after midnight tonight, paced his cell in intense nervous excitement today, probably his last day on earth, as his lawyers made a final desperate effort to prevent the execution.

"I'm innocent," he fairly hissed from time to time. "I didn't do this murder."

The slender little bandit, termed the arch criminal of the last decade, knew that his attorneys were going before the board of pardons to beg clemency for him of the organized society against which he warred. But he seemed to sense that he was at the abyss of death, that only a miracle will save him.

For the first time in his long career behind prison bars his iron nerve threatened to desert him.

His pale face, almost ghastly with its prison pallor, wore a worried look as he nervously walked back and forth in his narrow, whitewashed death cell. He smoked innumerable cigarettes and gave up all thoughts of reading, which had been his chief occupation for weeks. Death seemed to be the one thought that occupied his mind and tormented his spirit.

Chapman hardly touched his breakfast. In fact, he has eaten very little in the last 24 hours.

CHAPMAN ASKS MERCY WHEN HE APPEARS BEFORE BOARD OF PARDONS

CONNECTICUT STATE PRISON, WETHERSFIELD, Conn., April 5. — Gerald Chapman was today permitted to attend the meeting of the state board of pardons, to hear his counsel make the final appeal to save him from the hangman's noose tonight.

A few minutes after the board convened in their meeting room in the prison here this morning, Frederick J. Groehl, Chapman's chief counsel, arose and formally asked that the board permit Chapman to be present.

Gov. John H. Trumbell, chairman of the board, curtly announced: "Petition granted."

Warden W. J. Scott was instructed by the board to bring Chapman to the room. Accompanied by two members of the black-garbed state police, Scott immediately left for the jail, about 100 yards away.

Mysterious Woman Present.

With his wrists manacled and looking pale and haggard Chapman was brought into the room at 10:55 o'clock. He was placed in a chair directly facing the board, the six members of which sat around an oblong table, with Governor Trumbull in the center. There were about 20 odd spectators in the room, in addition to a score of newspapermen.

A mysterious young woman, said to be prepared to testify in Chapman's behalf, accompanied Frederick J. Groehl, chief counsel for the bandit, into the prison building. She waited in an ante room, ready to be summoned.

E. E. Dudding Says Criminal Known as Morgan Pierce Killed Connecticut Patrolman.

WASHINGTON, April 5. — E. E. Dudding, head of the prisoners' relief society, who has an acquaintance with hundreds of underworld characters, has sent a letter to the Connecticut state board of pardons, it was learned today, in which he asserts that a criminal known as Morgan Pierce killed the policeman supposed to have been killed by Gerald Chapman.

Dudding, himself a former convict, has frequently been of service to the authorities in clearing up crimes. He conducts an organization that aids released prisoners in rehabilitating themselves.

"I have been informed," said Dudding, "that a man by the name of Morgan Pierce killed the man that Gerald Chapman is about to be hanged for.

"After I got the tip that Pierce and not Chapman did the killing, I saw Pierce and tried to get him to turn in and make a confession and save his former pal. Pierce has a bad, very bad record, and he knows full well that he will be hanged if he gives himself up. I believe if he knew he would get a life sentence he would confess and relieve Chapman from paying a debt he does not owe.

"I feel certain Chapman is going to die for a crime he did not commit."

HISTORIANS of the year 3000, writing today's history, would want information about people, not about steel factories or bank balances.

A recent performance in the electric chair at Milledgeville, Ga., would interest them. Ted Coggeshall, in his teens, "flipped away" a cigaret to permit guards to tie his hands in the electric chair. His father and younger brothre were in the death room watching. Two charges of electricity were needed to kill the youth; and his father proudly said to the executioner, "he was a good man, and you found him hard to kill."

Floyd McClelland, another boy, was executed at the same time. Both are said to have confessed murder.

FUTURE historians will be interested in the five "cake eater gunmen." Thus police describe five boys that "swaggered into court grinning," thre of them 17, one of them 18, and one 19 years old, each with a young woman of his age following him and evidently proud.

These boys are in their way to the electric chair for shooting Angelo Maharis, a restaurant owner. One boy killer brushed the murder aside, saying, "When I pointed my gun at him, he pushed me, saying 'cut that thing away,' so I had to shoot him."

HAVE you been buying European bonds, tempted by the high rates of interest?

Those buyers of European bonds may regret the buying. Washington and high finance is agitated by Senator Reed Smoot's statement tucked away in a speech of 30,000 words, to the effect that Europe will never be able to repay the millions lent by American investors through American financiers.

Senator Smoot, who understands finance, said, "I say without hesitation that the loans which we have made to foreign countries and that we are making to foreign countries cannot be paid."

That statement won't help poor old Wall Street, which had another fit of the financial blues last week.

Some time ago this column was warning against buying Russian bonds that the czar and his grand dukes were then unloading by the bale in the United States. Those bonds are worth now whatever first-class waste paper is worth.

There are plenty of chances to invest in the United States. Invest here.

This country is very rich, nobody dreams the amount of wealth below the ground. Even the Sinclair Oil people several days ago brought in a well now gushing at the rate of 1,000 barrels an hour. If that doesn't start foolish people buying "wild cat" oil stocks, it is because Barnum was wrong.

Wellsville Executive Leads Squad in Clean-up.

BIRDS CAPTURED

Fifty Spectators Flee; $250 Posted by Prisoners.

Ten regular and deputized police of Wellsville, led by Mayor Wallace L. Fogo, raided a chicken fight in a barn on an abandoned farm about five miles west of Irondale, Sunday afternoon, arresting 25 of the alleged participants and capturing two of the fighting birds.

Bonds of $10 each were collected from the prisoners who were charged with attending a cock fight.

Approximately 50 spectators are believed to have escaped.

Raiders Walk Three Miles.

Majority of the offenders were from Steubenville, Irondale and Toronto. They gave the following names: Hugh Wesley, Charles Cribben, Jack McCormick, Clarence Dougherty, George Adams, John Kelley, Frank Smith, Steubenville; George Washington, James McCafferty, James Jones, William Jackett, Joseph Arnold, W. Hoover, Roy Dobbs, John McGurdy and Clifford Johnson, Toronto; Floyd Duke, Oscar Yost, J. E. Mercer and William Grimm, Irondale; Samuel Hauck, West Point; Charles Dawson, Follansbee; William Jones, Chester; Grant Collins, Girard; Perry Lawrence, Alliance.

The raid occurred at 2:30 o'clock, the raiding party making the trip by automobile as far as New Salsbury, where they left their cars and walked about three miles. The raiders, in addition to Mayor Fogo, included Patrolmen Newton, Hurd, Barnes and Duncan, Railroad Detective Fred Heriine and Firemen McFall, Eaton, Paisley and Floto.

The raiders were forced to make their way through woods and dense thickets in order to reach the scene of the fight. When they were within a short distance of the barn, a di-

JOSEPH CLARK BADLY BEATEN

David Southall Fined $10 on Charge of Fighting.

David Southall, colored, Lincoln highway, was fined $10 and costs by Municipal Judge Hanley this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being disorderly by fighting.

Southall is alleged to have severely beaten Joseph Clark, also colored, in Church alley at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night because of "family troubles." Clark is said to have required the attention of a physician as the result of the attack.

Chief of Police McDermott located Southall Sunday afternoon and notified him to appear for a hearing today. Clark did not appear against Southall.

MOB ATTACKS HOSPITAL OF AMERICAN BAPTIST MISSION AT WU-CHOW

LONDON, April 5.—A Chinese mob attacked the American Baptist Mission hospital at Wu-Chow, a Central News dispatch from Hongkong said today.

The mob hurled stones through the windows narrowly missing members of the staff, most of whom are Americans.

200,000 Troops Will Clash.

PEKING, April 5.—Airplanes of the enemy forces seeking to capture Peking dropped bombs into the city again today.

The bombs fell for a second time in the vicinity of the Temple of Heaven, near where Chinese government officials were holding Arbor day ceremonies.

Later another flight of enemy air craft dropped seven bombs in the thickly settled Chinese section of the city. One woman was injured.

LONDON, April 5. — A decisive clash between the armies before Peking is imminent, advices from Peking indicated today.

The battle will involve 200,000 troops under Generals Chang Tso-Lin and Wo-Pei-Fu, the attacking force, and the 100,000 men of the defending army under General Lu-Ching-Lin, lieutenant to General Feng-Yu-Hsiang.

The plan of attack appears to be to terrorize the civil populace of Peking by aerial bombardment before launching the main drive.

50 Persons Killed, 600 Injured in Riots in India

LONDON, April 5. — Another outbreak of Hindu-Moslem riots in Calcutta resulted today in the death of 50 persons and the injury of 600 others, according to Australian dispatches.

Feeling between the Hindu and Moslem population of Calcutta is running high. On outbreak on Saturday resulted in the death of 12 persons and the injury of 150, and the burning of a Hindu temple and a mosque.

THUG MURDERS POLICEMAN WHO FOILS HOLD-UP

BANDIT IS SHOT

Slain New York Officer Father of Three Children.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Trailed by the imprint of a rubber heel in blood, Pete Adams, alias Hoslein, 25, was arrested today in connection with the murder of Policeman Charles H. Reilly.

Reilly was shot to death when he attempted to frustrate a hold-up. A victim of the hold-up wounded the bandit, who, in turn, killed the patrolman.

Adams is an ex-convict, according to the police, and has been identified as the "two-gun" man involved in the hold-up.

Detectives followed the blood trail from the gutter in which Reilly's body lay and apprehended Adams, wounded, hiding in a tenement. The wound is superficial.

Patrolman Reilly was 44 and the father of three children.

A man who said he was Armeddro Corsini, found near the scene of the murder, was held for questioning.

Reilly was shot in the back. Police said he had been popular in "Little Italy," where the killing occurred.

SCHOOL FINANCE PARLEY TOPIC

The question of school finances will be discussed at a conference between the board of education and members of the municipal and county affairs committee of the chamber of commerce in the chamber's rooms in the Little building at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The chamber's committee is made up of James S. Hilbert, A. L. White, T. V. Milligan, M. W. Thompson, C. W. Hellyer, F. F. DeBolt, L. E. Connor and C. W. Hendershot.

ENRAGED BULL GORES FARMER

Frank Smith, 55, farmer of near Highlandtown, was admitted to the City hospital, Saturday afternoon, suffering from two fractured ribs and a broken collar bone sustained when attacked by an enraged bull on his farm last Wednesday. He was attended by Dr. J. S. McCulloch, Wellsville. His condition is not serious.

JUDGE HANLEY ROTARY SPEAKER

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley will address members of the Rotary club at their meeting in the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow noon. George Stewart will be chairman.

VAUGHN HOME, CROOK ALLEY, FIRED AGAIN BY PYROMANIAC

OIL SCATTERED

Property, Three Times Burned, Owned by Mrs. S. W. Crawford.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, co-operating with Fire Chief Thomas Bryan, today launched an investigation into the third attempt to fire a dwelling at the corner of Church and Crook alley, owned by Mrs. Samuel W. Crawford and leased to Mrs. Agnes Vaughn, now serving a six-month jail sentence in Beaver county for a liquor violation.

After saturating the floor of the living room and kitchen with kerosene, unidentified firebugs started a fire in the basement of the house at 9 o'clock Saturday night. Patrolman William Lister discovered the blaze, and firemen extinguished it with little property damage.

Firemen found in the kitchen three empty one-gallon jugs, which it is declared, had contained oil. Nearby was a tin can filled with kerosene. In a corner, beside a refrigerator, was found a pile of rags saturated with kerosene.

Brother Rooms in House.

Since the arrest of Mrs. Vaughn in Beaver about two months ago, the house has been unoccupied except by William Fox, brother of Mrs. Vaughn, who rooms on the second floor. Fox was not at home at the time that the fire was discovered. The firebugs are believed to have forced an entrance into the house through a cellar window, and thence into the kitchen by means of an inside cellar stairway. The outside door of the kitchen was unbolted and standing part way open when the firemen arrived.

Patrolman Lister was passing through Crook alley shortly after 9 o'clock when he discovered smoke coming from the cellar. He immediately called the firemen. The fire in the cellar had, from all indications, been started in a pile of rubbish, which had been saturated with oil. A few of the rafters in the cellar were charred.

Police Investigate.

A parlor suite in the living room of the Vaughn home was ruined by fire, which occurred on March 3. Firemen declared that the upholstering in the furniture had been soaked with oil before the match was applied, but the fire was discovered before it had an opportunity to gain much headway. Last fall another attempt was made to destroy the house, when kerosene was poured against one side of the building and a match applied. Mrs. Elmer McMillan, Third street, saw the fire from her bedroom window and called firemen, who extinguished it.

Authorities believe that some person, carrying a grudge either against Mrs. Vaughn or Mrs. Crawford, the owner of the place, responsible for the three fires. Mrs. Vaughn is said to have received a threatening note several months ago before her arrest in Beaver.

Mrs. Vaughn suffered a nervous collapse while in jail about a month ago and was removed to the Rochester General hospital, where she is still confined. Her son, Charles Vaughn, 22, was arrested for transporting liquor in Beaver county about a week ago and was given a six months' workhouse sentence and a $500 fine.

LIQUOR RAID NETS $316.40

Police Arrest Eight Men in Harry Anderson Home.

Fines totaling $316.40 were collected by police today as the result of a liquor raid made by Chief of Police McDermott and Patrolman William Lister at the home of Harry Anderson, Walnut stret, at 10:50 o'clock Sunday morning.

Anderson was fined $200 and costs for furnishing liquor by Municipal Judge Hanley this morning. John McFadden, Anderson's brother-in-law; Robert Stewart, Bart Brown, John Hoskins, James Rigby, Earnest Barrett and William "Red" McCoach were fined $15.80 upon charges of being drunk and loitering.

Police, who smashed in the back door of the Anderson home when they were refused admittance, declare that a quantity of liquor had been poured down the bathroom sewer, but a small amount of evidence was secured. Two cases of empty bottles were also confiscated.

Anderson posted $200 bond for his appearance after being taken to the city hall. Others also posted bond.

An Important Message to the Good Citizenship of East Liverpool and Its Adjacent Communities

Mark every grave

The selection of a memorial for Decoration is of vastly greater importance than is generally recognized.

This salient fact exists because of the vast amount of materials now being employed in the building of memorials. A number of these are reliable, but the chief fact remains. A number of materials are not worthy of the name memorial. The only excuse for employing the latter material is its cheapness, but unfortunately it proves the most expensive, for remember the memorial you select should endure all time.

May we offer our services in aiding you to intelligently determine upon this very important problem?

We are located in your midst, our interests are mutual, we must depend upon you now and the future also, on the quality of our memorials depends our future. We are not here today and gone tomorrow, but can be found if anything further is in your judgment, required of us, after completion of our work. We earnestly invite your most careful investigation of our reliability and as producers of quality memorials. We are in position to furnish anything in this connection from the most humble marker to the most elaborate monument or mausoleum.

We will be most pleased to design something entirely befitting your cemetery plot taking into consideration the contour of the ground and surroundings which materially affect the selection of design and have in our employ artists with ability equal to any of our knowledge.

We ask your earnest consideration of your local dealer. Write or phone Main 988 for any information or appointment regarding a memorial for Decoration.

An Important Message to the Good Citizenship of East Liverpool and Its Adjacent Communities

Mark every grave

The selection of a memorial for Decoration is of vastly greater importance than is generally recognized.

This salient fact exists because of the vast amount of materials now being employed in the building of memorials. A number of these are reliable, but the chief fact remains. A number of materials are not worthy of the name memorial. The only excuse for employing the latter material is its cheapness, but unfortunately it proves the most expensive, for remember the memorial you select should endure all time.

May we offer our services in aiding you to intelligently determine upon this very important problem?

We are located in your midst, our interests are mutual, we must depend upon you now and the future also, on the quality of our memorials depends our future. We are not here today and gone tomorrow, but can be found if anything further is in your judgment, required of us, after completion of our work. We earnestly invite your most careful investigation of our reliability and as producers of quality memorials. We are in position to furnish anything in this connection from the most humble marker to the most elaborate monument or mausoleum.

We will be most pleased to design something entirely befitting your cemetery plot taking into consideration the contour of the ground and surroundings which materially affect the selection of design and have in our employ artists with ability equal to any of our knowledge.

We ask your earnest consideration of your local dealer. Write or phone Main 988 for any information or appointment regarding a memorial for Decoration.

TRIPLE WEDDING FEATURES EASTER SUNDAY CELEBRATION IN DENVER

Sons and Daughters of Two Families Are Principals—Will Live in Adjoining Bungalows.

DENVER, April 5.—A triple wedding marked the Easter Sunday celebration here of the families of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sedbrook and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hoyle, long time residents of Denver, when two sons of the Sedbrooks married two daughters of the Hoyles, and a son of the Hoyles wed a daughter of the Sedbrooks.

Clifford Sedbrook, 25, married Eva Hoyle, 21.

Ruth Sedbrook, 18, became the bride of Cecil Hoyle, 23.

All the participants have lived in the same neighborhood since birth, the weddings being the culmination of childhood romances.

The three couples will live in adjoining bungalows, built on lots of land they purchased several years ago.

"IMMORTALITY" IS THEME OF DR. J. B. KOEHNE

Large Crowd Hears Lecturer at Presbyterian Church.

TWO DISCOURSES

"Resurrection" is Subject of Sermon at Morning Services.

"Some men are so obsessed with the parable of the Prodigal Son that they can not arrogate a sense of justice to Almighty God and so feel that His love will cause Him to ultimately save the world," declared Dr. John B. Koehne, of New London, N. H., before a large concourse of people at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. "These forget to read the next chapter which specifically shows that a 'great gulf' after their death separated Lazarus and the wealthy noble men from whose tables he had eked out an existence while on earth." His theme was "Immortality."

In the morning before an Easter gathering that filled the entire auditorium he spoke on "The Resurrection" for one hour.

Marshalling facts as evidence before a supreme court, Dr. Koehne, with compelling logic, covered every known dissent to the certainty of the crucified Christ having risen from the dead as He said He would and being seen by men before His subsequent ascension.

The night discussion dovetailed with the outstanding discourse earlier in the day in that it guaranteed future life, the wicked inheriting merited punishment and the penitent a blissful state.

The First Baptist church membership led by its pastor, Rev. A. H. O'Brien, attended the morning service in a body following the conclusion of the Sunday school. In the evening the First United Presbyterian church discontinued its meeting and its members joined in listening to the New England clergyman.

The morning invocation was made by Dr. D. W. MacLeod, First Presbyterian church pastor. The choir, directed by W. A. Macdonald with Mrs. J. F. Calhoun as organist, sang "The Seal is Broken," by Watson. Miss Grace McNutt contributed a soprano solo, "Allelulia! Death is Conquered!" by Tompkins. Rev. A. H. O'Brien offered the benediction.

A song service preceded the evening message and was directed by Oliver Johnson. With Mrs. Calhoun at the organ a quartet consisting of Mr. Johnson, J. W. Newman, Leland Pittinger and Norman Pilgrim, sang: "Lead Us, O Father!" The invocation was by Dr. MacLeod, with Rev. L. J. Davison, First United Presbyterian pastor, offering the benediction.

The tenth and final discussion of the present series will be made by Dr. Koehne this evening at 7:45 o'clock when his theme will be: "The Personality of Christ."

"You are not to infer that the beggar went to heaven because he was without means or that his monied neighbor found his place in the domain of the lost by reason of his possessions. It was a rich man, Joseph, who gave his own tomb to the crucified Christ; it was a poor man, Judas, who betrayed the Son of Man.

Dr. Koehne replying to the objections that God had not demonstrated immortality affirmed that He had not demonstrated His own existence of that the human unit had a soul. "If you can reason one, you can the other," he said. "The question is not why God does things; we are to take them as they are. We gain nothing except through experience.

We can not tell what the life will be when we behold it in a cradle. What death is we have no conception. Everyone must die alone, even if he passes away with thousands on a battle field.

The Lord assumes three things: the nature of God; that men have souls and the latter's immortality. All races believe in a future existence. 'This can not be as the result of instinct for it and reason are so closely associated as to obviate a gulf separating them. God must have communicated the fact to savages. So the so-called instinct of the savages, the reason of scholars and the faith of the saints all attest a future state for all mankind."

The Big Interior Waterways

The chief of the army engineers, who has been studying the two great waterway projects now before the country, reports to congress as follows:

That as regards a ship canal from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, the proposed route down the St. Lawrence would cost the government only one-sixth as much as the alternate route via New York state and the Hudson river.

That as regards a nine-foot channel connecting Lake Michigan with the Mississippi and making a better freight outlet from the interior to the Gulf of Mexico, a diversion of 1,000 cubic feet per second from the lake at Chicago would suffice for navigation purposes, instead of the 8,250 cubic feet now diverted to carry off Chicago sewage, and that diverting more than 1,000 feet would not do the Mississippi river any particular good.

This may settle the dispute as to the choice of routes to the Atlantic, especially as the much smaller cost of the St. Lawrence project will itself be repaid by hydro-electric development.

It may also satisfy the lower Mississippi states as to the possibility of improving transportation on that route without taking so much water from the Great Lakes as to interfere with lake navigation, and without making the Father of Waters, as Newton D. Baker remarked to a congressional committee, the "Father of Sewers." The city of Chicago, however, still refuses all appeals to solve its sewer problem by building adequate sewage disposal works as other American cities have done.

An American Javert

One of the most curious cases in American criminology developed in Ashbury Park, N. J., when a respected physician 93 years old, who has lived in that city for 20 years, was arrested by a 91-year-old sheriff from Binghamton, N. Y., on a charge of horse-stealing and jail-breaking in Binghamton in 1881.

The defendant flatly denies the charge, insisting that it is a case of mistaken identity, and scores of friends uphold him. The deputy stoutly maintains that he could not be mistaken. He remembers the accused perfectly, he says, all these years, and has never given up hope of making him pay the penalty for that old offense, forgotten by everyone else.

The age of these two men alone would make the case memorable. It becomes far more so because of the fact that an American representative of the law has been trailing his quarry all that time.

News. reporters must have stopped reading Victor Hugo Otherwise it is hardly possible that this story could have been told without mentioning the strangely parallel case in "Les Miserables," of the prisoner Jean Valjean, and the detective Javert, who pursued him relentlessly from one locality and disguise to another throughout his whole life.

It is something new to find in this easy-going land a Javert so imbued with desire to avenge society upon a malefactor that he follows the scent for half a century. Usually, over here, a crime is forgotten by everybody but the victim in three months. It would be a fine thing for the criminal situation, if we had a few dozen more Binghamton Javerts.

Changes In Food

It may be questioned whether bread deserves any longer its proud title of "the staff of life." The Aemrican people are consuming only three-fourths as much flour per capita as they were 50 years ago, and the decline continues. This is one reason why the farmer gets less for his wheat than he thinks he should.

Why do we eat less bread? Partly because we are eating more corn, which helps to even things up for the farmer and shows a fine, thrifty tendency—corn is always cheaper and more plentiful and it is a very good food.

But most of the decrease is due to a more fundamental change of diet. We are eating far more fresh vegetables and fruits than previous generations did.

We are all the better for that. It makes a more wholesome diet. It shows progress. Our ancestors would have eaten the fruits and vegetables just as we do, but they didn't have them. Their diet was surprisingly limited compared with ours.

Truck gardening, greenhouse development, varied production and plentiful and widespread distribution of foodstuffs, commercial canning and dehydration, well stocked groceries, all these are new, and are having a profound effect on the American table. More advanced dietetic knowledge has its influence, too. The doctors tell us what to eat, and we have the foodstuffs of all the world to choose from.

Yes, it's a "a mad world," as Shakespeare observed; and the more that man Mussolini tells it where to get off, the madder it gets.

It must be said for Mussolini that anybody who can make Italians wear black shirts instead of red-blue-green-yellow-purple mixtures is a wizard.

The German gentleman who fasted 44 days for $20,000 now has enough to support him comfortably for the rest of his life, if he keeps on fasting.

Where there's smoke there's fire, and forbidding Smith college girls to smoke in their rooms under "fire regulations" is probably as good as way as any.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 5.—Diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Awake very betimes and came some gay 'kerchiefs, Aubrey Eads brought from Paris, and so up and did on my tan surtout and had breakfast with Tambourini, the portrait painter, who told me much of Florence.

Then Justine came and recounted her merry voyage to Havana. And I did say to my wife, poor wretch: "We must be off on another journey," but she said nothing so I to sewing buttons on a coat, a custom of mine when in a pout.

In the evening it came on to rain in torrents and I sat at a window for an hour, fascinated by the rumble of thunder and flash of lightning, and somehow filled with high resolves. Later to walk awhile with the dog, and so to bed.

Success does not always click along with high-powered efficiency. Secretarial barriers, push buttons, rows of telephones and the like do not necessarily encompass the executive genius. Consider David A. Schulte, who began life at the north end of a south-bound broom in a cigar store near Brooklyn Bridge.

Today he controls millions in property and hundreds of workers, yet he does not employ a secretary. It is related he has not written a letter in more than ten years. A battered desk and a single telephone are his sole office equipments in a rather abandoned part of town.

He admits he has learned to inspire others, and the executive who can do that has little to worry about. For a business genius he is perhaps the least known of all who operate in New York. Even his full name is not used in his multifarious enterprises.

David Schulte is A. Schulte & Co., operating some 300 cigar stores. He is Vivadou, the perfumer. He is Park and Tilfors, the chain grocers. He is Alfred Dunhill, who operates swank pipe and tobacco shops here and in England. He seems satisfied to receive profits and let others have the glory.

Newton Baker, former secretary of war, is able intelligently to carry on conversation over two telephones at the same time. He can also digest the contents of a book while dictating letters.

There used to be a sallow young man at Nigger Mike Salter's in Chinatown gifted with triple accomplishments. He could smoke a cigarette, blow the foam off beer and quaff it while playing the piano and not miss a note. To his intimates he was "Skeets," and when it became necessary to send him to the recuperative climate of Arizona to live in a tent he was given a "benefit" at which the sum of $420 was collected. "Skeets" took the money, spent it for a night's blow-out on Broadway, and the next morning shot himself.

One wonders wither prohibition has blown the saloon back-room pianist? They drifted from New York to Nome in other days—sitting hunched up over pianos from dusk until dawn. They were satisfied with the free drinks and had suspicious coughs. Only when a fight started did they change the monotonous tempo. Then they banged louder. They had few intimates and seemed satisfied to be known merely as "the professor."

Perhaps progress struck the roaming ivory pounder. Today they have prototypes in the dapper, Tuxedoed entertainers who are "on call" to entertain at private parties, playing piano or uke and singing spicy songs. Some of them around New York charge $50 each a night and drive to their appointments in their own limousines.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Raiffeisen Cooperatives.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—When Huston Thompson made a report to the president of the Federal Trade Commission's study of co-operation in foreign countries, he mentioned particularly the Raiffeisen organizations. In this report the commission recommends consideration of several features of the co-operative movement in foreign countries, with a view to their application in the United States. Of course, it is said, due consideration should be given to the fact that co-operative methods which have proved successful elsewhere may not be wholly adaptable to existent conditions in this country.

In calling attention to these various features, the report refers to the Raiffeisen organizations as a simple, elastic and inexpensive system of rural credit societies, adapted to local conditions and needs, managed by the farmers themselves, limited to small areas, but with a centralized auditing system and central banks for diverting funds from one section to another as needed.

"It is believed," says the report, "that a greater development of the co-operative credit system in rural districts would materially promote thrift, self-help and teamwork, and draw in considerable unused wealth of the countryside and make it available for credit purposes."

It is said that about one-fourth of the total German agricultural co-operative societies are Raiffeisen organizations. This type is also largely used in many other European countries. It has been successfully adopted in France, Italy, Belgium, Austria Hungary, Russia, Switzerland, Ireland. In Canada the co-operative credit banks, commonly called credit unions, combine features found in both the Raiffeisen and Schulze-Delitzsch systems. There are a few such societies in Massachusetts and some Jewish colonies in New York and Connecticut experimented with the idea.

For the Little Fellow.

Raiffeisenism is not for the large land owner, but for the "little fellow." The system was the idea of Friedrich Wilhelm Raiffeisen, a German economist, who was born at Hamm an der Sieg and in 1835 entered the army. He was compelled to leave that profession because of bad eyesight and entered the civil service, becoming burgomaster of Westerwald.

The people of the district of Westerwald were poor, and in 1846-7 famine was added to poverty. Soon every cottage was mortgaged to the usurers, and most of the cattle belonged to the money lenders. There was little work, and the crops were poor. The people faced complete ruin.

Such were conditions when Raiffeisen came to the rescue. It has been said that he capitalized honesty and thrift and made it a business asset. He commercialized co-operation and made it practical. First he established a co-operative bakery and next a co-operative cattle purchasing association. Still the usurers held the people's bonds and mortgages, so at considerable effort he gathered together $1,500 and set up a "village bank." He offered the peasantry money for their needs if they would subscribe to his rules. Thus began a system which was later to become world-wide.

The movement grew slowly at first. The second bank was not formed until 1854, the third in 1862, and the fourth in 1868. In 1880 the idea began to spread rapidly and by 1890 there were in Germany alone 1,729 banks. According to the Federal Trade Commission's special report to the president, published in 1925, there are something over 36,000 agricultural co-operative societies in Germany at the present time, one-fourth of which are Raiffeisen organizations.

The members of these organizations are farmers, usually peasant proprietors. The minimum number required to organize is seven. Until 1876 there was no initiation fee or capital stock, but in that year share subscriptions and dividends were made compulsory by law.

The farmers of a locality form a co-operative society, and on the strength of their collective assets, obtain a loan for which they become severally and jointly liable. This is termed the unlimited liability plan. This loan is deposited in the co-operative bank of the association, which also acts as a deposit bank for the savings of members, and the money is loaned out to the members for specified purposes connected with the business of their farms.

Careful About Members.

Since the members of these associations are individually as well as jointly liable for these loans, they are exceedingly discriminatory in accepting members. This system does indeed place a premium upon good character and reputation. A man who is a drunkard or who has the reputation of being none too scrupulous with regard to his debts, is not likely to meet with a ready response when he asks for a loan. Poverty is no obstacle to membership in such a society, but honesty and integrity are imperative.

The management of these associations is simple. There is a committee of management, a council of supervision, and a general meeting. The general meeting elects the council of supervision which audits the accounts and does supervisory work. The executive work is done by the treasurer, who is the only salaried employe. The general meeting also names the committee of management and the treasurer.

In order to spread the co-operative idea federations have been formed. It was felt that the movement needed proper direction to make it effective and uniform in its methods. The federations embrace not only rural credit societies, but rural co-operative societies of every kind. The Federation of Agricultural Co-operative Societies which was organized in 1877 by Fairfeisen, was absorbed by the National Federation of German Co-operative Societies, founded in 1883. The societies first affiliate themselves, with the Provincial Federations, and these in turn connect themselves with the National Federation.

There are central banks which control the flow of money. These banks do not conflict with the federations since the latter's functions are not capitalistic but educational and supervisory. As a rule the central banks are connected with the district federation through the managing officials, who are generally affiliated with both. These central banks act as regulators or balance wheels of credit. When a local soiety is in need of funds, it applies to the central institution. When it has a surplus, it deposits it with the central bank.

The Raiffeisen system has proved tremendously successful wherever it has been adapted to the needs of a particular nation, and it is believed that it might be well to give the idea careful consideration in the United States.

The Big Interior Waterways

The chief of the army engineers, who has been studying the two great waterway projects now before the country, reports to congress as follows:

That as regards a ship canal from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, the proposed route down the St. Lawrence would cost the government only one-sixth as much as the alternate route via New York state and the Hudson river.

That as regards a nine-foot channel connecting Lake Michigan with the Mississippi and making a better freight outlet from the interior to the Gulf of Mexico, a diversion of 1,000 cubic feet per second from the lake at Chicago would suffice for navigation purposes, instead of the 8,250 cubic feet now diverted to carry off Chicago sewage, and that diverting more than 1,000 feet would not do the Mississippi river any particular good.

This may settle the dispute as to the choice of routes to the Atlantic, especially as the much smaller cost of the St. Lawrence project will itself be repaid by hydro-electric development.

It may also satisfy the lower Mississippi states as to the possibility of improving transportation on that route without taking so much water from the Great Lakes as to interfere with lake navigation, and without making the Father of Waters, as Newton D. Baker remarked to a congressional committee, the "Father of Sewers." The city of Chicago, however, still refuses all appeals to solve its sewer problem by building adequate sewage disposal works as other American cities have done.

An American Javert

One of the most curious cases in American criminology developed in Ashbury Park, N. J., when a respected physician 93 years old, who has lived in that city for 20 years, was arrested by a 91-year-old sheriff from Binghamton, N. Y., on a charge of horse-stealing and jail-breaking in Binghamton in 1881.

The defendant flatly denies the charge, insisting that it is a case of mistaken identity, and scores of friends uphold him. The deputy stoutly maintains that he could not be mistaken. He remembers the accused perfectly, he says, all these years, and has never given up hope of making him pay the penalty for that old offense, forgotten by everyone else.

The age of these two men alone would make the case memorable. It becomes far more so because of the fact that an American representative of the law has been trailing his quarry all that time.

News. reporters must have stopped reading Victor Hugo Otherwise it is hardly possible that this story could have been told without mentioning the strangely parallel case in "Les Miserables," of the prisoner Jean Valjean, and the detective Javert, who pursued him relentlessly from one locality and disguise to another throughout his whole life.

It is something new to find in this easy-going land a Javert so imbued with desire to avenge society upon a malefactor that he follows the scent for half a century. Usually, over here, a crime is forgotten by everybody but the victim in three months. It would be a fine thing for the criminal situation, if we had a few dozen more Binghamton Javerts.

Changes In Food

It may be questioned whether bread deserves any longer its proud title of "the staff of life." The Aemrican people are consuming only three-fourths as much flour per capita as they were 50 years ago, and the decline continues. This is one reason why the farmer gets less for his wheat than he thinks he should.

Why do we eat less bread? Partly because we are eating more corn, which helps to even things up for the farmer and shows a fine, thrifty tendency—corn is always cheaper and more plentiful and it is a very good food.

But most of the decrease is due to a more fundamental change of diet. We are eating far more fresh vegetables and fruits than previous generations did.

We are all the better for that. It makes a more wholesome diet. It shows progress. Our ancestors would have eaten the fruits and vegetables just as we do, but they didn't have them. Their diet was surprisingly limited compared with ours.

Truck gardening, greenhouse development, varied production and plentiful and widespread distribution of foodstuffs, commercial canning and dehydration, well stocked groceries, all these are new, and are having a profound effect on the American table. More advanced dietetic knowledge has its influence, too. The doctors tell us what to eat, and we have the foodstuffs of all the world to choose from.

Yes, it's a "a mad world," as Shakespeare observed; and the more that man Mussolini tells it where to get off, the madder it gets.

It must be said for Mussolini that anybody who can make Italians wear black shirts instead of red-blue-green-yellow-purple mixtures is a wizard.

The German gentleman who fasted 44 days for $20,000 now has enough to support him comfortably for the rest of his life, if he keeps on fasting.

The Big Interior Waterways

The chief of the army engineers, who has been studying the two great waterway projects now before the country, reports to congress as follows:

That as regards a ship canal from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, the proposed route down the St. Lawrence would cost the government only one-sixth as much as the alternate route via New York state and the Hudson river.

That as regards a nine-foot channel connecting Lake Michigan with the Mississippi and making a better freight outlet from the interior to the Gulf of Mexico, a diversion of 1,000 cubic feet per second from the lake at Chicago would suffice for navigation purposes, instead of the 8,250 cubic feet now diverted to carry off Chicago sewage, and that diverting more than 1,000 feet would not do the Mississippi river any particular good.

This may settle the dispute as to the choice of routes to the Atlantic, especially as the much smaller cost of the St. Lawrence project will itself be repaid by hydro-electric development.

It may also satisfy the lower Mississippi states as to the possibility of improving transportation on that route without taking so much water from the Great Lakes as to interfere with lake navigation, and without making the Father of Waters, as Newton D. Baker remarked to a congressional committee, the "Father of Sewers." The city of Chicago, however, still refuses all appeals to solve its sewer problem by building adequate sewage disposal works as other American cities have done.

An American Javert

One of the most curious cases in American criminology developed in Ashbury Park, N. J., when a respected physician 93 years old, who has lived in that city for 20 years, was arrested by a 91-year-old sheriff from Binghamton, N. Y., on a charge of horse-stealing and jail-breaking in Binghamton in 1881.

The defendant flatly denies the charge, insisting that it is a case of mistaken identity, and scores of friends uphold him. The deputy stoutly maintains that he could not be mistaken. He remembers the accused perfectly, he says, all these years, and has never given up hope of making him pay the penalty for that old offense, forgotten by everyone else.

The age of these two men alone would make the case memorable. It becomes far more so because of the fact that an American representative of the law has been trailing his quarry all that time.

News. reporters must have stopped reading Victor Hugo Otherwise it is hardly possible that this story could have been told without mentioning the strangely parallel case in "Les Miserables," of the prisoner Jean Valjean, and the detective Javert, who pursued him relentlessly from one locality and disguise to another throughout his whole life.

It is something new to find in this easy-going land a Javert so imbued with desire to avenge society upon a malefactor that he follows the scent for half a century. Usually, over here, a crime is forgotten by everybody but the victim in three months. It would be a fine thing for the criminal situation, if we had a few dozen more Binghamton Javerts.

Changes In Food

It may be questioned whether bread deserves any longer its proud title of "the staff of life." The Aemrican people are consuming only three-fourths as much flour per capita as they were 50 years ago, and the decline continues. This is one reason why the farmer gets less for his wheat than he thinks he should.

Why do we eat less bread? Partly because we are eating more corn, which helps to even things up for the farmer and shows a fine, thrifty tendency—corn is always cheaper and more plentiful and it is a very good food.

But most of the decrease is due to a more fundamental change of diet. We are eating far more fresh vegetables and fruits than previous generations did.

We are all the better for that. It makes a more wholesome diet. It shows progress. Our ancestors would have eaten the fruits and vegetables just as we do, but they didn't have them. Their diet was surprisingly limited compared with ours.

Truck gardening, greenhouse development, varied production and plentiful and widespread distribution of foodstuffs, commercial canning and dehydration, well stocked groceries, all these are new, and are having a profound effect on the American table. More advanced dietetic knowledge has its influence, too. The doctors tell us what to eat, and we have the foodstuffs of all the world to choose from.

Yes, it's a "a mad world," as Shakespeare observed; and the more that man Mussolini tells it where to get off, the madder it gets.

It must be said for Mussolini that anybody who can make Italians wear black shirts instead of red-blue-green-yellow-purple mixtures is a wizard.

The German gentleman who fasted 44 days for $20,000 now has enough to support him comfortably for the rest of his life, if he keeps on fasting.

Where there's smoke there's fire, and forbidding Smith college girls to smoke in their rooms under "fire regulations" is probably as good as way as any.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 5.—Diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Awake very betimes and came some gay 'kerchiefs. Aubrey Eads brought from Paris, and so up and did on my tan surtout and had breakfast with Tambourini, the portrait painter, who told me much of Florence.

Then Justine came and recounted her merry voyage to Havana. And I did say to my wife, poor wretch: "We must be off on another journey," but she said nothing so I to sewing buttons on a coat, a custom of mine when in a pout.

In the evening it came on to rain in torrents and I sat at a window for an hour, fascinated by the rumble of thunder and flash of lightning, and somehow filled with high resolves. Later to walk awhile with the dog, and so to bed.

Success does not always click along with high-powered efficiency. Secretarial barriers, push buttons, rows of telephones and the like do not necessarily encompass the executive genius. Consider David A. Schulte, who began life at the north end of a south-bound broom in a cigar store near Brooklyn Bridge.

Today he controls millions in property and hundreds of workers, yet he does not employ a secretary. It is related he has not written a letter in more than ten years. A battered desk and a single telephone are his sole office equipments in a rather abandoned part of town.

He admits he has learned to inspire others, and the executive who can do that has little to worry about. For a business genius he is perhaps the least known of all who operate in New York. Even his full name is not used in his multifarious enterprises.

David Schulte is A. Schulte & Co., operating some 300 cigar stores. He is Vivadou, the perfumer. He is Park and Tilfors, the chain grocers. He is Alfred Dunhill, who operates swank pipe and tobacco shops here and in England. He seems satisfied to receive profits and let others have the glory.

Newton Baker, former secretary of war, is able intelligently to carry on conversation over two telephones at the same time. He can also digest the contents of a book while dictating letters.

There used to be a sallow young man at Nigger Mike Salter's in Chinatown gifted with triple accomplishments. He could smoke a cigarette, blow the foam off beer and quaff it while playing the piano and not miss a note. To his intimates he was "Skeets," and when it became necessary to send him to the recuperative climate of Arizona to live in a tent he was given a "benefit" at which the sum of $420 was collected. "Skeets" took the money, spent it for a night's blow-out on Broadway, and the next morning shot himself.

One wonders wither prohibition has blown the saloon back-room pianist? They drifted from New York to Nome in other days—sitting hunched up over pianos from dusk until dawn. They were satisfied with the free drinks and had suspicious coughs. Only when a fight started did they change the monotonous tempo. Then they banged louder. They had few intimates and seemed satisfied to be known merely as "the professor."

Perhaps progress struck the roaming ivory pounder. Today they have prototypes in the dapper, Tuxedoed entertainers who are "on call" to entertain at private parties, playing piano or uke and singing spicy songs. Some of them around New York charge $50 each a night and drive to their appointments in their own limousines.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Raiffeisen Cooperatives.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—When Huston Thompson made a report to the president of the Federal Trade Commission's study of co-operation in foreign countries, he mentioned particularly the Raiffeisen organizations. In this report the commission recommends consideration of several features of the co-operative movement in foreign countries, with a view to their application in the United States. Of course, it is said, due consideration should be given to the fact that co-operative methods which have proved successful elsewhere may not be wholly adaptable to existent conditions in this country.

In calling attention to these various features, the report refers to the Raiffeisen organizations as a simple, elastic and inexpensive system of rural credit societies, adapted to local conditions and needs, managed by the farmers themselves, limited to small areas, but with a centralized auditing system and central banks for diverting funds from one section to another as needed.

"It is believed," says the report, "that a greater development of the co-operative credit system in rural districts would materially promote thrift, self-help and teamwork, and draw in considerable unused wealth of the countryside and make it available for credit purposes."

It is said that about one-fourth of the total German agricultural co-operative societies are Raiffeisen organizations. This type is also largely used in many other European countries. It has been successfully adopted in France, Italy, Belgium, Austria Hungary, Russia, Switzerland, Ireland. In Canada the co-operative credit banks, commonly called credit unions, combine features found in both the Raiffeisen and Schulze-Delitzsch systems. There are a few such societies in Massachusetts and some Jewish colonies in New York and Connecticut experimented with the idea.

For the Little Fellow.

Raiffeisenism is not for the large land owner, but for the "little fellow." The system was the idea of Friedrich Wilhelm Raiffeisen, a German economist, who was born at Hamm an der Sieg and in 1835 entered the army. He was compelled to leave that profession because of bad eyesight and entered the civil service, becoming burgomaster of Westerwald.

The people of the district of Westerwald were poor, and in 1846-7 famine was added to poverty. Soon every cottage was mortgaged to the usurers, and most of the cattle belonged to the money lenders. There was little work, and the crops were poor. The people faced complete ruin.

Such were conditions when Raiffeisen came to the rescue. It has been said that he capitalized honesty and thrift and made it a business asset. He commercialized co-operation and made it practical. First he established a co-operative bakery and next a co-operative cattle purchasing association. Still the usurers held the people's bonds and mortgages, so at considerable effort he gathered together $1,500 and set up a "village bank." He offered the peasantry money for their needs if they would subscribe to his rules. Thus began a system which was later to become world-wide.

The movement grew slowly at first. The second bank was not formed until 1854, the third in 1862, and the fourth in 1868. In 1880 the idea began to spread rapidly and by 1890 there were in Germany alone 1,729 banks. According to the Federal Trade Commission's special report to the president, published in 1925, there are something over 36,000 agricultural co-operative societies in Germany at the present time, one-fourth of which are Raiffeisen organizations.

The members of these organizations are farmers, usually peasant proprietors. The minimum number required to organize is seven. Until 1876 there was no initiation fee or capital stock, but in that year share subscriptions and dividends were made compulsory by law.

The farmers of a locality form a co-operative society, and on the strength of their collective assets, obtain a loan for which they become severally and jointly liable. This is termed the unlimited liability plan. This loan is deposited in the co-operative bank of the association, which also acts as a deposit bank for the savings of members, and the money is loaned out to the members for specified purposes connected with the business of their farms.

Careful About Members.

Since the members of these associations are individually as well as jointly liable for these loans, they are exceedingly discriminatory in accepting members. This system does indeed place a premium upon good character and reputation. A man who is a drunkard or who has the reputation of being none too scrupulous with regard to his debts, is not likely to meet with a ready response when he asks for a loan. Poverty is no obstacle to membership in such a society, but honesty and integrity are imperative.

The management of these associations is simple. There is a committee of management, a council of supervision, and a general meeting. The general meeting elects the council of supervision which audits the accounts and does supervisory work. The executive work is done by the treasurer, who is the only salaried employe. The general meeting also names the committee of management and the treasurer.

In order to spread the co-operative idea federations have been formed. It was felt that the movement needed proper direction to make it effective and uniform in its methods. The federations embrace not only rural credit societies, but rural co-operative societies of every kind. The Federation of Agricultural Co-operative Societies which was organized in 1877 by Fairfeisen, was absorbed by the National Federation of German Co-operative Societies, founded in 1883. The societies first affiliate themselves, with the Provincial Federations, and these in turn connect themselves with the National Federation.

There are central banks which control the flow of money. These banks do not conflict with the federations since the latter's functions are not capitalistic but educational and supervisory. As a rule the central banks are connected with the district federation through the managing officials, who are generally affiliated with both. These central banks act as regulators or balance wheels of credit. When a local soiety is in need of funds, it applies to the central institution. When it has a surplus, it deposits it with the central bank.

The Raiffeisen system has proved tremendously successful wherever it has been adapted to the needs of a particular nation, and it is believed that it might be well to give the idea careful consideration in the United States.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J Trumbull of Jersey City, N. J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

NEW CURTAINS ARE "IN"

Home decorators are now turning to Net Curtains.

Because net alone gives the desired privacy with the greatest degree of transparency.

What is more, Quaker Net Curtains are made of long staple thread with the threads tied (or knotted) against slipping—they wear long and retain their good looks till worn out.

During this week we are featuring the newest and most lovely curtains for the home. Beautiful curtains at any price you want to pay.

SHEER SHADOW LACE CURTAINS

Here are curtains that give you the distinction of artistic design in a net so sheer it seems a veritable veiling. Will they wear? Certainly. All Quaker Curtainings are famous for that quality. At $2.50 to $7.50.

FRINGED CURTAINS

The Quaker Lace Company were the originators of fringed curtains. Today they are more than popular—they are well nigh universal, made as they are in such nets as Shadow Lace, Filet, Tuscan and Sunshine. We offer them all made ready to hang at $2.50 to $9.50.

DELIGHTFUL CURTAININGS

"Quaker Lace" yard goods are offered in a large variety of Filet, Oxford, Cross Net, Doric Net, Shadow effects and Penn Terra, priced at from 39c to $1.00 a yard.

SOCIETY

Bible Literary Club Entertained In Dawson Home

The Misses Maud and Nell Dawson received the members of the Bible Literary club Saturday afternoon in their home in Highland avenue. Easter thoughts were given in response to roll call. Mrs. Charles Larkins presided.

"Developments in Hebrew Religion" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. J. T. Williamson. Special revelations to Abraham; foundations of Moses' teachings; Solomon's teachings; the age of the prophets; and the return to faith were the topics discussed.

"The Greek Period, the Age of Cosmopolitanism," was described by Mrs. J. W. Irwin. Paths of history relating to the institutions of learning and to the great personages of that period were retraced.

Mrs. Louis Steinfeld, by request, gave a review of the "Book of the Hour."

Mrs. C. C. Ashbaugh conducted the questionnaire.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held on April 17, when the club season will close.

NEW CURTAINS ARE "IN"

Home decorators are now turning to Net Curtains.

Because net alone gives the desired privacy with the greatest degree of transparency.

What is more, Quaker Net Curtains are made of long staple thread with the threads tied (or knotted) against slipping—they wear long and retain their good looks till worn out.

During this week we are featuring the newest and most lovely curtains for the home. Beautiful curtains at any price you want to pay.

SHEER SHADOW LACE CURTAINS

Here are curtains that give you the distinction of artistic design in a net so sheer it seems a veritable veiling. Will they wear? Certainly. All Quaker Curtainings are famous for that quality. At $2.50 to $7.50.

FRINGED CURTAINS

The Quaker Lace Company were the originators of fringed curtains. Today they are more than popular—they are well nigh universal, made as they are in such nets as Shadow Lace, Filet, Tuscan and Sunshine. We offer them all made ready to hang at $2.50 to $9.50.

DELIGHTFUL CURTAININGS

"Quaker Lace" yard goods are offered in a large variety of Filet, Oxford, Cross Net, Doric Net, Shadow effects and Penn Terra, priced at from 39c to $1.00 a yard.

PLANS FORMED FOR FIELD MEET

County School Students Will Compete on May 21.

Plans have been completed for the Hancock county track and field meet which will be held at New Cumberland May 21. Entries must be in the hands of Superintendent H. G. Miller, Pughtown, by May 1, giving the names of the school, while names of contestents must be handed in by May 14.

Competition will be divided into four classes, high schools, junior high schools, rural and grade schools. Large silver cup will be given to the school in each class whose entries make the greatest number of points in the contest.

Smaller silver cup will be given to the boy in the senior school and to the boy in the junior school who make the greatest number of points.

Medals will be presented to the following high point scorers; Senior high school girl, junior high school girl, grade school boy and girl and rural school boy and girl.

Grandview school of Grant district and Weirton Heights school of Butler district are to be classed as rural schools.

The following rules have been announced:

Only one relay team will be permitted to enter from each school.

There is no limit to the number of contestants that may be entered in each event in class 3. This is because of fewer events scheduled.

In class 2, the rural school division, there can be but one contestant entered in each event from any school.

The team winning a relay race will be credited with five points for the school represented and each member of the team will receive one point as an individual reward.

The contests for classes 3 and 4 will be held in the forenoon beginning promptly at 10 o'clock.

Classes 1 and 2 will begin promptly at 1:30.

It is necessary that all contestants be on hand at these hours for the events will be begun as scheduled whether all those entered are present or not.

It is impossible to make a time schedule for the different events except the first in the forenoon and afternoon.

Those in the senior high school in the pole vault, for example, will know from the program that this event will be staged sometime during the early afternoon and must listen for the announcer to call the event.

Each contestant is responsible for being on time when an event is called. The official will not wait for any one nor will they permit any one to take part in a contest who is not present at the time such contest is begun even though the entry may have been legally made.

Coaches and others responsible for contestants will see that this ruling and others are given are read to those competing so that there may be no misunderstanding on the day of the meet.

Exceptions to any ruling as to time of contest, weight, measurement, time, etc., will be finally passed on by the events and publicity committees, if necessary.

The large silver cups awarded to the school making the greatest number of points in this meet in each class, may be permanently retained by the school that first wins them three times. This does not mean three years in succession. It may take years for one of the four high schools to win a cup permanently and then again some high school may win it permanently in three years.

All other cups and medals become the permanent possession of those winning them.

HALT FLU SPREAD AT STATE PRISON

Isolation of state prison inmates suffering from influenza has proven a successful factor in combating the spread of the epidemic through the big institution, and yesterday there were but 65 of the 1,700 prisoners being given treatment for the malady.

Warden S. P. Smith stated last night that the peak of the epidemic was reached two weeks ago, when 126 were ill. Doctors R. A. Ashworth and O. P. Wilson, prison physicians, were kept busy, and are still devoting a great deal of time to carring for the sick prisoners.

The physicians took steps to isolate the affected prisoners at the start of the epidemic, and it is believed by the prison officials that this move prevented a more serious situation.

NOTICE OF DELINQUENT TAXES!

As sheriff of Hancock county, West Virginia, I am compelled to collect all taxes due for year 1925 by distress or otherwise, and to those who have not paid taxes due on property located in said county, I hereby give notice that if said taxes are not paid promptly I will proceed and make levy for collection.

J. A. TOPE,
Sheriff Hancock County.

AGED WELLSBURG RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Margaret L. Briggs, 80, a lifelong resident of Wellsburg, died today at noon in her home, 1110 Charles street, following a short illness.

Mrs. Briggs is survived by three children, James W. Briggs, of Cleveland; Charles W. Briggs, of Carnegie, Pa., and Mrs. Sarah Plattenberg, of New Cumberland. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church here. Her husband, William Briggs, died 28 years ago.

Funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FORMER COUNTY RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Richard Elson, 75 years old, former resident of Hancock county, died yesterday at her home in Waynesburg, O.

Mrs. Elson was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Baxter, pioneer residents of this county, and is survived by one brother, E. C. Baxter, Virginia avenue, and one sister, Mrs. Ella Blackburn, New Philadelphia, O.

Mr. Baxter, who has been in Florida, was called here by his sister's death.

$300 Atwater Kent Radio which was to have been given away on Easter Sunday by the Lodge Sons of Italy of E. Liverpool, will be given away the first Sunday in May. adv.

MAYOR RILEY TO BEGIN NEW TERM

Mayor Frank H. Riley, who was re-elected last month, will begin his second term this evening when he takes the oath of office at the first meeting of the new council. A. Earl Wilson, city clerk, will also qualify.

Council will be called upon to elect a chief of police, city sergeant and street commissioner at the initial session. Several candidates are in the field for the above offices.

EASTER SERVICES ATTRACT CROWDS

Large crowds attended Easter services yesterday in the local churches, both morning and evening. The services were featured by special musical programs. Pastors spoke on the significance of the day.

The cantata which was given in the First Christian church last night will be repeated in the church Thursday evening.

Jones Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Malinda Jones, 76 years old, who died at the home of her niece, Mrs. W. M. Allison, Steubenville, were held today in the home of Mrs. John Pittenger, Pughtown, in charge of Rev. E. E. Lashley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Newell. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery.

Joint Class Meeting.

Members of the Loyal Sons and Daughters class of the First Christian church will hold a joint meeting tomorrow night in the church. The affair will be in the nature of a reception for Hugh Brown who leaves Wednesday to attend the Cincinnati Bible school.

Fills Local Pulpit.

Rev. Samuel Howell, of East Liverpool, filled the pulpit of the Church of the Nazarene yesterday owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. B. H. Pocock.

PLANS FORMED FOR FIELD MEET

County School Students Will Compete on May 21.

Plans have been completed for the Hancock county track and field meet which will be held at New Cumberland May 21. Entries must be in the hands of Superintendent H. G. Miller, Pughtown, by May 1, giving the names of the school, while names of contestents must be handed in by May 14.

Competition will be divided into four classes, high schools, junior high schools, rural and grade schools. Large silver cup will be given to the school in each class whose entries make the greatest number of points in the contest.

Smaller silver cup will be given to the boy in the senior school and to the boy in the junior school who make the greatest number of points.

Medals will be presented to the following high point scorers: Senior high school girl, junior high school girl, grade school boy and girl and rural school boy and girl.

Grandview school of Grant district and Weirton Heights school of Butler district are to be classed as rural schools.

The following rules have been announced:

Only one relay team will be permitted to enter from each school.

There is no limit to the number of contestants that may be entered in each event in class 3. This is because of fewer events scheduled.

In class 2, the rural school division, there can be but one contestant entered in each event from any school.

The team winning a relay race will be credited with five points for the school represented and each member of the team will receive one point as an individual reward.

The contests for classes 3 and 4 will be held in the forenoon beginning promptly at 10 o'clock.

Classes 1 and 2 will begin promptly at 1:30.

It is necessary that all contestants be on hand at these hours for the events will be begun as scheduled whether all those entered are present or not.

It is impossible to make a time schedule for the different events except the first in the forenoon and afternoon.

Those in the senior high school in the pole vault, for example, will know from the program that this event will be staged sometime during the early afternoon and must listen for the announcer to call the event.

Each contestant is responsible for being on time when an event is called. The official will not wait for any one nor will they permit any one to take part in a contest who is not present at the time such contest is begun even though the entry may have been legally made.

Coaches and others responsible for contestants will see that this ruling and others are given are read to those competing so that there may be no misunderstanding on the day of the meet.

Exceptions to any ruling as to time of contest, weight, measurement, time, etc., will be finally passed on by the events and publicity committees, if necessary.

The large silver cups awarded to the school making the greatest number of points in this meet in each class, may be permanently retained by the school that first wins them three times. This does not mean three years in succession. It may take years for one of the four high schools to win a cup permanently and then again some high school may win it permanently in three years.

All other cups and medals become the permanent possession of those winning them.

HALT FLU SPREAD AT STATE PRISON

Isolation of state prison inmates suffering from influenza has proven a successful factor in combating the spread of the epidemic through the big institution, and yesterday there were but 65 of the 1,700 prisoners being given treatment for the malady.

Warden S. P. Smith stated last night that the peak of the epidemic was reached two weeks ago, when 126 were ill. Doctors R. A. Ashworth and O. P. Wilson, prison physicians, were kept busy, and are still devoting a great deal of time to carring for the sick prisoners.

The physicians took steps to isolate the affected prisoners at the start of the epidemic, and it is believed by the prison officials that this move prevented a more serious situation.

NOTICE OF DELINQUENT TAXES!

As sheriff of Hancock county, West Virginia, I am compelled to collect all taxes due for year 1925 by distress or otherwise, and to those who have not paid taxes due on property located in said county, I hereby give notice that if said taxes are not paid promptly I will proceed and make levy for collection.

J. A. TOPE,
Sheriff Hancock County.

AGED WELLSBURG RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Margaret L. Briggs, 80, a lifelong resident of Wellsburg, died today at noon in her home, 1110 Charles street, following a short illness.

Mrs. Briggs is survived by three children, James W. Briggs, of Cleveland; Charles W. Briggs, of Carnegie, Pa., and Mrs. Sarah Flattenberg, of New Cumberland. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church here. Her husband, William Briggs, died 28 years ago.

Funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FORMER COUNTY RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Richard Elson, 75 years old, former resident of Hancock county, died yesterday at her home in Waynesburg, O.

Mrs. Elson was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Baxter, pioneer residents of this county, and is survived by one brother, E. C. Baxter, Virginia avenue, and one sister, Mrs. Ella Blackburn, New Philadelphia, O.

Mr. Baxter, who has been in Florida, was called here by his sister's death.

$300 Atwater Kent Radio which was to have been given away on Easter Sunday by the Lodge Sons of Italy of E. Liverpool, will be given away the first Sunday in May. adv.

MAYOR RILEY TO BEGIN NEW TERM

Mayor Frank H. Riley, who was re-elected last month, will begin his second term this evening when he takes the oath of office at the first meeting of the new council. A. Earl Wilson, city clerk, will also qualify.

Council will be called upon to elect a chief of police, city sergeant and street commissioner at the initial session. Several candidates are in the field for the above offices.

EASTER SERVICES ATTRACT CROWDS

Large crowds attended Easter services yesterday in the local churches, both morning and evening. The services were featured by special musical programs. Pastors spoke on the significance of the day.

The cantata which was given in the First Christian church last night will be repeated in the church Thursday evening.

Jones Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Malinda Jones, 76 years old, who died at the home of her niece, Mrs. W. M. Allison, Steubenville, were held today in the home of Mrs. John Pittenger, Pughtown, in charge of Rev. E. E. Lashley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Newell. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery.

Joint Class Meeting.

Members of the Loyal Sons and Daughters class of the First Christian church will hold a joint meeting tomorrow night in the church. The affair will be in the nature of a reception for Hugh Brown who leaves Wednesday to attend the Cincinnati Bible school.

Fills Local Pulpit.

Rev. Samuel Howell, of East Liverpool, filled the pulpit of the Church of the Nazarene yesterday owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. B. H. Pocock.

Mexicans are taking to low-priced rather than high-priced automobiles this season.

County School Students Will Compete on May 21.

Plans have been completed for the Hancock county track and field meet which will be held at New Cumberland May 21. Entries must be in the hands of Superintendent H. G. Miller, Pughtown, by May 1, giving the names of the school, while names of contestents must be handed in by May 14.

Competition will be divided into four classes, high schools, junior high schools, rural and grade schools. Large silver cup will be given to the school in each class whose entries make the greatest number of points in the contest.

Smaller silver cup will be given to the boy in the senior school and to the boy in the junior school who make the greatest number of points.

Medals will be presented to the following high point scorers: Senior high school girl, junior high school girl, grade school boy and girl and rural school boy and girl.

Grandview school of Grant district and Weirton Heights school of Butler district are to be classed as rural schools.

The following rules have been announced:

Only one relay team will be permitted to enter from each school.

There is no limit to the number of contestants that may be entered in each event in class 3. This is because of fewer events scheduled.

In class 2, the rural school division, there can be but one contestant entered in each event from any school.

The team winning a relay race will be credited with five points for the school represented and each member of the team will receive one point as an individual reward.

The contests for classes 3 and 4 will be held in the forenoon beginning promptly at 10 o'clock.

Classes 1 and 2 will begin promptly at 1:30.

It is necessary that all contestants be on hand at these hours for the events will be begun as scheduled whether all those entered are present or not.

It is impossible to make a time schedule for the different events except the first in the forenoon and afternoon.

Those in the senior high school in the pole vault, for example, will know from the program that this event will be staged sometime during the early afternoon and must listen for the announcer to call the event.

Each contestant is responsible for being on time when an event is called. The official will not wait for any one nor will they permit any one to take part in a contest who is not present at the time such contest is begun even though the entry may have been legally made.

Coaches and others responsible for contestants will see that this ruling and others are given are read to those competing so that there may be no misunderstanding on the day of the meet.

Exceptions to any ruling as to time of contest, weight, measurement, time, etc., will be finally passed on by the events and publicity committees, if necessary.

The large silver cups awarded to the school making the greatest number of points in this meet in each class, may be permanently retained by the school that first wins them three times. This does not mean three years in succession. It may take years for one of the four high schools to win a cup permanently and then again some high school may win it permanently in three years.

All other cups and medals become the permanent possession of those winning them.

HALT FLU SPREAD AT STATE PRISON

Isolation of state prison inmates suffering from influenza has proven a successful factor in combating the spread of the epidemic through the big institution, and yesterday there were but 65 of the 1,700 prisoners being given treatment for the malady.

Warden S. P. Smith stated last night that the peak of the epidemic was reached two weeks ago, when 126 were ill. Doctors R. A. Ashworth and O. P. Wilson, prison physicians, were kept busy, and are still devoting a great deal of time to carring for the sick prisoners.

The physicians took steps to isolate the affected prisoners at the start of the epidemic, and it is believed by the prison officials that this move prevented a more serious situation.

NOTICE OF DELINQUENT TAXES!

As sheriff of Hancock county, West Virginia, I am compelled to collect all taxes due for year 1925 by distress or otherwise, and to those who have not paid taxes due on property located in said county, I hereby give notice that if said taxes are not paid promptly I will proceed and make levy for collection.

J. A. TOPE,
Sheriff Hancock County.

AGED WELLSBURG RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Margaret L. Briggs, 80, a lifelong resident of Wellsburg, died today at noon in her home, 1110 Charles street, following a short illness.

Mrs. Briggs is survived by three children, James W. Briggs, of Cleveland; Charles W. Briggs, of Carnegie, Pa., and Mrs. Sarah Plattenberg, of New Cumberland. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church here. Her husband, William Briggs, died 28 years ago.

Funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FORMER COUNTY RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Richard Elson, 75 years old, former resident of Hancock county, died yesterday at her home in Waynesburg, O.

Mrs. Elson was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Baxter, pioneer residents of this county, and is survived by one brother, E. C. Baxter, Virginia avenue, and one sister, Mrs. Ella Blackburn, New Philadelphia, O.

Mr. Baxter, who has been in Florida, was called here by his sister's death.

$300 Atwater Kent Radio which was to have been given away on Easter Sunday by the Lodge Sons of Italy of E. Liverpool, will be given away the first Sunday in May. adv.

MAYOR RILEY TO BEGIN NEW TERM

Mayor Frank H. Riley, who was re-elected last month, will begin his second term this evening when he takes the oath of office at the first meeting of the new council. A. Earl Wilson, city clerk, will also qualify.

Council will be called upon to elect a chief of police, city sergeant and street commissioner at the initial session. Several candidates are in the field for the above offices.

EASTER SERVICES ATTRACT CROWDS

Large crowds attended Easter services yesterday in the local churches, both morning and evening. The services were featured by special musical programs. Pastors spoke on the significance of the day.

The cantata which was given in the First Christian church last night will be repeated in the church Thursday evening.

Jones Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Malinda Jones, 76 years old, who died at the home of her niece, Mrs. W. M. Allison, Steubenville, were held today in the home of Mrs. John Pittenger, Pughtown, in charge of Rev. E. E. Lashley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Newell. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery.

Joint Class Meeting.

Members of the Loyal Sons and Daughters class of the First Christian church will hold a joint meeting tomorrow night in the church. The affair will be in the nature of a reception for Hugh Brown who leaves Wednesday to attend the Cincinnati Bible school.

Fills Local Pulpit.

Rev. Samuel Howell, of East Liverpool, filled the pulpit of the Church of the Nazarene yesterday owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. B. H. Pocock.

Mexicans are taking to low-priced rather than high-priced automobiles this season.

Protessional Dancers Head Contest Program At Ceramic

Charleston Week Opens Today With Matinee and Evening Competitions—$230 in Prizes.

Professional dancers will give exhibitions in connection with the tri-state Charleston week program, which opened at the Ceramic theatre today, when Bebe Daniels' latest starring photo play, "Miss Brewster's Millions," is to be featured.

In addition to matinee and evening show competitions for honors in the Review-Tribune and Ceramic theatre Charleston contest, in which children as well as adults will be entrants, three expert exponents of the terpsichorean sensation will appear.

The professionals, who are barred from the contests, are:

Vera Teibau, clever Pittsburgh girl dancer.

Grace Ashley, Cleveland's girl champion.

Two hundred and thirty dollars in cash prizes are to be awarded. While the children will have their innings at the matinees, the adults will be given their opportunities at 7:30 and 9:30 each night.

The children's contest, which will follow the 2:30 p. m. show, will be open to youngsters between 3 and 16 years of age. The winner at each matinee will be given a cash prize of $5, and will compete in the finals at the Saturday matinee for three grand prizes, $15, $10 and $5.

Adults, with the minimum age, 16 will enter the evening contest which will be held at 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The winner at each evening show will be given $10. The dancers selected on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings will compete for grand prizes of $50, $25 and $10 on Friday evening.

The audience will be the judge in the contest each day as well as in the final competitions Saturday afternoon and night. The extent of the applause, it was announced, will govern the awarding of the prizes.

Nervous?--- No Need To Be

Thousands of cases of nervousness are traced directly to stomach trouble. Food sours on the stomach, causing gas to form and press on the nerves of the heart, causing palpitation which, in turn, acts on the nerves of the brain and the effect is felt throughout the nervous system.

Ka-Di-Ok, the great stomach remedy, will abolish all this unpleasant feeling by digesting the food, preventing gas formation and palpitation. A dose after each meal is all that is necessary.

COURT FUNDS FOR MARCH HIT $1,778.79 MARK

Collections Exceed by $173.29 Receipts of Earlier Periods.

$1,228 IN FINES

Total Costs Were $550-.79; State Gets $104.30.

Collections in East Liverpool's new municipal court during March amounted to $1,778.79, which is more than the combined receipts for January and February, it was announced today by Clerk Ruth Finnie.

Collections for January, the first month for the tribunal was in operation, amounted to $797.40. Receipts for February were $808.10, or a total of $1,605.50 for two months, which is $173.29 less than the March revenue.

Fines in city cases amounted to $1,178, while costs added $409.50. This total, with $86.99 costs collected in civil cases, meant $1,674.49 for the city. The county receives $50 fines and $54.30 in costs, or a total of $104.30.

The municipality's share of the operating expenses is estimated at $564. Figuring from a standpoint of dollars and cents, the city's actual profit for the month is $1,110.49, which is more than equivalent to the salary of the seven patrolmen employed by the city.

Collections for the first quarter of the year amounted to $3,384.29, while the estimated expense is $1,692, leaving a profit of $1,692.29.

The total number of criminal cases heard in March was 150, of which 119 were brought under city ordinance and 31 under state laws.

Seventy-nine civil cases were filed. Seven cases were disposed of by the judge, while 11 others were settled out of court, making a total of 28 dispositions. There were no affirmations or reversals by the common pleas court.

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Protessional Dancers Head Contest Program At Ceramic

Charleston Week Opens Today With Matinee and Evening Competitions—$230 in Prizes.

Professional dancers will give exhibitions in connection with the tri-state Charleston week program, which opened at the Ceramic theatre today, when Bebe Daniels' latest starring photo play, "Miss Brewster's Millions," is to be featured.

In addition to matinee and evening show competitions for honors in the Review-Tribune and Ceramic theatre Charleston contest, in which children as well as adults will be entrants, three expert exponents of the terpsichorean sensation will appear.

The professionals, who are barred from the contests, are:

Vera Teibau, clever Pittsburgh girl dancer.

Grace Ashley, Cleveland's girl champion.

Two hundred and thirty dollars in cash prizes are to be awarded. While the children will have their innings at the matinees, the adults will be given their opportunities at 7:30 and 9:30 each night.

The children's contest, which will follow the 2:30 p. m. show, will be open to youngsters between 3 and 16 years of age. The winner at each matinee will be given a cash prize of $5, and will compete in the finals at the Saturday matinee for three grand prizes, $15, $10 and $5.

Adults, with the minimum age, 16 will enter the evening contest which will be held at 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The winner at each evening show will be given $10. The dancers selected on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings will compete for grand prizes of $50, $25 and $10 on Friday evening.

The audience will be the judge in the contest each day as well as in the final competitions Saturday afternoon and night. The extent of the applause, it was announced, will govern the awarding of the prizes.

Nervous?--- No Need To Be

Thousands of cases of nervousness are traced directly to stomach trouble. Food sours on the stomach, causing gas to form and press on the nerves of the heart, causing palpitation which, in turn, acts on the nerves of the brain and the effect is felt throughout the nervous system.

Ka-Di-Ok, the great stomach remedy, will abolish all this unpleasant feeling by digesting the food, preventing gas formation and palpitation. A dose after each meal is all that is necessary.

COURT FUNDS FOR MARCH HIT $1,778.79 MARK

Collections Exceed by $173.29 Receipts of Earlier Periods.

$1,228 IN FINES

Total Costs Were $550-.79; State Gets $104.30.

Collections in East Liverpool's new municipal court during March amounted to $1,778.79, which is more than the combined receipts for January and February, it was announced today by Clerk Ruth Finnie.

Collections for January, the first month for the tribunal was in operation, amounted to $797.40. Receipts for February were $808.10, or a total of $1,605.50 for two months, which is $173.29 less than the March revenue.

Fines in city cases amounted to $1,178, while costs added $409.50. This total, with $86.99 costs collected in civil cases, meant $1,674.49 for the city. The county receives $50 fines and $54.30 in costs, or a total of $104.30.

The municipality's share of the operating expenses is estimated at $564. Figuring from a standpoint of dollars and cents, the city's actual profit for the month is $1,110.49, which is more than equivalent to the salary of the seven patrolmen employed by the city.

Collections for the first quarter of the year amounted to $3,384.29, while the estimated expense is $1,692, leaving a profit of $1,692.29.

The total number of criminal cases heard in March was 150, of which 119 were brought under city ordinance and 31 under state laws.

Seventy-nine civil cases were filed. Seven cases were disposed of by the judge, while 11 others were settled out of court, making a total of 28 dispositions. There were no affirmations or reversals by the common pleas court.

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Hearings are Opened Before Senate Committee.

BRUCE LEADER

Expect to Pave Way for Test in 1928 Campaign.

By William K. Hutchinson.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The curtain was lifted today on the first great wet-and-dry battle staged in a congressional arena since prohibition was written into the national laws.

A militant, determined army of prohibition's enemies launched a super-offensive against the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law at public hearings before a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee.

Having no hopes of an immediate victory, the wets regarded the hearings as an educational campaign to arouse the people to existing conditions, influence the approaching November elections, and pave the way for a supreme test in the campaign year of 1928, when they will strive to elect the first wet congress since the war.

The hearings will continue for two weeks, the time being equally divided between wets and drys.

Advocates Canadian System.

The wets led off today with Senator William Cabell Bruce (D.) of Maryland, who branded America's experiment with prohibition as a "disastrous, tragic failure," and advocated the adoption of the Quebec (Canadian) system of having the government itself handle the sale of alcoholic liquors.

Prohibition as it now exists, Bruce declared, has become an "enemy to human morality," turned America into a nation of law-breakers, created a super "under-world" of crime, transferred the brewing industry into the homes of citizens, increased drunkenness, blighted human happiness and lastly has failed. Present conditions cannot continue, as the federal government is powerless to enforce prohibition, he said, and the congress must face the truth.

The Canadian system, he said, would restore temperance, reduce crime, bring back great revenues to the government, thus allowing tax reductions, appease the imperishable human appetite for liquors and restore respect for all laws. Under this system, he explained, the government supervises the manufacture, distribution and sale of distilled spirits, beer and wine. Saloons are prohibited and sales are restricted.

Explains Quebec Plan.

In Quebec, whiskies and their like, Bruce said, are sold one bottle at a time in government stores and must be taken away to be "drunk at home." Wines are sold at government stores and in hotels. Beer is sold in these places and in grocery stores, and restaurants. The right of local option is "jealously preserved," he added, and the result has been "a steady decline in drunkenness." To adopt this plan, Bruce offered an amendment to the constitution for the committee's consideration.

Prohibition, he continued, has "never gone into effect" in America. The appetite for drink, he asserted, can never be legislated away. Open violation of the present law in the "smart social set," in "humbler homes" and by "members of the American Federation of Labor," Bruce declared, and the "utterances of Jewish rabbis, Protestant bishops and Catholics prelates, like Cardinals O'Connell and Hayes, demonstrates the existence of a growing feeling, even among the American clergy, that absolute prohibition is not the ally but the enemy of human morality."

Before Bruce took the stand the committee chamber was turned into a movie studio with a score of cameras grinding. The crowd so jammed the small room that standing room was at a premium and hundreds of persons were turned away. A score of women were in the audience.

DEATH ROLL

Ralph H. Coursie.

Ralph Henderson Coursie died yesterday in his home, 1040 Ohio avenue, East End. He is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters: Raymond, Clyde, Leonard, Gladys and Velma, his mother, one brother, Hartley, both of Torrence, Pa., and three sisters, Mrs. Maude Whitsel, Coatesville, Pa.; Mrs. Daisy Strigle and Mrs. Elsie Anderson, both of Ashtabula.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Four Burned to Death.

NEW YORK, April 5.—A mother and her three children, all negroes, were burned to death in a tenament fire.

TODAY

HARVARD limits the next freshman class to 1,000, announcing that "personality and character" will count in an extermination test, and a photograph of every applicant must be sent.

This in plain English means a determination to exclude Jewish students above whatever number the faculty thinks desirable.

A great university would show more courage if it declared its plan frankly, without camouflage.

FORTUNATELY, it doesn't make the slightest difference to a young Jew, or gentile either, whether he goes to Harvard or not.

Nothing is taught at Harvard that cannot be learned elsewhere in half the time Harvard takes to teach it. What counts is a man's performance after he comes out of school, not the name of the school that taught him.

LADY ASTOR, chaming young American from Virginia, now raising the moral tone of the British empire in the house of commons, was disgusted because very few attended a meeting in which she and others laid down the moral law. She said the hall would have been packed had the attraction been a demonstration of hair dressing and permanent waving.

IN NEW YORK 19,225 men and women paid $78,432 for the pleasure of seeing a young man named Stribling conquer another named Slattery in a prize fight. No intellectual sermon could have drawn that amount of money.

A bigger prize fight between Dempsey and Carpentier drew in gate receipts $1,600,000.

THE holy synod of Moscow, representing the Russian church, has officially put an end to monasticism.

Monks will no longer be allowed to devote their lives to saving their own souls. Each one will be compelled "to adopt some pursuit by which he can earn a living and contribute something to the general welfare."

This strikes a blow to one of the oldest religious institutions, the collection of individuals devoted to a religious life. These monasteries existed long before the beginning of Christianity, in Tibet and elsewhere. The soviet authorities decide that they are "out of date."

STANDARD OIL and Vacuum Oil buy 190,000 tons of refined oil from the bolshevik government at $17 a ton, $3,200,000 for 190,000 tons. The interesting deal is proof that bolshevism is not without business sense. It also reminds American officials opposed to recognition of the Russian government that such recognition is American prosperity.

Guards Frustrate Canton Workhouse Delivery Today

CANTON, April 5—Wholesale delivery of 74 prisoners in the Stark county workhouse was prevented early today by vigilance of one of the guards. He heard a scraping and tapping on the outer wall and called Superintendent John Boyer. It was just shortly before time for change of the guard and Boyer and his man stationed themselves outside the wall heavily armed, ready to shoot the first man who came through.

When the guard came on, Boyer had enough men to warrant him going to the dormitory on the second floor and found that the men had cut a hole through the inner wall with the aid of several small rods, pried from cots.

He put several of the prisoners on the grill, and learned that 20 of them were involved in the plot to escape.

HAVER MURDER TRIAL TOMORROW

NEW PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—Selection of a jury to try Harvey Haver, 40, New Comerstown mail carrier, on a charge of murdering his wife last December, will begin in common pleas court here tomorrow. The trial is scheduled to start Wednesday.

25 Nabbed in Raid

lapidated structure, they were discovered and immediately the spectators made a dash for the woods. The police halted 25 of the crowd.

20 Dead Roosters Found.

Approximately 20 dead roosters were found in the barn. Two other game birds were confiscated.

Further arrests in connection with the fight may be made by the Wellsville police. Licenses on the automobiles owned by many of the spectators, and which had been marked on unimproved roads near the farm, were noted. Charges will be preferred against the owners, police say. Several of the machines, it is claimed, bore licenses issued in East Liverpool.

Police say the cock fight started at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Bird owners from Steubenville and other down-river points are said to have arrived in Irondale on the morning train. The admission fee was $1.

The farm is in one of the deserted sections of Jefferson county, being a mile or more from a house.

Jefferson county authorities raided a cock fight near Irondale last fall, arresting a score or more participants.

PRETTY BANK CLERK APPLIES FOR NEW TRIAL

BOND IS POSTED

Midland Woman Was Found Guilty of Embezzlement.

Mrs. Mary Camwell, 25-year-old bank clerk, convicted upon indictments charging her with embezzlement at Beaver March 25, will not be sentenced until the court rules upon her motion for a new trial.

Application for a new trial was made by her counsel, Attorneys Richard Holt and D. A. Nelson, thus deferring sentence. The pretty defendant is at liberty under $6,000 cash bond, furnished by her father, a resident of Butler, Pa.

Judge William McConnell, of the Beaver county common pleas court, is not expected to rule on the defendant's motion until the May term of court.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 5.—Industrial stock prices were unsettled in the early trading today by the resumption of selling pressure in all departments. The market was irregular at opening, with high grade public utility stocks making the best showing. Oil stocks were depressed in the first period by reports that the merger plans for Texas company and California Petroleum corporation had been abandoned, and rumors of financial difficulty in some of the "big traders" in oil shares.

Trade was in comparatively smaller volume in this period, and confined to a smaller group of stocks, eliminating the rails, coppers and specialties.

WEALTHY OHIO FARMER SUPPORTS ALIBI CLAIM OF DOOMED MAN

Tells Newspapermen Arch Criminal Lived in Cottage Near Dayton on Day of Crime.

DAYTON, April 5.—Gerald Chapman, "super-bandit" and convicted slayer of Policeman James Skelly in New Britain, Conn., was in the vicinity of Dayton in a cottage on the farm of John Farrell, wealthy farmer who lives at Stop 13 on the Troy pike, between Oct. 9 and Oct. 16, 1924, Farrell told newspapermen today.

The man who occupied Farrell's cottage went under the name of Mark Smith, according to Farrell, who believes his temporary tenant to be Chapman but was not sure until he found memorandum books which difinitely established the dates of the man's sojourn there.

Farrell is positive his tenant was Chapman, and asserts he is willing and ready to go east and identify the super bandit as the man who occupied the cottage. He said he can pick out Chapman from 50 men and that he can take 10 persons with him who can also identify Chapman as the man who lived in the cottage.

In a pocket of the man's coat, he said, letters were found addressed to Mark Smith and the salutation in the missives was: "My Dear Chapman," the letters, Farrell maintains referred to Smith as Gerald.

Chapman, who was driving a blue coupe, which had two sawed off shotguns in the rear, made one trip to Muncie, Ind., while he was occupying the cottage, Farrell said. At various times two girls were with him at the cottage but there were no men ever seen there, according to Farrell.

Farrell said that Chapman spent most of his days at the cottage in sleeping and, although he was suspicious of him, did not inquire further into his business because of the good prices the tenant paid for everything. At one time, Farrell said, Chapman gave him $50 and told him to buy a suit with it.

"I' Innocent"

His indefatigable lawyers meanwhile were preparing the plea they will make before the Connecticut board of pardons today in which they will urge that Chapman's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Chapman has been opposed to such a plea on the ground that it would be an admission on his part that he did shoot and kill Policeman James Skelley during the hold-up of a department store in New Britain, October 12, 1924. It is for the slaying of Skelley that Chapman is to pay with his life tonight.

Delay of Hanging Improbable.

Every precaution has been taken, the governor indicated, to prevent the possibility of a jail break at the last minute which, however, the governor thinks is remote.

The chance that the board will commute Chapman's sentence to life imprisonment, or delay the hanging on the ground that new witnesses have been found who can prove that the bandit is innocent of the murder of Policeman Skelley, is regarded as decidedly slim. Under the law the decisions of the board of six members must be unanimous. The governor, who already has rprieved Chapman three times, is said to have declared that under no circumstances would be again reprieve the bandit, "not even for an hour."

Chapman's last card, the final plea to the board, will be made by his chief counsel, Frederick J. Groehl.

The board will ask Groehl this question:

"Why do you thing we should commute the sentence of Gerald Chapman to life imprisonment?"

It will be up to Groehl to outline exactly what new evidence he claims to have uncovered in Chapman's behalf and make out a case for Chapman strong enough to overturn the jury's vedict of "guilty of murder."

Prosecutor Hugh M. Alcorn, who won thirteen successive legal engagements with the Chapman lawyers, will be present to oppose the slightest concession to the doomed man.

Will He "Break?"

Back in Hartford, the nearest city of size, a mayoralty election was being held, but the people did not seem to be interested in it in the slightest. On the other hand, the election space in local newspapers had been usurped by the latest news concerning Chapman, and everywhere in the streets, in barber shops, offices, hotel lobbies, the plight of the bandit who was bold enough to stage the biggest hold-up ever perpetrated in this country, the $2,400,000 mail robbery in New York, was being discussed with avidity.

The people everywhere were asking: "Will Chapman "die game" or will he "break" at the last minute and show a yellow streak? Will he make a final speech before he is jerked to death, or will he die silently, with clenched lips?

The hanging is to take place between midnight tonight and dawn Tuesday, probably about 2:30 a. m. Late this afternoon, if the pardons board refuses clemency to Chapman, the condemned man will be taken to a cell adjoining the execution chamber.

His prison uniform of blue will be taken from him and he will don a black suit of clothes, a white shirt with a soft collar and thick soft soled shoes.

Six Guards On Duty.

Religious consolation will be his if he wants it. Chapman is a Catholic and he has had daily conversations in his cell with the kindly visaged chaplain, the Rev. Father Michael F. Barry. Chapman was a choir boy before he took up his life of crime and he has not lost all his interest in his faith.

Six armed guards will pace back and forth in front of Chapman's cell from 6 o'clock until midnight, as the clock ticks off the fateful minutes to his hour of doom.

At midnight, or shortly afterwards, Chapman, preceded by Father Barry and followed by the guards, will walk about 20 paces into the execution chamber where he will meet his death by the state's intricate hanging machine.

Death Will Be Swift.

Pale green walls of ghastly looking concrete will greet Chapman's piercing cat-colored eyes. There are no windows in this death chamber, a skylight affording the only natural light. A huge electric light, suspended from the center of the rather high enclosure, will beat down on the grim scene. Stretched along the wall will be the newspapermen reporting the execution and a few privileged spectators.

Death will come to Chapman with lightning-like swiftness. As soon as he enters the oak door leading into the execution chamber, he will be hustled to his position on a rubber mat, directly under the dangling noose. His arms will be quickly strapped to his sides. Straps will also be bound tightly about his knees.

The guards, rehearsed to maximum efficiency, will swiftly adjust a black hood over his head and fix the loop around his neck.

Facing Chapman from the opposite side of the room will be Warden H. K. W. Scott. A signal will be given to the warden. He will immediately step on a plunger which actuates a leaver releasing a huge counterweight behind a partition in the far corner of the room.

Imminent Execution Chief Topic.

The imminent execution of Chapman is the one topic of conversation held at the prison, at Hartford, the state capitol, four miles away, and the countryside for miles around. The atmosphere at the prison is pregnant with grim expectancy. They have had "dress rehearsals" at Wethersfield and everything is in readiness to give the condemned man his "double jerk" to eternity. Not one detail has been overlooked. Even the ropes have been thoroughly tested.

Little knots of curious persons idled this morning in front of the Wethersfield prison, the dark red buildings of which stand upon a green eminence and are strung along for a couple of city blocks. Armed guards patroled the vicinity keeping the curious on the move. Every now and then an automobile party would come along the winding road, stop, look at the hospital ward where Chapman is in solitary confinement, and finally pass on.

The officials at the prison seemed to be under nervous tension, and were curt and business-like in their attitude toward all visitors. Photographers, barred from taking shots at close quarters, photographed the prison building from various angles. One camera was trained on the prison from an aeroplane circling about overhead.

Jerk Will Break Neck.

The weight will drop into a well. Chapman will be jerked almost to the ceiling. As he comes down, the slack in the rope will be taken up by a contrivance at a point three feet from the floor. Then he will be given another jerk which will break his neck a second time. His convulsive body will be slowly allowed to come down so that his feet drag limply on the floor. The doctors will quickly step forward, one examining the heart, the other the pulse and he will officially be pronounced dead. Two undertakers will then toss the body into a basket and take it away.

Thus will end the career of the so-called super-bandit who will have paid the supreme penalty for a lurid life of crime against organized society.

Chapman Asks Mercy

Groehl's Dramatic Appeal

Groehl then told the board of alleged inaccuracies in the testimony given at the Chapman trial by witnesses who claimed that Chapman and Walter Shean were seen near New Britain, Conn., the night before the murder.

Groehl claimed that he had a new witness, Edward Higginson, of Meriden, Conn., who would refute the testimony of Lillian Knoell, and Louis Kubec, respectively waitress and proprietor of an inn.

Then Groehl mentioned the affidavit of William O'Leary ,of New Britain, who he said would swear that the man who ran from the Davidson & Leventhal store where the alleged crime was committed, was not Chapman.

"Gentlemen," declared Groehl dramatically, "a life gone cannot be returned. I beg of you not to make it impossible for Chapman to get justice. I appeal to you to give him a commutation or sentence."

"Walter Sheehan, the Springfield man, had his hand in that shooting, said Groehl, dramatically. "That is why the dying policeman, Skelly, identified Sheehan as his murderer!"

"Ninety-nine per cent of the citizens of Hartford believe that Chapman is innocent."

Chapman Slumps, Eyes on Floor.

During Groehl's argument, Chapman slumped into his characteristic pose, head bent, eyes on the floor. When the condemned man first entered the room, a dark, purplish hue suffused his visage but as the dramatic fight for his life proceeded, the purple gradually receded, leaving in its place the prison pallor

A dramatic incident occurred when Groehl declared he had a witness, Samuel L. Cutler, of Hartford, who would say that the man in the bandit car with Walter Sheehan during the New Britain holdup was not Chapman.

Cutler, a stocky man with a red face and a green sweater leaped to his feet in teh hearing room and shouted in a loud voice:

"I wish to say a word, please!"

Groehl turned around and said sharply:

"Sit down, please."

Cutler sat down.

The six members of the board, all but one over fifty years of age, listened with sober countenances to the impassioned plea of Chapman's counsel.

Demands Fair Play.

"The spirit of American fair play is not being given to Gerald Chapman," Groehl rebuked.

Groehl criticized Judge Newell Jennings, of Hartford county, most severely for "casting aside" the affidavits presented on Chapman's behalf.

"Why, gentlemen," said Groehl, pounding on the desk," Chapman hasn't been given a dog's chance!"

Groehl said the he had an affidavit from a Miss O'Neill, of Brooklyn, stating that on the night of October 11, 1924, the night before the murder of Skelly, she and her mother saw Chapman in a stationery store in Brooklyn.

He is Innocent, Says Groehl.

"Don't send this man, who says he is innocent, to the gallows," Groehl pleaded. "Give me a chance to prove that the evidence I have obtained since his conviction will show that he did not kill Policeman James Skelly."

Groehl's voice rose and fell in the quiet stillness of the room.

Prosecutor Hugh Alcorn, stout, bald and calm of manner and speech, spoke against granting any clemency to Chapman.

FIND MISSING CHICAGO NURSE IN JAIL CELL

Pretty Betty Lee Dellibac Held for Shoplifting.

HID IDENTITY

CHICAGO, April 5.—Frantic search throughout northern Illinois for Betty Lee Dellibac, pretty 21-year-old student nurse at Englewood hospital, missing since Wednesday, ended this morning in a south Clark street police station cell where she has been held since the day of her disappearance on a charge of shoplifting.

Throughout her imprisonment she had steadfastly blocked every effort of police and social workers to establish her real identity. She became hysterical and would give no explanation except to blame her plight on "another girl."

Disappearance of Betty, daughter of a Dr. Leroy Dellibac, of Kankakee, caused the arrest of Dr. Jacob L. Bressler, prominent Southside physician and member of the Englewood hospital staff, after 50 or more fervid love letters from him had been found in a lock-box in the girl's room.

"If the gallows were ever constructed for any one, then that person is Gerald Chapman," he declared.

"If the state of Connecticut doesn't hang Chapman, then it has wronged every man it has hanged."

Alcorn declared the case against Chapman was not circumstantial but a strong, direct case with no element of doubt.

Chapman, he said, shot and killed Policeman James J. Skelly in the New Britain, Conn., department store holdup and he had proved it to the satisfaction of the jury.

"Birds of a Feather," Says Alcorn

He told how, after Chapman was convicted, his pal, Anderson, started on a campaign of revenge.

"Chapman's friends," he declared, "burned the $250,000 garage of one of our witnesses at Steubenville, Ohio, and then, a few days later, they sent them this post card:

"'We've just begun.'

"And they had," Alcorn went on. "They waylaid poor en Hance, a deputy cheriff at Muncie, Ind., and shot and killed him because he was a witness against Chapman.

Chapman and Anderson are the type of men, he declared, that are a menace to organized society and there should be no sentimentality shown in cases involving men of such type.

"They pulled off the biggest robbery in the history of the United States—the $2,400,000 New York City mail robbery," he declared.

"And they were two of a kind, birds of a feather."

BRUCE LEADER

Expect to Pave Way for Test in 1928 Campaign.

By William K. Hutchinson.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The curtain was lifted today on the first great wet-and-dry battle staged in a congressional arena since prohibition was written into the national laws.

A militant, determined army of prohibition's enemies launched a super-offensive against the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law at public hearings before a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee.

Having no hopes of an immediate victory, the wets regarded the hearings as an educational campaign to arouse the people to existing conditions, influence the approaching November elections, and pave the way for a supreme test in the campaign year of 1928, when they will strive to elect the first wet congress since the war.

The hearings will continue for two weeks, the time being equally divided between wets and drys.

Advocates Canadian System.

The wets led off today with Senator William Cabell Bruce (D.) of Maryland, who branded America's experiment with prohibition as a "disastrous, tragic failure," and advocated the adoption of the Quebec (Canadian) system of having the government itself handle the sale of alcoholic liquors.

Prohibition as it now exists, Bruce declared, has become an "enemy to human morality," turned America into a nation of law-breakers, created a super "under-world" of crime, transferred the brewing industry into the homes of citizens, increased drunkenness, blighted human happiness and lastly has failed. Present conditions cannot continue, as the federal government is powerless to enforce prohibition, he said, and the congress must face the truth.

The Canadian system, he said, would restore temperance, reduce crime, bring back great revenues to the government, thus allowing tax reductions, appease the imperishable human appetite for liquors and restore respect for all laws. Under this system, he explained, the government supervises the manufacture, distribution and sale of distilled spirits, beer and wine. Saloons are prohibited and sales are restricted.

Explains Quebec Plan.

In Quebec, whiskies and their like, Bruce said, are sold one bottle at a time in government stores and must be taken away to be "drunk at home." Wines are sold at government stores and in hotels. Beer is sold in these places and in grocery stores, and restaurants. The right of local option is "jealously preserved," he added, and the result has been "a steady decline in drunkenness." To adopt this plan, Bruce offered an amendment to the constitution for the committee's consideration.

Prohibition, he continued, has "never gone into effect" in America. The appetite for drink, he asserted, can never be legislated away. Open violation of the present law in the "smart social set," in "humbler homes" and by "members of the American Federation of Labor," Bruce declared, and the "utterances of Jewish rabbis, Protestant bishops and Catholics prelates, like Cardinals O'Connell and Hayes, demonstrates the existence of a growing feeling, even among the American clergy, that absolute prohibition is not the ally but the enemy of human morality."

Before Bruce took the stand the committee chamber was turned into a movie studio with a score of cameras grinding. The crowd so jammed the small room that standing room was at a premium and hundreds of persons were turned away. A score of women were in the audience.

DEATH ROLL

Ralph H. Coursie.

Ralph Henderson Coursie died yesterday in his home, 1040 Ohio avenue, East End. He is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters: Raymond, Clyde, Leonard, Gladys and Velma, his mother, one brother, Hartley, both of Torrence, Pa., and three sisters, Mrs. Maude Whitsel, Coatesville, Pa.; Mrs. Daisy Strigle and Mrs. Elsie Anderson, both of Ashtabula.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

HARVARD limits the next freshman class to 1,000, announcing that "personality and character" will count in an extermination test, and a photograph of every applicant must be sent.

This in plain English means a determination to exclude Jewish students above whatever number the faculty thinks desirable.

A great university would show more courage if it declared its plan frankly, without camouflage.

FORTUNATELY, it doesn't make the slightest difference to a young Jew, or gentile either, whether he goes to Harvard or not.

Nothing is taught at Harvard that cannot be learned elsewhere in half the time Harvard takes to teach it. What counts is a man's performance after he comes out of school, not the name of the school that taught him.

LADY ASTOR, charming young American from Virginia, now raising the moral tone of the British empire in the house of commons, was disgusted because very few attended a meeting in which she and others laid down the moral law. She said the hall would have been packed had the attraction been a demonstration of hair dressing and permanent waving.

IN NEW YORK 19,225 men and women paid $78,432 for the pleasure of seeing a young man named Stribling conquer another named Slattery in a prize fight. No intellectual sermon could have drawn that amount of money.

A bigger prize fight between Dempsey and Carpentier drew in gate receipts $1,600,000.

THE holy synod of Moscow, representing the Russian church, has officially put an end to monasticism.

Monks will no longer be allowed to devote their lives to saving their own souls. Each one will be compelled "to adopt some pursuit by which he can earn a living and contribute something to the general welfare."

This strikes a blow to one of the oldest religious institutions, the collection of individuals devoted to a religious life. These monasteries existed long before the beginning of Christianity, in Tibet and elsewhere. The soviet authorities decide that they are "out of date."

STANDARD OIL and Vacuum Oil buy 190,000 tons of refined oil from the bolshevik government at $17 a ton, $3,200,000 for 190,000 tons. The interesting deal is proof that bolshevism is not without business sense. It also reminds American officials opposed to recognition of the Russian government that such recognition is American prosperity.

Guards Frustrate Canton Workhouse Delivery Today

CANTON, April 5—Wholesale delivery of 74 prisoners in the Stark county workhouse was prevented early today by vigilance of one of the guards. He heard a scraping and tapping on the outer wall and called Superintendent John Boyer. It was just shortly before time for change of the guard and Boyer and his man stationed themselves outside the wall heavily armed, ready to shoot the first man who came through.

When the guard came on, Boyer had enough men to warrant him going to the dormitory on the second floor and found that the men had cut a hole through the inner wall with the aid of several small rods, pried from iron cots.

He put several of the prisoners on the grill, and learned that 20 of them were involved in the plot to escape.

lapidated structure, they were discovered and immediately the spectators made a dash for the woods. The police halted 25 of the crowd.

20 Dead Roosters Found.

Approximately 20 dead roosters were found in the barn. Two other game birds were confiscated.

Further arrests in connection with the fight may be made by the Wellsville police. Licenses on the automobiles owned by many of the spectators, and which had been parked on unimproved roads near the farm, were noted. Charges will be preferred against the owners, police say. Several of the machines, it is claimed, bore licenses issued in East Liverpool.

Police say the cock fight started at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Bird owners from Steubenville and other down-river points are said to have arrived in Irondale on the morning train. The admission fee was $1.

The farm is in one of the deserted sections of Jefferson county, being a mile or more from a house.

Jefferson county authorities raided a cock fight near Irondale last fall, arresting a score or more participants.

BOND IS POSTED

Midland Woman Was Found Guilty of Embezzlement.

Mrs. Mary Camwell, 25-year-old bank clerk, convicted upon indictments charging her with embezzlement at Beaver March 25, will not be sentenced until the court rules upon her motion for a new trial.

Application for a new trial was made by her counsel, Attorneys Richard Holt and D. A. Nelson, thus deferring sentence. The pretty defendant is at liberty under $6,000 cash bond, furnished by her father, a resident of Butler, Pa.

Judge William McConnell, of the Beaver county common pleas court, is not expected to rule on the defendant's motion until the May term of court.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 5.—Industrial stock prices were unsettled in the early trading today by the resumption of selling pressure in all departments. The market was irregular at opening, with high grade public utility stocks making the best showing. Oil stocks were depressed in the first period by reports that the merger plans for Texas company and California Petroleum corporation had been abandoned, and rumors of financial difficulty in some of the "big traders" in oil shares.

Trade was in comparatively smaller volume in this period, and confined to a smaller group of stocks, eliminating the rails, coppers and specialties.

WEALTHY OHIO FARMER SUPPORTS ALIBI CLAIM OF DOOMED MAN

DAYTON, April 5.—Gerald Chapman, "super-bandit" and convicted slayer of Policeman James Skelly in New Britain, Conn., was in the vicinity of Dayton in a cottage on the farm of John Farrell, wealthy farmer who lives at Stop 13 on the Troy pike, between Oct. 9 and Oct. 16, 1924, Farrell told newspapermen today.

The man who occupied Farrell's cottage went under the name of Mark Smith, according to Farrell, who believes his temporary tenant to be Chapman but was not sure until he found memorandum books which diffinitely established the dates of the man's sojourn there.

Farrell is positive his tenant was Chapman, and asserts he is willing and ready to go east and identify the super bandit as the man who occupied the cottage. He said he can pick out Chapman from 50 men and that he can take 10 persons with him who can also identify Chapman as the man who lived in the cottage.

In a pocket of the man's coat, he said, letters were found addressed to Mark Smith and the salutation in the missives was: "My Dear Chapman," the letters, Farrell maintains referred to Smith as Gerald.

Chapman, who was driving a blue coupe, which had two sawed off shotguns in the rear, made one trip to Muncie, Ind., while he was occupying the cottage, Farrell said. At various times two girls were with him at the cottage but there were no men ever seen there, according to Farrell.

Farrell said that Chapman spent most of his days at the cottage in sleeping and, although he was suspicious of him, did not inquire further into his business because of the good prices the tenant paid for everything. At one time, Farrell said, Chapman gave him $50 and told him to buy a suit with it.

"I' Innocent"

His indefatigable lawyers meanwhile were preparing the plea they will make before the Connecticut board of pardons today in which they will urge that Chapman's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Chapman had been opposed to such a plea on the ground that it would be an admission on his part that he did shoot and kill Policeman James Skelley during the hold-up of a department store in New Britain, October 12, 1924. It is for the slaying of Skelley that Chapman is to pay with his life tonight.

Delay of Hanging Improbable.

Every precaution has been taken, the governor indicated, to prevent the possibility of a jail break at the last minute which, however, the governor thinks is remote.

The chance that the board will commute Chapman's sentence to life imprisonment, or delay the hanging on the ground that new witnesses have been found who can prove that the bandit is innocent of the murder of Policeman Skelley, is regarded as decidedly slim. Under the law the decisions of the board of six members must be unanimous. The governor, who already has rprieved Chapman three times, is said to have declared that under no circumstances would be again reprieve the bandit, "not even for an hour."

Chapman's last card, the final plea to the board, will be made by his chief counsel, Frederick J. Groehl.

The board will ask Groehl this question:

"Why do you thing we should commute the sentence of Gerald Chapman to life imprisonment?"

It will be up to Groehl to outline exactly what new evidence he claims to have uncovered in Chapman's behalf and make out a case for Chapman strong enough to overturn the jury's vedict of "guilty of murder."

Prosecutor Hugh M. Alcorn, who won thirteen successive legal engagements with the Chapman lawyers, will be present to oppose the slightest concession to the doomed man.

Will He "Break?"

Back in Hartford, the nearest city of size, a mayoralty election was being held, but the people did not seem to be interested in it in the slightest. On the other hand, the election space in local newspapers had been usurped by the latest news concerning Chapman, and everywhere in the streets, in barber shops, offices, hotel lobbies, the plight of the bandit who was bold enough to stage the biggest hold-up ever perpetrated in this country, the $2,400,000 mail robbery in New York, was being discussed with avidity.

The people everywhere were asking: "Will Chapman "die game" or will he "break" at the last minute and show a yellow streak? Will he make a final speech before he is jerked to death, or will he die silently, with clenched lips?

The hanging is to take place between midnight tonight and dawn Tuesday, probably about 2:30 a. m. Late this afternoon, if the pardons board refuses clemency to Chapman, the condemned man will be taken to a cell adjoining the execution chamber.

His prison uniform of blue will be taken from him and he will don a black suit of clothes, a white shirt with a soft collar and thick soft soled shoes.

Six Guards On Duty.

Religious consolation will be his if he wants it. Chapman is a Catholic and he has had daily conversations in his cell with the kindly visaged chaplain, the Rev. Father Michael F. Barry. Chapman was a choir boy before he took up his life of crime and he has not lost all his interest in his faith.

Six armed guards will pace back and forth in front of Chapman's cell from 6 o'clock until midnight, as the clock ticks off the fateful minutes to his hour of doom.

At midnight, or shortly afterwards, Chapman, preceded by Father Barry and followed by the guards, will walk about 20 paces into the execution chamber where he will meet his death by the state's intricate hanging machine.

Death Will Be Swift.

Pale green walls of ghastly looking concrete will greet Chapman's piercing cat-colored eyes. There are no windows in this death chamber, a skylight affording the only natural light. A huge electric light, suspended from the center of the rather high enclosure, will beat down on the grim scene. Stretched along the wall will be the newspapermen reporting the execution and a few privileged spectators.

Death will come to Chapman with lightning-like swiftness. As soon as he enters the oak door leading into the execution chamber, he will be hustled to his position on a rubber mat, directly under the dangling noose. His arms will be quickly strapped to his sides. Straps will also be bound tightly about his knees.

The guards, rehearsed to maximum efficiency, will swiftly adjust a black hood over his head and fix the loop around his neck.

Facing Chapman from the opposite side of the room will be Warden H. K. W. Scott. A signal will be given to the warden. He will immediately step on a plunger which actuates a leaver releasing a huge counterweight behind a partition in the far corner of the room.

Imminent Execution Chief Topic.

The imminent execution of Chapman is the one topic of conversation held at the prison, at Hartford, the state capitol, four miles away, and the countryside for miles around. The atmosphere at the prison is pregnant with grim expectancy. They have had "dress rehearsals" at Wethersfield and everything is in readiness to give the condemned man his "double jerk" to eternity. Not one detail has been overlooked. Even the ropes have been thoroughly tested.

Little knots of curious persons idled this morning in front of the Wethersfield prison, the dark red buildings of which stand upon a green eminence and are strung along for a couple of city blocks. Armed guards patroled the vicinity keeping the curious on the move. Every now and then an automobile party would come along the winding road, stop, look at the hospital ward where Chapman is in solitary confinement, and finally pass on.

The officials at the prison seemed to be under nervous tension, and were curt and business-like in their attitude toward all visitors. Photographers, barred from taking shots at close quarters, photographed the prison building from various angles. One camera was trained on the prison from an aeroplane circling about overhead.

Jerk Will Break Neck.

The weight will drop into a well. Chapman will be jerked almost to the ceiling. As he comes down, the slack in the rope will be taken up by a contrivance at a point three feet from the floor. Then he will be given another jerk which will break his neck a second time. His convulsive body will be slowly allowed to come down so that his feet drag limply on the floor. The doctors will quickly step forward, one examining the heart, the other the pulse and he will officially be pronounced dead. Two undertakers will then toss the body into a basket and take it away.

Thus will end the career of the so-called super-bandit who will have paid the supreme penalty for a lurid life of crime against organized society.

Chapman Asks Mercy

and good looking. Attorneys declined to reveal her identity.

Groehl's Dramatic Appeal

Groehl then told the board of alleged inaccuracies in the testimony given at the Chapman trial by witnesses who claimed that Chapman and Walter Shean were seen near New Britain, Conn., the night before the murder.

Groehl claimed that he had a new witness, Edward Higginson, of Meriden, Conn., who would refute the testimony of Lillian Knoell, and Louis Kubec, respectively waitress and proprietor of an inn.

Then Groehl mentioned the affidavit of William O'Leary, of New Britain, who he said would swear that the man who ran from the Davidson & Leventhal store where the alleged crime was committed, was not Chapman.

"Gentlemen," declared Groehl dramatically, "a life gone cannot be returned. I beg of you not to make it impossible for Chapman to get justice. I appeal to you to give him a commutation of sentence."

"Walter Sheehan, the Springfield man, had his hand in that shooting, said Groehl, dramatically. "That is why the dying policeman, Skelly, identified Sheehan as his murderer!"

"Ninety-nine per cent of the citizens of Hartford believe that Chapman is innocent."

Chapman Slumps, Eyes on Floor.

During Groehl's argument, Chapman slumped into his characteristic pose, head bent, eyes on the floor. When the condemned man first entered the room, a dark, purplish hue suffused his visage but as the dramatic fight for his life proceeded, the purple gradually receded, leaving in its place the prison pallor

A dramatic incident occurred when Groehl declared he had a witness, Samuel L. Cutler, of Hartford, who would say that the man in the bandit car with Walter Sheehan during the New Britain holdup was not Chapman.

Cutler, a stocky man with a red face and a green sweater leaped to his feet in teh hearing room and shouted in a loud voice:

"I wish to say a word, please!"

Groehl turned around and said sharply:

"Sit down, please."

Cutler sat down.

The six members of the board, all but one over fifty years of age, listened with sober countenances to the impassioned plea of Chapman's counsel.

Demands Fair Play.

"The spirit of American fair play is not being given to Gerald Chapman," Groehl rebuked.

Groehl criticized Judge Newell Jennings, of Hartford county, most severely for "casting aside" the affidavits presented on Chapman's behalf.

"Why, gentlemen," said Groehl, pounding on the desk," Chapman hasn't been given a dog's chance!"

Groehl said the he had an affidavit from a Miss O'Neill, of Brooklyn, stating that on the night of October 11, 1924, the night before the murder of Skelly, she and her mother saw Chapman in a stationery store in Brooklyn.

He is Innocent, Says Groehl.

"Don't send this man, who says he is innocent, to the gallows," Groehl pleaded. "Give me a chance to prove that the evidence I have obtained since his conviction will show that he did not kill Policeman James Skelly."

Groehl's voice rose and fell in the quiet stillness of the room.

Prosecutor Hugh Alcorn, stout, bald and calm of manner and speech, spoke against granting any clemency to Chapman.

FIND MISSING CHICAGO NURSE IN JAIL CELL

Pretty Betty Lee Dellibac Held for Shoplifting.

HID IDENTITY

CHICAGO, April 5.—Frantic search throughout northern Illinois for Betty Lee Dellibac, pretty 21-year-old student nurse at Englewood hospital, missing since Wednesday, ended this morning in a south Clark street police station cell where she has been held since the day of her disappearance on a charge of shoplifting.

Throughout her imprisonment she had steadfastly blocked every effort of police and social workers to establish her real identity. She became hysterical and would give no explanation except to blame her plight on "another girl."

Disappearance of Betty, daughter of a Dr. Leroy Dellibac, of Kankakee, caused the arrest of Dr. Jacob L. Bressler, prominent Southside physician and member of the Englewood hospital staff, after 50 or more fervid love letters from him had been found in a lock-box in the girl's room.

"If the gallows were ever constructed for any one, then that person is Gerald Chapman," he declared.

"If the state of Connecticut doesn't hang Chapman, then it has wronged every man it has hanged."

Alcorn declared the case against Chapman was not circumstantial but a strong, direct case with no element of doubt.

Chapman, he said, shot and killed Policeman James J. Skelly in the New Britain, Conn., department store holdup and he had proved it to the satisfaction of the jury.

"Birds of a Feather," Says Alcorn

He told how, after Chapman was convicted, his pal, Anderson, started on a campaign of revenge.

"Chapman's friends," he declared, "burned the $250,000 garage of one of our witnesses at Steubenville, Ohio, and then, a few days later, they sent them this post card:

"'We've just begun.'

"And they had," Alcorn went on. "They waylaid poor en Hance, a deputy cheriff at Muncie, Ind., and shot and killed him because he was a witness against Chapman.

Chapman and Anderson are the type of men, he declared, that are a menace to organized society and there should be no sentimentality shown in cases involving men of such type.

"They pulled off the biggest robbery in the history of the United States—the $2,400,000 New York City mail robbery," he declared.

"And they were two of a kind, birds of a feather."

BRUCE LEADER

Expect to Pave Way for Test in 1928 Campaign.

By William K. Hutchinson.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The curtain was lifted today on the first great wet-and-dry battle staged in a congressional arena since prohibition was written into the national laws.

A militant, determined army of prohibition's enemies launched a super-offensive against the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law at public hearings before a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee.

Having no hopes of an immediate victory, the wets regarded the hearings as an educational campaign to arouse the people to existing conditions, influence the approaching November elections, and pave the way for a supreme test in the campaign year of 1928, when they will strive to elect the first wet congress since the war.

The hearings will continue for two weeks, the time being equally divided between wets and drys.

Advocates Canadian System.

The wets led off today with Senator William Cabell Bruce (D.) of Maryland, who branded America's experiment with prohibition as a "disastrous, tragic failure," and advocated the adoption of the Quebec (Canadian) system of having the government itself handle the sale of alcoholic liquors.

Prohibition as it now exists, Bruce declared, has become an "enemy to human morality," turned America into a nation of law-breakers, created a super "under-world" of crime, transferred the brewing industry into the homes of citizens, increased drunkenness, blighted human happiness and lastly has failed. Present conditions cannot continue, as the federal government is powerless to enforce prohibition, he said, and the congress must face the truth.

The Canadian system, he said, would restore temperance, reduce crime, bring back great revenues to the government, thus allowing tax reductions, appease the imperishable human appetite for liquors and restore respect for all laws. Under this system, he explained, the government supervises the manufacture, distribution and sale of distilled spirits, beer and wine. Saloons are prohibited and sales are restricted.

Explains Quebec Plan.

In Quebec, whiskies and their like, Bruce said, are sold one bottle at a time in government stores and must be taken away to be "drunk at home." Wines are sold at government stores and in hotels. Beer is sold in these places and in grocery stores, and restaurants. The right of local option is "jealously preserved," he added, and the result has been "a steady decline in drunkenness." To adopt this plan, Bruce offered an amendment to the constitution for the committee's consideration.

Prohibition, he continued, has "never gone into effect" in America. The appetite for drink, he asserted, can never be legislated away. Open violation of the present law in the "smart social set," in "humbler homes" and by "members of the American Federation of Labor," Bruce declared, and the "utterances of Jewish rabbis, Protestant bishops and Catholics prelates, like Cardinals O'Connell and Hayes, demonstrates the existence of a growing feeling, even among the American clergy, that absolute prohibition is not the ally but the enemy of human morality."

Before Bruce took the stand the committee chamber was turned into a movie studio with a score of cameras grinding. The crowd so jammed the small room that standing room was at a premium and hundreds of persons were turned away. A score of women were in the audience.

DEATH ROLL.

Ralph H. Coursie.

Ralph Henderson Coursie died yesterday in his home, 2040 Ohio avenue, East End. He is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters: Raymond, Clyde, Leonard, Gladys and Velma, his mother, one brother, Hartley, both of Torrence, Pa., and three sisters, Mrs. Maude Whitsel, Coatesville, Pa.; Mrs. Daisy Strigle and Mrs. Elsie Anderson, both of Ashtabula.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

HARVARD limits the next freshman class to 1,000, announcing that "personality and character" will count in an extermination test, and a photograph of every applicant must be sent.

This in plain English means a determination to exclude Jewish students above whatever number the faculty thinks desirable.

A great university would show more courage if it declared its plan frankly, without camouflage.

FORTUNATELY, it doesn't make the slightest difference to a young Jew, or gentile either, whether he goes to Harvard or not.

Nothing is taught at Harvard that cannot be learned elsewhere in half the time Harvard takes to teach it. What counts is a man's performance after he comes out of school, not the name of the school that taught him.

LADY ASTOR, charming young American from Virginia, now raising the moral tone of the British empire in the house of commons, was disgusted because very few attended a meeting in which she and others laid down the moral law. She said the hall would have been packed had the attraction been a demonstration of hair dressing and permanent waving.

IN NEW YORK 19,225 men and women paid $78,432 for the pleasure of seeing a young man named Stribling conquer another named Slattery in a prize fight. No intellectual sermon could have drawn that amount of money.

A bigger prize fight between Dempsey and Carpentier drew in gate receipts $1,600,000.

THE holy synod of Moscow, representing the Russian church, has officially put an end to monasticism.

Monks will no longer be allowed to devote their lives to saving their own souls. Each one will be compelled "to adopt some pursuit by which he can earn a living and contribute something to the general welfare."

This strikes a blow to one of the oldest religious institutions, the collection of individuals devoted to a religious life. These monasteries existed long before the beginning of Christianity, in Tibet and elsewhere. The soviet authorities decide that they are "out of date."

STANDARD OIL and Vacuum Oil buy 190,000 tons of refined oil from the bolshevik government at $17 a ton, $3,200,000 for 190,000 tons. The interesting deal is proof that bolshevism is not without business sense. It also reminds American officials opposed to recognition of the Russian government that such recognition is American prosperity.

Guards Frustrate Canton Workhouse Delivery Today

CANTON, April 5—Wholesale delivery of 74 prisoners in the Stark county workhouse was prevented early today by vigilance of one of the guards. He heard a scraping and tapping on the outer wall and called Superintendent John Boyer. It was just shortly before time for change of the guard and Boyer and his man stationed themselves outside the wall heavily armed, ready to shoot the first man who came through.

When the guard came on, Boyer had enough men to warrant him going to the dormitory on the second floor and found that the men had cut a hole through the inner wall with the aid of several small rods, pried from cots.

He put several of the prisoners on the grill, and learned that 20 of them were involved in the plot to escape.

lapidated structure, they were discovered and immediately the spectators made a dash for the woods. The police halted 25 of the crowd.

20 Dead Roosters Found.

Approximately 20 dead roosters were found in the barn. Two other game birds were confiscated.

Further arrests in connection with the fight may be made by the Wellsville police. Licenses on the automobiles owned by many of the spectators, and which had been parked on unimproved roads near the farm were noted. Charges will be preferred against the owners, police say. Several of the machines, it is claimed, bore licenses issued in East Liverpool.

Police say the cock fight started at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Bird owners from Steubenville and other down-river points are said to have arrived in Irondale on the morning train. The admission fee was $1.

The farm is in one of the deserted sections of Jefferson county, being a mile or more from a house.

Jefferson county authorities raided a cock fight near Irondale last fall, arresting a score or more participants.

BOND IS POSTED

Midland Woman Was Found Guilty of Embezzlement.

Mrs. Mary Camwell, 25-year-old bank clerk, convicted upon indictments charging her with embezzlement at Beaver March 25, will not be sentenced until the court rules upon her motion for a new trial.

Application for a new trial was made by her counsel, Attorneys Richard Holt and D. A. Nelson, thus deferring sentence. The pretty defendant is at liberty under $6,000 cash bond, furnished by her father, a resident of Butler, Pa.

Judge William McConnell, of the Beaver county common pleas court, is not expected to rule on the defendant's motion until the May term of court.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 5.—Industrial stock prices were unsettled in the early trading today by the resumption of selling pressure in all departments. The market was irregular at opening, with high grade public utility stocks making the best showing. Oil stocks were depressed in the first period by reports that the merger plans for Texas company and California Petroleum corporation had been abandoned, and rumors of financial difficulty in some of the "big traders" in oil shares.

Trade was in comparatively smaller volume in this period, and confined to a smaller group of stocks, eliminating the rails, coppers and specialties.

WEALTHY OHIO FARMER SUPPORTS ALIBI CLAIM OF DOOMED MAN

DAYTON, April 5.—Gerald Chapman, "super-bandit" and convicted slayer of Policeman James Skelly in New Britain, Conn., was in the vicinity of Dayton in a cottage on the farm of John Farrell, wealthy farmer who lives at Stop 13 on the Troy pike, between Oct. 9 and Oct. 16, 1924, Farrell told newspapermen today.

The man who occupied Farrell's cottage went under the name of Mark Smith, according to Farrell, who believes his temporary tenant to be Chapman but was not sure until he found memorandum books which difinitely established the dates of the man's sojourn there.

Farrell is positive his tenant was Chapman, and asserts he is willing and ready to go east and identify the super bandit as the man who occupied the cottage. He said he can pick out Chapman from 50 men and that he can take 19 persons with him who can also identify Chapman as the man who lived in the cottage.

In a pocket of the man's coat, he said, letters were found addressed to Mark Smith and the salutation in the missives was: "My Dear Chapman," the letters, Farrell maintains referred to Smith as Gerald.

Chapman, who was driving a blue coupe, which had two sawed off shotguns in the rear, made one trip to Muncie, Ind., while he was occupying the cottage, Farrell said. At various times two girls were with him at the cottage but there were no men ever seen there, according to Farrell.

Farrell said that Chapman spent most of his days at the cottage in sleeping and, although he was suspicious of him, did not inquire further into his business because of the good prices the tenant paid for everything. At one time, Farrell said, Chapman gave him $50 and told him to buy a suit with it.

"I' Innocent"

His indefatigable lawyers meanwhile were preparing the plea they will make before the Connecticut board of pardons today in which they will urge that Chapman's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Chapman had been opposed to such a plea on the ground that it would be an admission on his part that he did shoot and kill Policeman James Skelley during the hold-up of a department store in New Britain, October 12, 1924. It is for the slaying of Skelley that Chapman is to pay with his life tonight.

Delay of Hanging Improbable.

Every precaution has been taken, the governor indicated, to prevent the possibility of a jail break at the last minute which, however, the governor thinks is remote.

The chance that the board will commute Chapman's sentence to life imprisonment, or delay the hanging on the ground that new witnesses have been found who can prove that the bandit is innocent of the murder of Policeman Skelley, is regarded as decidedly slim. Under the law the decisions of the board of six members must be unanimous. The governor, who already has rprieved Chapman three times, is said to have declared that under no circumstances would be again reprieve the bandit, "not even for an hour."

Chapman's last card, the final plea to the board, will be made by his chief counsel, Frederick J. Groehl.

The board will ask Groehl this question:

"Why do you thing we should commute the sentence of Gerald Chapman to life imprisonment?"

It will be up to Groehl to outline exactly what new evidence he claims to have uncovered in Chapman's behalf and make out a case for Chapman strong enough to overturn the jury's vedict of "guilty of murder."

Prosecutor Hugh M. Alcorn, who won thirteen successive legal engagements with the Chapman lawyers, will be present to oppose the slightest concession to the doomed man.

Will He "Break?"

Back in Hartford, the nearest city of size, a mayoralty election was being held, but the people did not seem to be interested in it in the slightest. On the other hand, the election space in local newspapers had been usurped by the latest news concerning Chapman, and everywhere in the streets, in barber shops, offices, hotel lobbies, the plight of the bandit who was bold enough to stage the biggest hold-up ever perpetrated in this country, the $2,400,000 mail robbery in New York, was being discussed with avidity.

The people everywhere were asking: "Will Chapman "die game" or will he "break" at the last minute and show a yellow streak? Will he make a final speech before he is jerked to death, or will he die silently, with clenched lips?

The hanging is to take place between midnight tonight and dawn Tuesday, probably about 2:30 a. m. Late this afternoon, if the pardons board refuses clemency to Chapman, the condemned man will be taken to a cell adjoining the execution chamber.

His prison uniform of blue will be taken from him and he will don a black suit of clothes, a white shirt with a soft collar and thick soft soled shoes.

Six Guards On Duty.

Religious consolation will be his if he wants it. Chapman is a Catholic and he has had daily conversations in his cell with the kindly visaged chaplain, the Rev. Father Michael F. Barry. Chapman was a choir boy before he took up his life of crime and he has not lost all his interest in his faith.

Six armed guards will pace back and forth in front of Chapman's cell from 6 o'clock until midnight, as the clock ticks off the fateful minutes to his hour of doom.

At midnight, or shortly afterwards, Chapman, preceded by Father Barry and followed by the guards, will walk about 20 paces into the execution chamber where he will meet his death by the state's intricate hanging machine.

Death Will Be Swift.

Pale green walls of ghastly looking concrete will greet Chapman's piercing cat-colored eyes. There are no windows in this death chamber, a skylight affording the only natural light. A huge electric light, suspended from the center of the rather high enclosure, will beat down on the grim scene. Stretched along the wall will be the newspapermen reporting the execution and a few privileged spectators.

Death will come to Chapman with lightning-like swiftness. As soon as he enters the oak door leading into the execution chamber, he will be hustled to his position on a rubber mat, directly under the dangling noose. His arms will be quickly strapped to his sides. Straps will also be bound tightly about his knees.

The guards, rehearsed to maximum efficiency, will swiftly adjust a black hood over his head and fix the loop around his neck.

Facing Chapman from the opposite side of the room will be Warden H. K. W. Scott. A signal will be given to the warden. He will immediately step on a plunger which actuates a leaver releasing a huge counterweight behind a partition in the far corner of the room.

Imminent Execution Chief Topic.

The imminent execution of Chapman is the one topic of conversation held at the prison, at Hartford, the state capitol, four miles away, and the countryside for miles around. The atmosphere at the prison is pregnant with grim expectancy. They have had "dress rehearsals" at Wethersfield and everything is in readiness to give the condemned man his "double jerk" to eternity. Not one detail has been overlooked. Even the ropes have been thoroughly tested.

Little knots of curious persons idled this morning in front of the Wethersfield prison, the dark red buildings of which stand upon a green eminence and are strung along for a couple of city blocks. Armed guards patroled the vicinity keeping the curious on the move. Every now and then an automobile party would come along the winding road, stop, look at the hospital ward where Chapman is in solitary confinement, and finally pass on.

The officials at the prison seemed to be under nervous tension, and were curt and business-like in their attitude toward all visitors. Photographers, barred from taking shots at close quarters, photographed the prison building from various angles. One camera was trained on the prison from an aeroplane circling about overhead.

Jerk Will Break Neck.

The weight will drop into a well. Chapman will be jerked almost to the ceiling. As he comes down, the slack in the rope will be taken up by a contrivance at a point three feet from the floor. Then he will be given another jerk which will break his neck a second time. His convulsive body will be slowly allowed to come down so that his feet drag limply on the floor. The doctors will quickly step forward, one examining the heart, the other the pulse and he will officially be pronounced dead. Two undertakers will then toss the body into a basket and take it away.

Thus will end the career of the so-called super-bandit who will have paid the supreme penalty for a lurid life of crime against organized society.

Chapman Asks Mercy

Groehl's Dramatic Appeal

Groehl then told the board of alleged inaccuracies in the testimony given at the Chapman trial by witnesses who claimed that Chapman and Walter Shean were seen near New Britain, Conn., the night before the murder.

Groehl claimed that he had a new witness, Edward Higginson, of Meriden, Conn., who would refute the testimony of Lillian Knoell, and Louis Kubec, respectively waitress and proprietor of an inn.

Then Groehl mentioned the affidavit of William O'Leary, of New Britain, who he said would swear that the man who ran from the Davidson & Leventhal store where the alleged crime was committed, was not Chapman.

"Gentlemen," declared Groehl dramatically, "a life gone cannot be returned. I beg of you not to make it impossible for Chapman to get justice. I appeal to you to give him a commutation or sentence."

"Walter Sheehan, the Springfield man, had his hand in that shooting, said Groehl, dramatically. "That is why the dying policeman, Skelly, identified Sheehan as his murderer!"

"Ninety-nine per cent of the citizens of Hartford believe that Chapman is innocent."

Chapman Slumps, Eyes on Floor.

During Groehl's argument, Chapman slumped into his characteristic pose, head bent, eyes on the floor. When the condemned man first entered the room, a dark, purplish hue suffused his visage but as the dramatic fight for his life proceeded, the purple gradually receded, leaving in its place the prison pallor

A dramatic incident occurred when Groehl declared he had a witness, Samuel L. Cutler, of Hartford, who would say that the man in the bandit car with Walter Sheehan during the New Britain holdup was not Chapman.

Cutler, a stocky man with a red face and a green sweater leaped to his feet in teh hearing room and shouted in a loud voice:

"I wish to say a word, please!"

Groehl turned around and said sharply:

"Sit down, please."

Cutler sat down.

The six members of the board, all but one over fifty years of age, listened with sober countenances to the impassioned plea of Chapman's counsel.

Demands Fair Play.

"The spirit of American fair play is not being given to Gerald Chapman," Groehl rebuked.

Groehl criticized Judge Newell Jennings, of Hartford county, most severely for "casting aside" the affidavits presented on Chapman's behalf.

"Why, gentlemen," said Groehl, pounding on the desk," Chapman hasn't been given a dog's chance!"

Groehl said the he had an affidavit from a Miss O'Neill, of Brooklyn, stating that on the night of October 11, 1924, the night before the murder of Skelly, she and her mother saw Chapman in a stationery store in Brooklyn.

He is Innocent, Says Groehl.

"Don't send this man, who says he is innocent, to the gallows," Groehl pleaded. "Give me a chance to prove that the evidence I have obtained since his conviction will show that he did not kill Policeman James Skelly."

Groehl's voice rose and fell in the quiet stillness of the room.

Prosecutor Hugh Alcorn, stout, bald and calm of manner and speech, spoke against granting any clemency to Chapman.

"If the gallows were ever constructed for any one, then that person is Gerald Chapman," he declared.

"If the state of Connecticut doesn't hang Chapman, then it has wronged every man it has hanged."

Alcorn declared the case against Chapman was not circumstantial but a strong, direct case with no element of doubt.

Chapman, he said, shot and killed Policeman James J. Skelly in the New Britain, Conn., department store holdup and he had proved it to the satisfaction of the jury.

"Birds of a Feather," Says Alcorn

He told how, after Chapman was convicted, his pal, Anderson, started on a campaign of revenge.

"Chapman's friends," he declared, "burned the $250,000 garage of one of our witnesses at Steubenville, Ohio, and then, a few days later, they sent them this post card:

"'We've just begun.'

"And they had," Alcorn went on. "They waylaid poor en Hance, a deputy cheriff at Muncie, Ind., and shot and killed him because he was a witness against Chapman.

Chapman and Anderson are the type of men, he declared, that are a menace to organized society and there should be no sentimentality shown in cases involving men of such type.

"They pulled off the biggest robbery in the history of the United States—the $2,400,000 New York City mail robbery," he declared.

"And they were two of a kind, birds of a feather."

FIND MISSING CHICAGO NURSE IN JAIL CELL

Pretty Betty Lee Dellibac Held for Shoplifting.

HID IDENTITY

CHICAGO, April 5.—Frantic search throughout northern Illinois for Betty Lee Dellibac, pretty 21-year-old student nurse at Englewood hospital, missing since Wednesday, ended this morning in a south Clark street police station cell where she has been held since the day of her disappearance on a charge of shoplifting.

Throughout her imprisonment she had steadfastly blocked every effort of police and social workers to establish her real identity. She became hysterical and would give no explanation except to blame her plight on "another girl."

Disappearance of Betty, daughter of a Dr. Leroy Dellibac, of Kankakee, caused the arrest of Dr. Jacob L. Bressler, prominent Southside physician and member of the Englewood hospital staff, after 50 or more fervid love letters from him had been found in a lock-box in the girl's room.

THIRTY-NINE.

What Miss Johnstone had to say to John Ingate was very brief: "I shall be unable to meet you for lunch at one-thirty. Please make it two. . . . Yes. . . . Goodbye."

Eve quickly put down the telephone instrument, ashamed of her offense. When she could do so without appearing suspicious, she stole furtive glances around the office to make sure no one had watched her.

She was very uncomfortable when she was back at her desk. Such a thing as she had done! The very thing she had made Mary Sullivan suffer for only the day before. Never before had Eve spied on John Ingate's telephone conversations. Her conscience hurt her.

When John Ingate went out a little after one o'clock, she noted that he was unshaven and not as neat as she would have expected him to have been under the circumstances. Surely he wasn't going to meet Miss Johnstone looking like that. . . She wondered where they would have lunch. The Grand Central hotel or the club? . . . . Her eyes were all for him as he paused at Mary Sullivan's desk to say something to the secretary.

After he was gone there came to her the realization that she was allowing her thoughts to dwell too much upon John. He meant nothing to her now. Only. . . . No, he meant nothing to her. She bent resolutely over her work.

The home problem was solved that afternoon. Near quitting time a girl whom she knew but slightly, Gwen Lachenslaughter, came over to Eve's desk. "Are you looking for a place to live?"

"Why, yes."

"Well, my father has a vacant apartment—furnished. It's on English street. If you have time you could look at it on the way home. I'll go with you." Every member of his family helped Emil Lachenslaughter make a living renting apartments, houses and stores.

Thee apartment appealed to Eve immediately. It had one large room, with in-a-door bed, a kitchenette, a breakfast nook and bath. It was located second floor back, with a most unattractive view of dirty back porches, but that was why the rent was only fifty dollars a month. English street was a responsible looking thoroughfare, and it was near Main street, making it unnecessary to depend on stret cars for transportation. The furnishings left much to be desired, but you couldn't have everything, for fifty dollars a month.

"I'll have to talk to my husband about it," Eve announced. "I like it."

"There may be some one else in to to see it before evening. Father always lets the first one to pay a month's rent have a place. You see ——."

"Yes, I understand." She considered a moment. She musn't take chances on losing this. Only fifty dollars! "Very well, I'll take it." Eve gave the girl a check on the bank account which represented her "hope chest" savings, and went proudly away with the key, bursting to tell the news to Clay.

". . . and let's go over this evening and clean it up," she said, in completing the lengthy account she gave him.

"Why, I was going over to Charlie Ray's this evening. He's having a little party. I know you wouldn't mind."

Eve's face suddenly sobered. She did mind. . . He might have said something about this before, or at least asked her what her plans were before making the engagement. . . .

"Gee, dear, don't you want me to go?"

"Of course I do," she managed a smile. "Yes, go and enjoy yourself. I'll go over to the place alone.

"No, wait until tomorrow evening. Then I'll help you."

Eve did not reply. Her lips were pressed very tightly as she saw him out at the door at 7:300.0 Three weeks married and already he was going away and leaving her in the evening. She thought of the many evenings her mother had been left alone. . . "If he goees out alone all the time, I will, too," she resolved, watching his shadowy figure disappear down the street.

She did go over to the apartment in the evening, carrying one of Mrs. Wales' brooms and a bottle of disinfectant. Mrs. Wales had insisted on this. "You don't know what the other people have left you," she laughed.

But Eve stayed at the plase less than an hour. She got scared after a while, alone in the vacant rooms, although the lights were all on. Every noise suggested a danger. Because of this she missed Clay terribly, and went home brooding over his absence.

Clay came in from the "party" at 2 o'clock. Eve was awakened when he crawled in the bed beside her, and her eyes fell upon the clock, illuminated by a beam of light entering from the hall.

"Why, honey, you're awfully late," she said sleepily.

"Oh, not so late."

As he spoke to her, his mouth was very close to hers. Eve sat up abruptly her sensees suddenly aroused; "Clay! You've been drinking."

"No, I haven't."

"Why, Clay, you're lying to me!"

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave. Phone 319-R. Lisbon, O.

Wheat Crop Damaged by Severe Weather of Past Month.

The weather during March did considerable damage to wheat in this county, especially the wheat sown last fall on high ground. No plowing was done last month, although considerable plowing and outdoor work was done during March 1925. This information is contained in the official weather report for March just issued by Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, cooperative observer for the United States Department of Agriculture.

The mean maximum temperature during March last was 41.5 with a mean of 22, and a maximum of 31.7. The maximum temperature was 67 on March 19th, while March 5th it was two below zero. The greatest daily range was 42 degrees, which was registered on March 19th.

The total percipitation for March was 1.85 inches, and the greatest in a single 24 hours was .81 inches on March 23rd. The total snowfall during March was two inches.

There were 11 days during March when the percipitation was .01 inches or more. But eight clear days were recorded during the month of March, with 12 partly cloudy and 11 cloudy.

March last was noted for its temperature record and rainfall, both of which were below normal. There was not much freezing or thawing and there were no extremes in temperatures.

The first snow of the season according to the report fell on Oct. 10th, 1925. There was a snow fall of 6.5 inches of snow during October with a snow fall in November of 1.5 inches and 1.4 inches in December. The heaviest snowfall during the winter months was in January when 14.1 inches were registered, while there was a two-inch fall in the months of February and March. The total snow fall for the winter period is officially recorded at 40:5 inches.

The percipitation for the winter has been classified as normal. Only one inch of snow fell during March 1925, the report declares.

There was one thunderstorm during March, this being recorded on the 31st, and there was also a light hail on that date. A fall of sleet was recorded on the 31st.

March 18, 1916 was the coldest record for March when 10 below was registered. In March 1906 the snow record was 22 inches. In March 1913 a total of 6.53 inches of rain fell, while March 1910 was the dryest March with a rainfall of only .15 inches.

The normal March temperature for this section during the last 33 years is given at 37.8 and the normal precipitation for the same period of years has been recorded at 3.21 inches.

MINE STRIPPING WORK RESUMED

Stripping operations have been resumed by the Central Mining company on its property in Elkrun and Madison townships, fronting the Lincoln highway. The large steam shovel has been working several days taking off the over burden, and the smaller steam shovel will begin to load coal within a few days.

At the Coleman mine of the Kirk-Dunn Coal company, it is said this company will continue active operations for some months to come. The company has booked some large business which insures steady operation

No work is being done in the room in this mine in which fire was recently discovered and later smothered by sealing the room.

The Miller stripping operation on the Leetonia-Lisbon road is still inactive, and no intimation has been given when this plant will resume work.

GRAND JURY WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

The April grand jury will convene Monday of next week at 11 o'clock, the members being: George D. Blackmore, Sylvester J. Cripps, Addela Manor, Arthur Beech and S. H. Campbell, all of East Liverpool; Elmer Bacon, Charles S. Ward, Anna Atchinson, of East Palestine; Anna Leeper, S. R. Reed, W. J. Wark, J. G. Smith, Salem; David Walters, Columbiana; Boice James, Salineville; George Stoudt, East Rochester.

Higher Potato Seed Prices Brings About Decrease in Orders

Columbiana county potato growers will use only about one-fourth of the amount of certified potato seed this year compared with records of former seasons, it is announced by the farm bureau federation, which has aided growers for several years in obtaining certified potato seed stock. One reason given for the decreased demand this year is because of the scarcity of the stock and the high price prevailing this season. It is admitted, however, that by the use of certified potato seed higher yields have been obtained than when just ordinary seed has been planted.

Many growers in this county are this season planning to use seed potatoes grown from certified seed planted last year when an unusual large seed was received in the county. This seed is almost as good the first season as certified, according to authorities of the farm bureau federation, but it is less valuable for later crop use.

Certified seed of early potato varieties is practically exhausted at present, it has been announced by farm bureau authorities in Lisbon. While the late seed is not so scarce, it is probable that unless orders are placed soon, much of it will be sold at the high prices for table stock now prevailing.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

At a meeting of the Lisbon village council Monday night there will be a general discussion relative to the purchase of a fire truck. The Kiwanis club of Lisbon is interested in this improvement, and a committee of the club has agreed to support any movement to obtain this improvement the council may eventually decide upon.

It is also said that the street committee of the council will recommend the improvement of a number of unpaved streets by the construction of concrete side drains, and then filling the center part of the street with some hard substance that will permit such unimproved streets to be used in all kinds of weather.

The monthly report of Mayor Robert Clark will be submitted.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Floyd H. Rogers, a clerk employed by the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad at Wellsville, and Miss Wilma C. Ady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ady, also of Wellsville. The couple were to be married by Rev. B. R. Johnson at East Liverpool.

Thomas Bennett, a potter, residing at East Liverpool, and Miss Mildred Gething, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gething of East Liverpool, have obtained a marriage license. They were married by Rev. J. M. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church.

Special Services Close.

Passion Week services at the Lisbon Christian church closed Sunday evening with a sermon by the pastor, Rev. R. J. Bennett, on the subject, "Bottled Sunshine." The evening service was featured by several vocal selections by a male chorus.

Auto Wrecked.

Failing to notice the southward approach of a freight train on the Y. & O. railroad as he was about to drive across the railroad crossing at the Fair grounds stop, the automobile driven by William Polonus was wrecked and the driver slightly bruised by being knocked from the seat of his machine.

Plant Offices Moved.

The general business offices of the Wright Manufacturing company, which have been maintained at the plant on Water street, Lisbon, were removed Monday to a new location at North Market and Chestnut street, Lisbon.

Case Appealed.

The case of H. C. E. Baugh against Grace Leslie, against whom judgment by default for $38.50 was rendered by Justice Calvin at Calcutta, has been appealed to common pleas court by the defendant. The plaintiff claimed the amount due for painting buildings owned by the defendant.

Action Dismissed.

The partition action filed in common pleas court Nov. 17 last by Mary McCartney against Minnie Edney and others by Attorney Homer H. Hickling, representing the plaintiff, has been dismissed from the record.

Then dispose of this new hygienic help easily as tissue—no laundry

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in 10 better-class women now employ it.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL danger of offending.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Package of twelve costs only a few cents.

Keeping Fit For Service

Men and Women Cannot Afford to Let Their Vitality Be Drained and Become Shells of Their Former Selves.

Any competent observer can pick out men and women on the streets who have lost their grip. They are people who have allowed vitality and vigor to slip from them and with the loss of these they have lost mental vim and physical strength. Because of false information and a misplaced modesty they are not even trying to regain the qualities that made life enjoyable.

Yet the mater is simple. Certain glands in the body have failed to do their work. The results of worry, business cares and overwork are that. Nature demands payment for these inroads, and it is soon evident in lack of force, lowered vitality and weakened power. People become mere shells of their former selves, all for want of a little treatment.

World's Pep Treatment is the answer to this. It is the discovery of scientific men who have long been seeking relief for such people. It is harmless to those who take it, but strengthening and helpful. If you suffer from such a letting down of your vital powers, from inability to hold up your share of life's activities get a three months' treatment for $5.00 of Carnahan's East Liverpool, also Brannan, Wellsville, and note how quickly you improve.

BACKACHES DUE TO WEAKENED KIDNEYS

Nine times out of ten the real cause is disordered kidneys. Mere surface rubs, liniments, etc., do not touch this cause and therefore only give temporary relief. But a famous old Dutch internal remedy, long known to physicians and now put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules goes direct to congested, irritated kidneys, drives out poisons and quickly restores normal, healthy action—so backache, lameness, rheumatic pains and burning, frequent urination, disappear as if by magic. Catarrh Is Like A Thief In The Night

Comes Upon Victims Unsuspected—How World's Tonic Banishes Catarrh.

Catarrh comes upon its victims like a thief in the night. Often its presence is not even suspected until it has secured a firm hold. Even then many people do not secure medical help, especially if the disease has not yet progressed to a point where it causes acute distress, and the ailments continue to gain headway.

The time to fight catarrh is right now. It should not be put off until tomorrow. If left alone the disease may progress to a point where holes are eaten in the roof of the mouth, facial bones decay resulting in large cavities over which the flesh sinks in, or consumption and death may result. Sooner or later serious consequences nearly always come from catarrh.

Many catarrh sufferers are highly praising World's Tonic for the good it has done them. World's Tonic is a complete and systemic treatment for catarrh and has brought astonishing results in many cases. It relieves distress in the nose and throat almost at once and stops the spread of catarrh, and it also fights catarrh in every source within the system, and is designed to relieve the system of catarrh entirely.

Wheat Crop Damaged by Severe Weather of Past Month.

The weather during March did considerable damage to wheat in this county, especially the wheat sown last fall on high ground. No plowing was done last month, although considerable plowing and outdoor work was done during March 1925. This information is contained in the official weather report for March just issued by Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, cooperative observer for the United States Department of Agriculture.

The mean maximum temperature during March last was 41.5 with a mean of 22, and a maximum of 31.7. The maximum temperature was 67 on March 19th, while March 5th it was two below zero. The greatest daily range was 42 degrees, which was registered on March 19th.

The total percipitation for March was 1.85 inches, and the greatest in a single 24 hours was .81 inches on March 23rd. The total snowfall during March was two inches.

There were 11 days during March when the percipitation was .01 inches or more. But eight clear days were recorded during the month of March, with 12 partly cloudy and 11 cloudy.

March last was noted for its temperature record and rainfall, both of which were below normal. There was not much freezing or thawing and there were no extremes in temperatures.

The first snow of the season according to the report fell on Oct. 10th, 1925. There was a snow fall of 6.5 inches of snow during October with a snow fall in November of 1.5 inches and 1.4 inches in December. The heaviest snowfall during the winter months was in January when 14.1 inches were registered, while there was a two-inch fall in the months of February and March. The total snow fall for the winter period is officially recorded at 40.5 inches.

The percipitation for the winter has been classified as normal. Only one inch of snow fell during March 1925, the report declares.

There was one thunderstorm during March, this being recorded on the 31st, and there was also a light hail on that date. A fall of sleet was recorded on the 31st.

March 18, 1916 was the coldest record for March when 10 below was registered. In March 1906 the snow record was 22 inches. In March 1913 a total of 6.53 inches of rain fell, while March 1910 was the dryest March with a rainfall of only .15 inches.

The normal March temperature for this section during the last 33 years is given at 37.8 and the normal precipitation for the same period of years has been recorded at 3.21 inches.

MINE STRIPPING WORK RESUMED

Stripping operations have been resumed by the Central Mining company on its property in Elkrun and Madison townships, fronting the Lincoln highway. The large steam shovel has been working several days taking off the over burden, and the smaller steam shovel will begin to load coal within a few days.

At the Coleman mine of the Kirk-Dunn Coal company, it is said this company will continue active operations for some months to come. The company has booked some large business which insures steady operation

No work is being done in the room in this mine in which fire was recently discovered and later smothered by sealing the room.

The Miller stripping operation on the Leetonia-Lisbon road is still inactive, and no intimation has been given when this plant will resume work.

GRAND JURY WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

The April grand jury will convene Monday of next week at 11 o'clock, the members being: George D. Blackmore, Sylvester J. Cripps, Addela Manor, Arthur Beech and S. H. Campbell, all of East Liverpool; Elmer Bacon, Charles S. Ward, Anna Atchinson, of East Palestine; Anna Leeper, S. R. Reed, W. J. Wark, J. G. Smith, Salem; David Walters, Columbiana; Boice James, Salineville; George Stoudt, East Rochester.

Higher Potato Seed Prices Brings About Decrease in Orders

Columbiana county potato growers will use only about one-fourth of the amount of certified potato seed this year compared with records of former seasons, it is announced by the farm bureau federation, which has aided growers for several years in obtaining certified potato seed stock. One reason given for the decreased demand this year is because of the scarcity of the stock and the high price prevailing this season. It is admitted, however, that by the use of certified potato seed higher yields have been obtained than when just ordinary seed has been planted.

Many growers in this county are this season planning to use seed potatoes grown from certified seed planted last year when an unusual large seed was received in the county. This seed is almost as good the first season as certified, according to authorities of the farm bureau federation, but it is less valuable for later crop use.

Certified seed of early potato varieties is practically exhausted at present, it has been announced by farm bureau authorities in Lisbon. While the late seed is not so scarce, it is probable that unless orders are placed soon, much of it will be sold at the high prices for table stock now prevailing.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

At a meeting of the Lisbon village council Monday night there will be a general discussion relative to the purchase of a fire truck. The Kiwanis club of Lisbon is interested in this improvement, and a committee of the club has agreed to support any movement to obtain this improvement the council may eventually decide upon.

It is also said that the street committee of the council will recommend the improvement of a number of unpaved streets by the construction of concrete side drains, and then filling the center part of the street with some hard substance that will permit such unimproved streets to be used in all kinds of weather.

The monthly report of Mayor Robert Clark will be submitted.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Floyd H. Rogers, a clerk employed by the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad at Wellsville, and Miss Wilma C. Ady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ady, also of Wellsville. The couple were to be married by Rev. B. R. Johnson at East Liverpool.

Thomas Bennett, a potter, residing at East Liverpool, and Miss Mildred Gething, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gething of East Liverpool, have obtained a marriage license. They were married by Rev. J. M. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church.

Special Services Close.

Passion Week services at the Lisbon Christian church closed Sunday evening with a sermon by the pastor, Rev. R. J. Bennett, on the subject, "Bottled Sunshine." The evening service was featured by several vocal selections by a male chorus.

Auto Wrecked.

Failing to notice the southward approach of a freight train on the Y. & O. railroad as he was about to drive across the railroad crossing at the Fair grounds stop, the automobile driven by William Polonus was wrecked and the driver slightly bruised by being knocked from the seat of his machine.

Plant Offices Moved.

The general business offices of the Wright Manufacturing company, which have been maintained at the plant on Water street, Lisbon, were removed Monday to a new location at North Market and Chestnut street, Lisbon.

Case Appealed.

The case of H. C. E. Baugh against Grace Leslie, against whom judgment by default for $38.50 was rendered by Justice Calvin at Calcutta, has been appealed to common pleas court by the defendant. The plaintiff claimed the amount due for painting buildings owned by the defendant.

Action Dismissed.

The partition action filed in common pleas court Nov. 17 last by Mary McCartney against Minnie Edney and others by Attorney Homer H. Hickling, representing the plaintiff, has been dismissed from the record.

Women Use

Then dispose of this new hygienic help easily as tissue—no laundry

WOMEN by the millions are discarding the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and scientific way.

A way that offers protection unknown before. A way, too, that solves the old embarrassment of disposal.

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in 10 better-class women now employ it.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL danger of offending.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Package of twelve costs only a few cents.

Wheat Crop Damaged by Severe Weather of Past Month.

The weather during March did considerable damage to wheat in this county, especially the wheat sown last fall on high ground. No plowing was done last month, although considerable plowing and outdoor work was done during March 1925. This information is contained in the official weather report for March just issued by Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, cooperative observer for the United States Department of Agriculture.

The mean maximum temperature during March last was 41.5 with a mean of 22, and a maximum of 31.7. The maximum temperature was 67 on March 19th, while March 5th it was two below zero. The greatest daily range was 42 degrees, which was registered on March 19th.

The total percipitation for March was 1.85 inches, and the greatest in a single 24 hours was .81 inches on March 23rd. The total snowfall during March was two inches.

There were 11 days during March when the percipitation was .01 inches or more. But eight clear days were recorded during the month of March, with 12 partly cloudy and 11 cloudy.

March last was noted for its temperature record and rainfall, both of which were below normal. There was not much freezing or thawing and there were no extremes in temperatures.

The first snow of the season according to the report fell on Oct. 10th, 1925. There was a snow fall of 6.5 inches of snow during October with a snow fall in November of 1.5 inches and 1.4 inches in December. The heaviest snowfall during the winter months was in January when 14.1 inches were registered, while there was a two-inch fall in the months of February and March. The total snow fall for the winter period is officially recorded at 40.5 inches.

The percipitation for the winter has been classified as normal. Only one inch of snow fell during March 1925, the report declares.

There was one thunderstorm during March, this being recorded on the 31st, and there was also a light hail on that date. A fall of sleet was recorded on the 31st.

March 18, 1916 was the coldest record for March when 10 below was registered. In March 1906 the snow record was 22 inches. In March 1913 a total of 6.53 inches of rain fell, while March 1910 was the dryest March with a rainfall of only .15 inches.

The normal March temperature for this section during the last 33 years is given at 37.8 and the normal precipitation for the same period of years has been recorded at 3.21 inches.

MINE STRIPPING WORK RESUMED

Stripping operations have been resumed by the Central Mining company on its property in Elkrun and Madison townships, fronting the Lincoln highway. The large steam shovel has been working several days taking off the over burden, and the smaller steam shovel will begin to load coal within a few days.

At the Coleman mine of the Kirk-Dunn Coal company, it is said this company will continue active operations for some months to come. The company has booked some large business which insures steady operation

No work is being done in the room in this mine in which fire was recently discovered and later smothered by sealing the room.

The Miller stripping operation on the Leetonia-Lisbon road is still inactive, and no intimation has been given when this plant will resume work.

GRAND JURY WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

The April grand jury will convene Monday of next week at 11 o'clock, the members being: George D. Blackmore, Sylvester J. Cripps, Addela Manor, Arthur Beech and S. H. Campbell, all of East Liverpool; Elmer Bacon, Charles S. Ward, Anna Atchinson, of East Palestine; Anna Leeper, S. R. Reed, W. J. Wark, J. G. Smith, Salem; David Walters, Columbiana; Boice James, Salineville; George Stoudt, East Rochester.

Higher Potato Seed Prices Brings About Decrease in Orders

Columbiana county potato growers will use only about one-fourth of the amount of certified potato seed this year compared with records of former seasons, it is announced by the farm bureau federation, which has aided growers for several years in obtaining certified potato seed stock. One reason given for the decreased demand this year is because of the scarcity of the stock and the high price prevailing this season. It is admitted, however, that by the use of certified potato seed higher yields have been obtained than when just ordinary seed has been planted.

Many growers in this county are this season planning to use seed potatoes grown from certified seed planted last year when an unusual large seed was received in the county. This seed is almost as good the first season as certified, according to authorities of the farm bureau federation, but it is less valuable for later crop use.

Certified seed of early potato varieties is practically exhausted at present, it has been announced by farm bureau authorities in Lisbon. While the late seed is not so scarce, it is probable that unless orders are placed soon, much of it will be sold at the high prices for table stock now prevailing.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

At a meeting of the Lisbon village council Monday night there will be a general discussion relative to the purchase of a fire truck. The Kiwanis club of Lisbon is interested in this improvement, and a committee of the club has agreed to support any movement to obtain this improvement the council may eventually decide upon.

It is also said that the street committee of the council will recommend the improvement of a number of unpaved streets by the construction of concrete side drains, and then filling the center part of the street with some hard substance that will permit such unimproved streets to be used in all kinds of weather.

The monthly report of Mayor Robert Clark will be submitted.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Floyd H. Rogers, a clerk employed by the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad at Wellsville, and Miss Wilma C. Ady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ady, also of Wellsville. The couple were to be married by Rev. B. R. Johnson at East Liverpool.

Thomas Bennett, a potter, residing at East Liverpool, and Miss Mildred Gething, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gething of East Liverpool, have obtained a marriage license. They were married by Rev. J. M. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church.

Special Services Close.

Passion Week services at the Lisbon Christian church closed Sunday evening with a sermon by the pastor, Rev. R. J. Bennett, on the subject, "Bottled Sunshine." The evening service was featured by several vocal selections by a male chorus.

Auto Wrecked.

Failing to notice the southward approach of a freight train on the Y. & O. railroad as he was about to drive across the railroad crossing at the Fair grounds stop, the automobile driven by William Polonus was wrecked and the driver slightly bruised by being knocked from the seat of his machine.

Plant Offices Moved.

The general business offices of the Wright Manufacturing company, which have been maintained at the plant on Water street, Lisbon, were removed Monday to a new location at North Market and Chestnut street, Lisbon.

Case Appealed.

The case of H. C. E. Baugh against Grace Leslie, against whom judgment by default for $38.50 was rendered by Justice Calvin at Calcutta, has been appealed to common pleas court by the defendant. The plaintiff claimed the amount due for painting buildings owned by the defendant.

Action Dismissed.

The partition action filed in common pleas court Nov. 17 last by Mary McCartney against Minnie Edney and others by Attorney Homer H. Hickling, representing the plaintiff, has been dismissed from the record.

Dempsey May Defend Heavyweight Title Twice This Summer

Gene Tunney Will Get First Chance; Wills Bout Second

Tex Rickard, Who Probably Will be Promoter of Both Enterprises, Will Depart for Chicago Today or Tomorrow on Mysterious Mission—Promises Real Story.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Unless someone is telling the writer a bedtime story, Jack Dempsey really will defend his heavyweight title twice this summer, in spite of the fact that that is what he has claimed he would do all along.

The first of the two championship matches will take place in New York on July 4 with Gene Tunney. There may be no second but, if it develops, it will be with Harry Wills, the well known gentleman in the wood pile, on Labor day in or near Chicago. In order to get the first match, Dempsey either has signed or will sign for the second It is my understanding he has signed already.

Every indication points to Tex Rickard as the promoter of both enterprises. He will depart for Chicago today or tomorrow, and although he will go for the purported object of carrying on negotiations for a new arena there, a remark he dropped today may be regarded as significant.

"I expect to have a real story for you within the course of a week," he declared.

Chicago May Be Scene.

Since Rickard already has Dempsey and Tunney in the bag and has been in correspondence with the champion within recent days, the assumption is that he is about ready to spring a Dempsey-Wills announcement.

The latter probably has no other object than to placate the New York state athletic commission and get Dempsey in the clear here for the Tunney transaction. The local board has a spare ultimatum or two on its hands about the champion facing Wills first but when it is convinced that Dempsey will accept the colored man's challenge, if permitted a "tune-up" bout with Tunney, it probably will capitulate and be glad of it.

Tunney, tipped on the course of events very early in the game, has been playing them close to his abdomen all winter, serene in the belief that he cannot go wrong. He really was supposed to hide out until the Dempsey shot developed but wanted a tune-up bout himself and that is the reason he was matched with Stribling at Miami. He probably had Rickard's permission before he signed for this match.

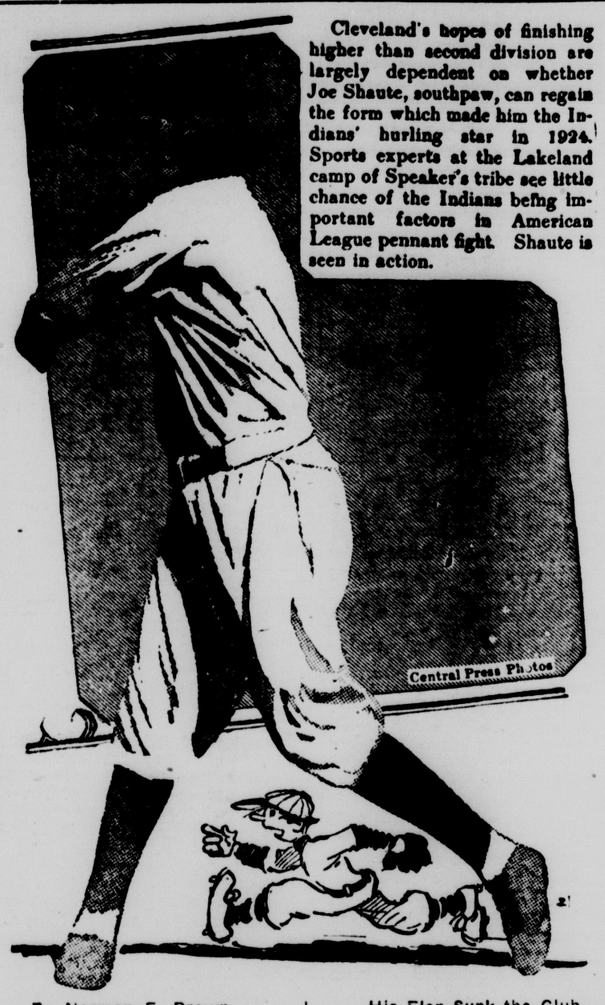
As for the Dempsey-Wills angle, it is more of a expedient than a project. It could not be held here, if the state athletic commission issued edicts for the rest of its natural life.

Rather than embarrass the local board, which has sustained a severe attack of flat feet on the proposition, the pair will be signed for Chicago, which is due to legalize boxing on April 13.

If Chicago or Michigan City stands hitched for the match, all very good; in fact, it will be better than anyone expects. If not, Dempsey will have the Tunney shot and be rid of the pestiferous Wills at the same time.

On Joe Shaute's Hefty Arm

Rests Indians' Chances in Race, it Appears



Cleveland's hopes of finishing higher than second division are largely dependent on whether Joe Shaute, southpaw, can regain the form which made him the Indians' hurling star in 1924. Sports experts at the Lakeland camp of Speaker's tribe see little chance of the Indians being important factors in American League pennant fight. Shaute is seen in action.

By Norman E. Brown.

The "if" club of the American league race is the Cleveland team. Not a single player that could be expected to add material strength to the team immediately was added last fall or during the off season.

The team is weak on pitching—until some of the newcomers prove their worth.

It has not a regular second baseman or an accepted third baseman.

It lacks efficient catching.

These conditions prevailed last season. Why expect more from the same crew unless fate is kind?

The big disappointment of the team last season was Joe Shaute, young pitcher. The year before Shaute had given every indication of being set for a great year in 1925 and loomed as one of the great young pitchers of the league.

His Flop Sunk the Club.

Last year he was a horrible flop. Won just four games and lost 12. Had he turned in 20 or more victories the team might have nosed out one of the first division teams instead of finishing sixth.

The sudden loss of his curve ball was the cause. Although he seemed in perfect shape a year ago this spring he failed to get the "hook" on his curve ball—his chief asset. He labored all season hoping in vain he could recover it.

This spring he worked for weeks without unloosing a single curve—under Manager Speaker's orders. Then one day in an exhibition contest Speaker told him to try it. Shaute started hooking them over in his old form.

IF he holds his curve the Indians will be a better team.

11 TEAMS ROLL IN PIN FINALS

Detroit Representatives Considered Formidable at Toledo.

TOLEDO, April 5.—Rolling in the team event of the A. B. C. tournament comes to a close tonight with the appearance of teams from Toledo, Detroit, Wooster, Rochester, Dayton, Adrian, Cincinnati, Mansfield, Findlay, Monroeville, Ohio, and the internationally famous village of Ecorse.

Several of the teams from Detroit are considered formidable, specially Paddy's Shamrocks, a quintet composed of four former Cleveland stars, and Tom Haley of Detroit, former A. B. C. all-events and singles champion.

Ray Allen of Detroit, who won the doubles championship with his brother Harold, several years ago, is also billed to roll.

Port Huron, Michigan, passed out of the picture as the potential champion five of the tournament when the Castany five of Chicago, opening with 1025 the Castany's dropped to 937 only to recover with a 1101. Eicke was the strong armed man on the outfit, rolling a series of 680. Wagner, supposed to be the "Chinaman" on the outfit was second high with 642.

While first place was going out of existence in this manner, fourth place went by the boards to a Chicago team, the J. P. Kellys, its total being 3013. Games of 932, 1089 and 922 were hit by these lads.

Not content with this wrecking of the prize fund, the Green Rivers under the leadership of A. Lea, dropped 2966.

U. P. Church Cagers Down Park Quintet On Y. M. Floor, 21-19

Earn Right to Meet Methodist Protestants in Semi-final of Sunday School Basketball Tournament.

The United Presbyterians set the Park Boulevards back, 21 to 19, in a Sunday school basketball league contest on the Y. M. C. A. court Saturday night. The victory gave the United Presbyterians the right to meet the Methodist Protestants in the semi-final game for league honors which will probably be played tonight on the First Methodist Episcopal floor.

The church lads conquered the Boulevardiers by superior shooting, making most of their baskets on long shots from the center of the floor.

The Parks took the lead on O. Kirkham's foul goal and F. Kirkham's double pointer, had a 4 to 2 advantage at the end of the first period.

McKee's foul toss increased the Boulevardiers' lead, but the United Presbyterian boys, with a few successful long shots, led, 8 to 5, when the second period was over.

During the third quarter, the United Presbyterians increased their lead 14 to 7 at the three-quarter post.

The last quarter was exciting. The Parks changed their lineup, Hall going in for McKee at guard and McKee taking Barnes' place at forward. The Boulevardiers begin to play basketball and for the first time during the game they made their shots count. With the First U. P. lads leading, 19 to 17, and about a minute and a half to go, Roberts made a one-handed shot, putting the U. P. boys farther in the lead. But the Parks kept on plugging, and F. Kirkham shot a field goal. The Boulevardiers had a chance to tie the score in the last half minute of play, when McKee was given two foul line chances to score, but he missed both.

Roberts, McGraw, and Hoffman were in the limelight for the United Presbyterians, while McKee and the Kirkham brothers were the stellar performers for the Park five.

In the preliminary, the First Methodist Elementaries downed the Y. M. C. A. Elementaries, 14 to 7.

Yanks Seek Seventh Straight as They Lambast Horsehide

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 5.—The rampaging Yankees were set to make it seven straight from the Dodgers today and add further to their marvelous hitting record since leaving St. Petersburg, the New York club having made 68 hits for a total of 114 bases in their last six games.

BUCKEYES WIN TWO BATTLES

Defeat Uniques, 63 to 21, and Indians, 28 to 24.

The Buckeye basketball five annexed another pair of victories on the Y. M. C. A. floor over the week-end, defeating the Uniques by a score of 63 to 21, on Friday afternoon, and handing Dick Larkins' Indians a 28 to 24 walloping on Saturday afternoon.

The Buckeye-Indian game was a hard fought battle. The Buckeyes played a better brand of basketball, but the Indians were kept in the running by the sensational shooting of Wildblood.

The Indians led in the first quarter, 6 to 3. During the second period, the Buckeyes caught up with their opponents, the score being deadlocked, 9 to 9, at the end of the half.

During the other periods, the teams battled neck and neck, Wildblood registering most of the Buckeye baskets, while Deidrick did the heavy work for the Indians.

In the last few minutes, with the Buckeyes leading, 23 to 20, Deidrick came through with two long shots, placing the Indians in front. But Skidmore's field goal gave the lead back to the Buckeyes and Wildblood made good on a foul line shot.

The Buckeye team played A-1 basketball, Wildblood being the scoring ace. Deidrick, Larkins and Todd were the star performers for the Indians. Deidrick caged seven field baskets.

In the Friday afternoon game with the Uniques, Wildblood, Feit and Lindell were the big scoring guns for the Buckeyes, while Ward was the leading point-maker for the Uniques.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Some two years ago, through a discussion with "Chick" Evans of the mechanics of his remarkable golf swing, I developed as a part of my teaching system, a movement that I called the "pull down." One of the leading London golf publications has since complimented this "pull down" as "very near the last word among golf simplifying aids for the average player."

This "pull down" has a two-fold purpose. It enables the golfer to rid his swing of the disastrous body push, with which nearly every business man player is afflicted, and it makes the forward swing automatically rhythmic—or has a tendency to. Rhythm usually is lost in the forward swing because of the player's jerk of the club from the top of the back swing. The "pull down" enables the player to initiate this take-off without the jerk. In subsequent articles this week I shall describe the "pull down" so that the ordinary golfer can apply it to his own game.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headache, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c

Dempsey May Defend Heavyweight Title Twice This Summer

Gene Tunney Will Get First Chance; Wills Bout Second

Tex Rickard, Who Probably Will be Promoter of Both Enterprises, Today or Tomorrow Promises Real Story.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Unless someone is telling the writer a bedtime story, Jack Dempsey really will defend his heavyweight title twice this summer, in spite of the fact that that is what he has claimed he would do all along.

The first of the two championship matches will take place in New York on July 4 with Gene Tunney. There may be no second but, if it develops, it will be with Harry Wills, the well known gentleman in the wood pile, on Labor day in or near Chicago. In order to get the first match, Dempsey either has signed or will sign for the second It is my understanding he has signed already.

Every indication points to Tex Rickard as the promoter of both enterprises. He will depart for Chicago today or tomorrow, and although he will go for the purported object of carrying on negotiations for a new arena there, a remark he dropped today may be regarded as significant.

"I expect to have a real story for you within the course of a week," he declared.

Chicago May Be Scene.

Since Rickard already has Dempsey and Tunney in the bag and has been in correspondence with the champion within recent days, the assumption is that he is about ready to spring a Dempsey-Wills announcement.

The latter probably has no other object than to placate the New York state athletic commission and get Dempsey in the clear here for the Tunney transaction. The local board has a spare ultimatum or two on its hands about the champion facing Wills first but when it is convinced that Dempsey will accept the colored man's challenge, if permitted a "tune-up" bout with Tunney, it probably will capitulate and be glad of it.

Tunney, tipped on the course of events very early in the game, has been playing them close to his abdomen all winter, serene in the belief that he cannot go wrong. He really was supposed to hide out until the Dempsey shot developed but wanted a tune-up bout himself and that is the reason he was matched with Stribling at Miami. He probably had Rickard's permission before he signed for this match.

As for the Dempsey-Wills angle, it is more of a expedient than a project. It could not be held here, if the state athletic commission issued edicts for the rest of its natural life.

Rather than embarrass the local board, which has sustained a severe attack of flat feet on the proposition, the pair will be signed for Chicago, which is due to legalize boxing on April 13.

If Chicago or Michigan City stands hitched for the match, all very good; in fact, it will be better than anyone expects. If not, Dempsey will have the Tunney shot and be rid of the pestiferous Wills at the same time.

Dempsey May Defend Heavyweight Title Twice This Summer

Gene Tunney Will Get First Chance; Wills Bout Second

Tex Rickard, Who Probably Will be Promoter of Both Enterprises, Will Depart for Chicago Today or Tomorrow on Mysterious Mission—Promises Real Story.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Unless someone is telling the writer a bedtime story, Jack Dempsey really will defend his heavyweight title twice this summer, in spite of the fact that that is what he has claimed he would do all along.

The first of the two championship matches will take place in New York on July 4 with Gene Tunney. There may be no second but, if it develops, it will be with Harry Wills, the well known gentleman in the wood pile, on Labor day in or near Chicago. In order to get the first match, Dempsey either has signed or will sign for the second It is my understanding he has signed already.

Every indication points to Tex Rickard as the promoter of both enterprises. He will depart for Chicago today or tomorrow, and although he will go for the purported object of carrying on negotiations for a new arena there, a remark he dropped today may be regarded as significant.

"I expect to have a real story for you within the course of a week," he declared.

Chicago May Be Scene.

Since Rickard already has Dempsey and Tunney in the bag and has been in correspondence with the champion within recent days, the assumption is that he is about ready to spring a Dempsey-Wills announcement.

The latter probably has no other object than to placate the New York state athletic commission and get Dempsey in the clear here for the Tunney transaction. The local board has a spare ultimatum or two on its hands about the champion facing Wills first but when it is convinced that Dempsey will accept the colored man's challenge, if permitted a "tune-up" bout with Tunney, it probably will capitulate and be glad of it.

Tunney, tipped on the course of events very early in the game, has been playing them close to his abdomen all winter, serene in the belief that he cannot go wrong. He really was supposed to hide out until the Dempsey shot developed but wanted a tune-up bout himself and that is the reason he was matched with Stribling at Miami. He probably had Rickard's permission before he signed for this match.

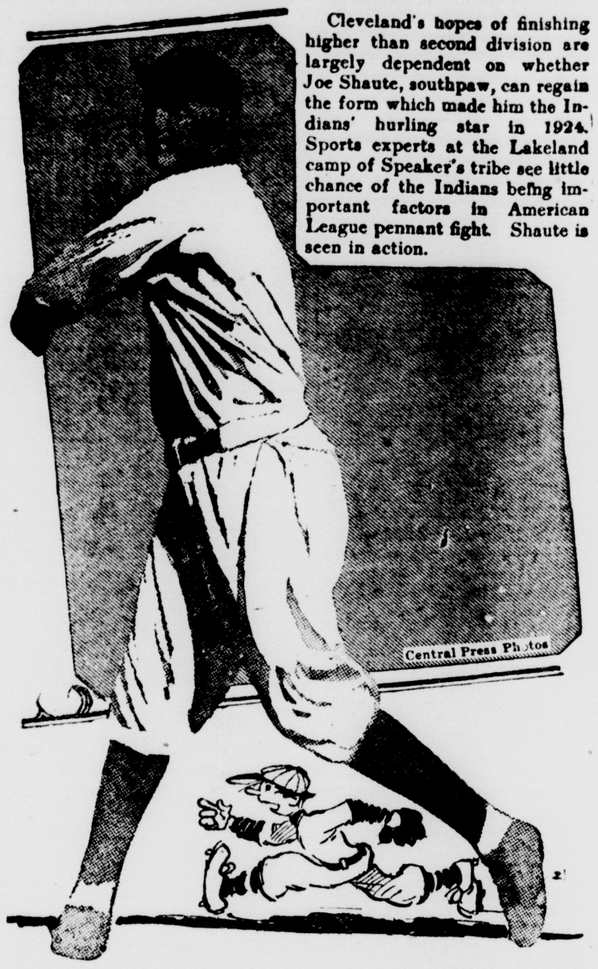
As for the Dempsey-Wills angle, it is more of a expedient than a project. It could not be held here, if the state athletic commission issued edicts for the rest of its natural life.

Rather than embarrass the local board, which has sustained a severe attack of flat feet on the proposition, the pair will be signed for Chicago, which is due to legalize boxing on April 13.

If Chicago or Michigan City stands hitched for the match, all very good; in fact, it will be better than anyone expects. If not, Dempsey will have the Tunney shot and be rid of the pestiferous Wills at the same time.

On Joe Shaute's Hefty Arm

Rests Indians' Chances in Race, it Appears



Cleveland's hopes of finishing higher than second division are largely dependent on whether Joe Shaute, southpaw, can regain the form which made him the Indians' hurling star in 1924. Sports experts at the Lakeland camp of Speaker's tribe see little chance of the Indians being important factors in American League pennant fight. Shaute is seen in action.

By Norman E. Brown.

The "if" club of the American league race is the Cleveland team. Not a single player that could be expected to add material strength to the team immediately was added last fall or during the off season.

The team is weak on pitching—until some of the newcomers prove their worth.

It has not a regular second baseman or an accepted third baseman.

It lacks efficient catching.

These conditions prevailed last season. Why expect more from the same crew unless fate is kind?

The big disappointment of the team last season was Joe Shaute, young pitcher. The year before Shaute had given every indication of being set for a great year in 1925 and loomed as one of the great young pitchers of the league.

His Flop Sunk the Club.

Last year he was a horrible flop. Won just four games and lost 12. Had he turned in 20 or more victories the team might have nosed out one of the first division teams instead of finishing sixth.

The sudden loss of his curve ball was the cause. Although he seemed in perfect shape a year ago this spring he failed to get the "hook" on his curve ball—his chief asset. He labored all season hoping in vain he could recover it.

This spring he worked for weeks without unloosing a single curve—under Manager Speaker's orders. Then one day in an exhibition contest Speaker told him to try it. Shaute started hooking them over in his old form.

IF he holds his curve the Indians will be a better team.

11 TEAMS ROLL IN PIN FINALS

Detroit Representatives Considered Formidable at Toledo.

TOLEDO, April 5.—Rolling in the team event of the A. B. C. tournament comes to a close tonight with the appearance of teams from Toledo, Detroit, Wooster, Rochester, Dayton, Adrian, Cincinnati, Mansfield, Findlay, Monroeville, Ohio, and the internationally famous village of Ecorse.

Several of the teams from Detroit are considered formidable, specially Paddy's Shamrocks, a quintet composed of four former Cleveland stars, and Tom Haley of Detroit, former A. B. C. all-events and singles champion.

Ray Allen of Detroit, who won the doubles championship with his brother Harold, several years ago, is also billed to roll.

Port Huron, Michigan, passed out of the picture as the potential champion five of the tournament when the Castany five of Chicago, opening with 1025 the Castany's dropped to 937 only to recover with a 1101. Eicke was the strong armed man on the outfit, rolling a series of 680. Wagner, supposed to be the "Chinaman" on the outfit was second high with 642.

While first place was going out of existence in this manner, fourth place went by the boards to a Chicago team, the J. P. Kellys, its total being 3013. Games of 932, 1089 and 922 were hit by these lads.

MILLER-SNYDER BATTLE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, April 5.—Ray Miller, Chicago's contender for the feather-weight championship, will be shooting at a title bout with Louis Kid Kaplan when he meets Jackie Snyder in Brooklyn, tonight. Miller's title chances were said to be dependent upon a convincing victory over Snyder.

U. P. Church Cagers Down Park Quintet On Y. M. Floor, 21-19

Earn Right to Meet Methodist Protestants in Semi-final of Sunday School Basketball Tournament.

The United Presbyterians set the Park Boulevards back, 21 to 19, in a Sunday school basketball league contest on the Y. M. C. A. court Saturday night. The victory gave the United Presbyterians the right to meet the Methodist Protestants in the semi-final game for league honors which will probably be played tonight on the First Methodist Episcopal floor.

The church lads conquered the Boulevardiers by superior shooting, making most of their baskets on long shots from the center of the floor.

The Park lads showed better team work, but they were off form in locating the basket. They missed many shots near the point scoring place.

The Parks took the lead on O. Kirkham's foul goal and F. Kirkham's double pointer, had a 4 to 2 advantage at the end of the first period.

McKee's foul toss increased the Boulevardiers' lead, but the United Presbyterian boys, with a few successful long shots, led, 8 to 5, when the second period was over.

During the third quarter, the United Presbyterians increased their lead 14 to 7 at the three-quarter post.

The last quarter was exciting. The Parks changed their lineup, Hall going in for McKee at guard and McKee taking Barnes' place at forward. The Boulevardiers begin to play basketball and for the first time during the game they made their shots count. With the First U. P. lads leading, 19 to 17, and about a minute and a half to go, Roberts made a one-handed shot, putting the U. P. boys farther in the lead. But the Parks kept on plugging, and F. Kirkham shot a field goal. The Boulevardiers had a chance to tie the score in the last half minute of play, when McKee was given two foul line chances to score, but he missed both.

Roberts, McGraw, and Hoffman were in the limelight for the United Presbyterians, while McKee and the Kirkham brothers were the stellar performers for the Park five.

In the preliminary, the First Methodist Elementaries downed the Y. M. C. A. Elementaries, 14 to 7.

Semi-Final Game In Sunday School League Tonight

Semi-finals to determine the championship in the Church basketball league will be played on the Methodist Episcopal church floor at 7:30 o'clock tonight when the Methodist Protestants will meet the United Presbyterians.

Later in the week, the winner of this contest will play the Christian church five, winners of first half of the season.

Yanks Seek Seventh Straight as They Lambast Horsehide

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 5.—The rampaging Yankees were set to make it seven straight from the Dodgers today and add further to their marvelous hitting record since leaving St. Petersburg, the New York club having made 68 hits for a total of 114 bases in their last six games.

BUCKEYES WIN TWO BATTLES

The Buckeye basketball five annexed another pair of victories on the Y. M. C. A. floor over the week-end, defeating the Uniques by a score of 63 to 21, on Friday afternoon, and handing Dick Larkins' Indians a 28 to 24 walloping on Saturday afternoon.

The Buckeye-Indian game was a hard fought battle. The Buckeyes played a better brand of basketball, but the Indians were kept in the running by the sensational shooting of Wildblood.

The Indians led in the first quarter, 6 to 3. During the second period, the Buckeyes caught up with their opponents, the score being deadlocked, 9 to 9, at the end of the half.

During the other periods, the teams battled neck and neck, Wildblood registering most of the Buckeye baskets, while Deidrick did the heavy work for the Indians.

In the last few minutes, with the Buckeyes leading, 23 to 20, Deidrick came through with two long shots, placing the Indians in front. But Skidmore's field goal gave the lead back to the Buckeyes and Wildblood made good on a foul line shot.

The Buckeye team played A-1 basketball, Wildblood being the scoring ace. Deidrick, Larkins and Todd were the star performers for the Indians. Deidrick caged seven field baskets.

In the Friday afternoon game with the Uniques, Wildblood, Feit and Lindell were the big scoring guns for the Buckeyes, while Ward was the leading point-maker for the Uniques.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Some two years ago, through a discussion with "Chick" Evans of the mechanics of his remarkable golf swing, I developed as a part of my teaching system, a movement that I called the "pull down." One of the leading London golf publications has since complimented this "pull down" as "very near the last word among golf simplifying aids for the average player."

This "pull down" has a two-fold purpose. It enables the golfer to rid his swing of the disastrous body push, with which nearly every business man player is afflicted, and it makes the forward swing automatically rhythmic—or has a tendency to. Rhythm usually is lost in the forward swing because of the player's jerk of the club from the top of the back swing. The "pull down" enables the player to initiate this take-off without the jerk. In subsequent articles this week I shall describe the "pull down" so that the ordinary golfer can apply it to his own game.

'SCARLET SAINT' AT AMERICAN

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes Star in Film.

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes are the attractions at the American theatre today and tomorrow in "The Scarlet Saint"—a First National picture which opened last night for a week's run.

"The Scarlet Saint," an adaptation of Gerald Beaumont's magazine story, "The Lady Who Played Fidele," is a pleasing and entretaining picture which has been well directed and one which contains a story that is gripping and really powerful. Above all, whoever selected the cast did an admirable job. It is rarely that a cast so well fitted for their roles comes to the screen.

The picture is built around a situation in which we find a young American girl betrothed by her father to an Austrian nobleman, but who is madly in love with a handsome young American. Of course, the difficulties of the young couple are eventually solved as they should be, but in the solution an excellent bit of script writing and direction has been done. There are thrills a-plenty, tense situations, scenes which draw the ters, scenes which Gouble you up with laughter.

Miss Astor, as the young American girl, wines the sympathy of her audience and holds it. Hughes appears to better advantage than the writer has yet seen him as the handsome young lover of Mary. He is clean-cut and convincing.

To begin with, the story—that of a woman's great sacrifice for her husband—has been handled with ususual skill by Director Millard Webb, and does not run into any of the hackneyed grooves. Then, too, Helene Chadwick's performance of the leading feminine role is so sincere a characterization that the sympathy of the audience is immediately enlisted in her behalf.

Huntley Gordon, the husband, is a hero who would make a young wife's sacrifice convincing; and the cruelty of Frank Camp au is another of his fine villainous characterizations is enough to distress any screen heroine.

Richard Tucker, as the fascinating but unworthy professor who wins the love of the girl, makes his performance stand out in a production where all are excellent. Others in the cast are Margaret Seddon, Carrie Clark Ward, Charles McHugh and Violet Kane.

Physical Director Scheffer Submits March Report.

One thousand three hundred and forty-one visits were made to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium during March, Physical Director T. F. Scheffer's report indicates. Of this number, 862 attended the gymnasium classes, 467 played basketball and the others made use of the gym for individual workouts.

The swimming pool and shower bath privileges were patronized by 1,635 persons. Sixty-two swimming lessons were given, these including instructions in life-saving methods for advanced swimmers and lessons for beginners. Many Boy Scouts have received instruction, both in elementary and advanced swimming. One youth was taught to swim 50 feet.

The Y. M. C. A. life-saving test for boys includes the following requirements:

Dive in seven feet of water and bring to surface 10 pound bag.

Disrobe in deep water and then swim 100 yards.

Demonstrate four releases on land and two releases in water.

Towing person in four different manners, 39 feet each, and demonstrate method of resuscitation.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at all druggists.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

'SCARLET SAINT' AT AMERICAN

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes Star in Film.

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes are the attractions at the American theatre today and tomorrow in "The Scarlet Saint"—a First National picture which opened last night for a week's run.

"The Scarlet Saint," an adaptation of Gerald Beaumont's magazine story, "The Lady Who Played Fidele," is a pleasing and entretaining picture which has been well directed and one which contains a story that is gripping and really powerful. Above all, whoever selected the cast did an admirable job. It is rarely that a cast so well fitted for their roles comes to the screen.

The picture is built around a situation in which we find a young American girl betrothed by her father to an Austrian nobleman, but who is madly in love with a handsome young American. Of course, the difficulties of the young couple are eventually solved as they should be, but in the solution an excellent bit of script writing and direction has been done. There are thrills a-plenty, tense situations, scenes which draw the ters. scenes which Gouble you up with laughter.

Miss Astor, as the young American girl, wines the sympathy of her audience and holds it. Hughes appears to better advantage than the writer has yet seen him as the handsome young lover of Mary. He is clean-cut and convincing.

To begin with, the story—that of a woman's great sacrifice for her husband—has been handled with ususual skill by Director Millard Webb, and does not run into any of the hackneyed grooves. Then, too, Helene Chadwick's performance of the leading feminine role is so sincere a characterization that the sympathy of the audience is immediately enlisted in her behalf.

Huntley Gordon, the husband, is a hero who would make a young wife's sacrifice convincing; and the cruelty of Frank Campeau is another of his fine villainous characterizations is enough to distress any screen heroine.

Richard Tucker, as the fascinating but unworthy professor who wins the love of the girl, makes his performance stand out in a production where all are excellent. Others in the cast are Margaret Seddon, Carrie Clark Ward, Charles McHugh and Violet Kane.

1,341 VISIT Y. M. IN MONTH

Physical Director Scheffer Submits March Report.

One thousand three hundred and forty-one visits were made to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium during March, Physical Director T. F. Scheffer's report indicates. Of this number, 862 attended the gymnasium classes, 467 played basketball and the others made use of the gym for individual workouts.

The swimming pool and shower bath privileges were patronized by 1,635 persons. Sixty-two swimming lessons were given, these including instructions in life-saving methods for advanced swimmers and lessons for beginners. Many Boy Scouts have received instruction, both in elementary and advanced swimming. One youth was taught to swim 50 feet.

The Y. M. C. A. life-saving test for boys includes the following requirements:

Dive in seven feet of water and bring to surface 10 pound bag.

Disrobe in deep water and then swim 100 yards.

Demonstrate four releases on land and two releases in water.

Towing person in four different manners, 39 feet each, and demonstrate method of resuscitation.

A class of boy swimmers is now working on this test and will be examined in the near future.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at all druggists.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

'SCARLET SAINT' AT AMERICAN

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes Star in Film.

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes are the attractions at the American theatre today and tomorrow in "The Scarlet Saint"—a First National picture which opened last night for a week's run.

"The Scarlet Saint," an adaptation of Gerald Beaumont's magazine story, "The Lady Who Played Fidele," is a pleasing and entretaining picture which has been well directed and one which contains a story that is gripping and really powerful. Above all, whoever selected the cast did an admirable job. It is rarely that a cast so well fitted for their roles comes to the screen.

The picture is built around a situation in which we find a young American girl betrothed by her father to an Austrian nobleman, but who is madly in love with a handsome young American. Of course, the difficulties of the young couple are eventually solved as they should be, but in the solution an excellent bit of script writing and direction has been done. There are thrills aplenty, tense situations, scenes which draw the ters. scenes which double you up with laughter.

Miss Astor, as the young American girl, wines the sympathy of her audience and holds it. Hughes appears to better advantage than the writer has yet seen him as the handsome young lover of Mary. He is clean-cut and convincing.

To begin with, the story—that of a woman's great sacrifice for her husband—has been handled with ususual skill by Director Millard Webb, and does not run into any of the hackneyed grooves. Then, too, Helene Chadwick's performance of the leading feminine role is so sincere a characterization that the sympathy of the audience is immediately enlisted in her behalf.

Huntley Gordon, the husband, is a hero who would make a young wife's sacrifice convincing; and the cruelty of Frank Campeau is another of his fine villainous characterizations is enough to distress any screen heroine.

Richard Tucker, as the fascinating but unworthy professor who wins the love of the girl, makes his performance stand out in a production where all are excellent. Others in the cast are Margaret Seddon, Carrie Clark Ward, Charles McHugh and Violet Kane.

1,341 VISIT Y. M. IN MONTH

Physical Director Scheffer Submits March Report.

One thousand three hundred and forty-one visits were made to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium during March, Physical Director T. F. Scheffer's report indicates. Of this number, 862 attended the gymnasium classes, 467 played basketball and the others made use of the gym for individual workouts.

The swimming pool and shower bath privileges were patronized by 1,675 persons. Sixty-two swimming lessons were given, these including instructions in life-saving methods for advanced swimmers and lessons for beginners. Many Boy Scouts have received instruction, both in elementary and advanced swimming. One youth was taught to swim 50 feet.

The Y. M. C. A. life-saving test for boys includes the following requirements:

Dive in seven feet of water and bring to surface 10 pound bag.

Disrobe in deep water and then swim 100 yards.

Demonstrate four releases on land and two releases in water.

Towing person in four different manners, 39 feet each, and demonstrate method of resuscitation.

A class of boy swimmers is now working on this test and will be examined in the near future.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at all druggists.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

EASTER SERVICES DRAW LARGELY

Easter Sunday services were largely attended yesterday in the various churches of the city which were featured by special musical programs by the respective choirs.

Rev. E. E. Lashley spoke at the morning and evening services in the First Presbyterian church, while Rev. J. W. Schrader occupied the pulpit of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Evangelist J. W. Ash spoke in the Church of the Nazarene and Rev. E. D. Brock conducted services in the First Christian church.

EVANGELIST TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Evangelist L. L. Hinton, of Sandusky, O., will open a protracted series of meetings this evening in the First Christian church. He will be assisted by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Brock.

Rev. Hinton was formerly pastor of the local church.

Meetings will be held every evening at 7:30 with the exception of Saturday.

LODGEMEN HOLD DISTRICT MEET

Large number of Odd Fellows attended the district meeting held Saturday night under the auspices of lodge No. 447, in the Aaron building, Fifth street.

Following the degree work a social time was held, after which refreshments were served by the social committee of the local lodge.

Revivals Continue.

Revival services yesterday in the Church of the Nazarene were largely attended morning, afternoon and evening. The sermons were delivered by Evangelist J. M. Ash of Huntington.

Services will be held every night this week at which the evangelist will preach.

Athletes To Practice.

Newell and Grant district school students will shortly begin practice work for the county field and track meet to be held at New Cumberland on May 21. Prizes will be awarded individuals and schools in the respective divisions.

Cattle Tests Planned.

Cattle testing on a large scale is planned in Hancock and other counties of the state this summer. Large number of herds have already been tested in this section.

EASTER SERVICES DRAW LARGELY

Easter Sunday services were largely attended yesterday in the various churches of the city which were featured by special musical programs by the respective choirs.

Rev. E. E. Lashley spoke at the morning and evening services in the First Presbyterian church, while Rev. J. W. Schrader occupied the pulpit of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Evangelist J. W. Ash spoke in the Church of the Nazarene and Rev. E. D. Brock conducted services in the First Christian church.

EVANGELIST TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Evangelist L. L. Hinton, of Sandusky, O., will open a protracted series of meetings this evening in the First Christian church. He will be assisted by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Brock.

Rev. Hinton was formerly pastor of the local church.

Meetings will be held every evening at 7:30 with the exception of Saturday.

LODGEMEN HOLD DISTRICT MEET

Large number of Odd Fellows attended the district meeting held Saturday night under the auspices of lodge No. 447, in the Aaron building, Fifth street.

Following the degree work a social time was held, after which refreshments were served by the social committee of the local lodge.

Revivals Continue.

Revival services yesterday in the Church of the Nazarene were largely attended morning, afternoon and evening. The sermons were delivered by Evangelist J. M. Ash of Huntington.

Services will be held every night this week at which the evangelist will preach.

Athletes To Practice.

Newell and Grant district school students will shortly begin practice work for the county field and track meet to be held at New Cumberland on May 21. Prizes will be awarded individuals and schools in the respective divisions.

Cattle Tests Planned.

Cattle testing on a large scale is planned in Hancock and other counties of the state this summer. Large number of herds have already been tested in this section.
